SIZZLING HEAT OF THE MIDDLE WEST IS BLESSING IN DISGUISE TO FARMERS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

KANSAS CITY, June 8.—It was sizzling hot throughout the Southwest today and heat records of the year were broken here and at many points in Kansas.

The highest temperature, 106, was registered at Junction City, Kan. Some other towns that sweltered were:

Leavenworth, 102; Topeka, Muskogee, Okla., and Concordia, Kan., 101; Hutchinson, Salina, Dodge City, 100; Kansas City, 99; Wichita, Joplin, Mo., and Oklahoma City, 98; and Emporia, Kan., 97.

The intense heat of the last few days has caused wheat to ripen fast. Farmers in the vicinity of Abilene, Kan., will do some harvesting this week. Only a few prostrations and no fatalities as a direct result of the heat have been reported from the Southwest.

PRAISES AMERICA.

The provisional President was asked what he thought about the policy of the United States since the inception of difficulties.

He replied:

"I have nothing but praise for the conduct of the United States. In fact, now that the revolution is over, I am glad to applaud the calm and sagacious policy of the United States. It was a strong, practical proof to us that the friendship of the United States for Mexico has been, and will be, real and sincere."

As he spoke, a messenger brought a letter which President De la Barra read slowly and with great interest.

AS TO GEN. REYES.

"It is from Gen. Reyes," he said. "He will be here tomorrow early, and he comes, you know, with a mission of peace."

"Do you think Gen. Reyes will be a candidate in the next election?" he was asked.

"I don't know, I can only speak for myself. I shall not be a candidate for any office."

As to his future plans, President De la Barra asserted he probably would retire to private life.

Three Big Liners, Sailing from New York, Break Record for Trans-Atlantic Travel—Noted Professor Declares Mexico Will Yet Regret Loss of Diaz.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Over 2000 cabin passengers sailing by three lines today made a new high record for a single day's sailings, and marked the high-water limit for what may be called in trans-Atlantic travel history, the coronation rush of 1911.

Among the passengers of the George Washington was Cornelius Vanderbilt, who is taking his children across to join their mother aboard the steam yacht North Star at Plymouth. When asked if he was in line for the ambassadorship to Berlin he said no office of the place had been made to him.

Among the passengers on the Amerika was Prof. William R. Shepherd, head of the department of history at Coumbia, who is going to Leipsic. He is an authority on Spanish-American history. He believes Mexico will have cause to regret the loss of Diaz; that Madero is an agitator, but not a builder. Other passengers were Elsie Janis and Mr. and Mrs. F. Hopkinson Smith.

Aboard the Provence, which sailed with all cabins filled, was Miss Anne Morgan, who is going over for the coronation; Manuel M. Gomez, son of the President of Cuba, who is secretary of the special Cuban embassy to the coronation and is taking over 10,000 Cuban cigars as a present from his father to King George; Baron D'Estournelles de Constant, the French peace advocate, and Gen. Charles F. Manderson, former United States Senator from Nebraska.

FOR FREE LABOR.

Gen. Otis Addresses Cleveland Employers' Association—Movement for Open Shop in Ohio City.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLEVELAND (O.) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, editor and general manager of the Los Angeles Times, tonight declared that labor unions tend to lawlessness and aim to destroy the freedom of workingmen. He gave the principal address before the Cleveland Employers' Association. President John Kirby and Attorney Walter Drew, representing the National Association of Manufacturers, also spoke.

The three men, all opponents of lawless union labor, were brought here by the Employers' Association to inaugurate a campaign against union tyranny. The association says the campaign will not end until every mill and factory in the city of Cleveland is running on the "open-shop" basis.

"I fight for inherited freedom and human rights," said Gen. Otis. "The good that has come to our people of Los Angeles through immunity from the blighting despotism of trades-unionism is inestimable. Los Angeles shall never be Chicagoized in the interests of disorder.

"We are against boycotters, grafters, industrial assassins, socialistic freaks, and against the champions of that alien banner with the strange devise—the initiative and referendum.

"We are fighting for the rights to labor freely under the old flag. I hold that every citizen has the lawful right to pursue unhampered and undisturbed any lawful occupation of his choice in any lawful way. I further hold that every citizen is bound to be protected in this right by the whole power of the State and nation if need be. Unionism today is tending to lawlessness. Organized labor does not possess any superior rights merely because it is organized. This is an impossible doctrine.

"I have never printed or uttered a word objecting to lawful organizations of laboring people.

"I protest only against some gross and mischievous abuse in their management. I have fought for legitimate labor more than for any other single interest in the entire country."

AUTHORITATIVE DENIAL.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Authoritative denial is made of the report that the Pacific Express Company has been or will be sold to the Wells-Fargo Express Company. The latter, on August 1, will take over the business of the Pacific Company, a Gould subsidiary, and will handle the express business of practically all the Gould lines east of Denver and El Paso. Wells-Fargo may purchase some of the Pacific Company's equipment, but does not purpose to acquire in any way any of the securities of that company which probably will go into liquidation.

Leaders of Opposition Realize Futility of Butting Heads at Stone Wall.

Cummins Abandons All Hope of Cinching Hawkeye Anti Administrationists.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Additional interesting features of the national political situation have come to light since last night's dispatch was written. The developments accentuate President Taft's prospective control of the Republican National Convention next summer. Also they emphasize the utter collapse of the insurgent anti-Taft movement so far as his renomination is concerned, due mainly to failure to find an opposition candidate who is altogether available from the popular standpoint and is willing to permit the use of his name.

Later information indicates the probability of Taft delegations from States which the President's political managers have regarded as practically hopeless, enumerated in the preceding dispatch on the subject.

INSURGENTS DISPIRITED.

In fact, some of the leading insurgents have become so dispirited with respect to accomplishing what was originally planned through a protest against the President's renomination that they now evince an inclination merely to sulk and let the delegates favorable to the administration be selected in their strongholds by default.

Knowledge of this inclination has bred rumors that Cummins, Borah and others who have been pronounced in their opposition to the present incumbents had decided to "come out for Taft." There is not a particle of foundation for such rumors, however, and when they reached the insurgent principals concerned they were denied with greater vehemence of expression than characterized Col. Roosevelt's repudiation of stories that he had made promises as to the bestowal of his support in the next campaign.

COHESIVE FORCE GONE.

The aforetime anti-Taft Senators are just as much against Taft now as ever, but the wiser among them see no sense in indulging in head-butting against a stone wall. That's the partial secret of affairs.

Viewing it from another angle, insurgency, as a political proposition, no longer is a cohesive force. The baker's dozen of insurgent Senators have endeavored to conceal this fact as long as possible, but the truth was bound to come out. The split was imminent when plans were laid to fight the organization of the Senate by the Committee on Committees. In order not to advertise the split, and to prevent exploitation of the story that the progressives were divided over the tariff, it was necessary to abandon the scheme of proposing Senator Bristow as an additional member of the Finance Committee. At least five insurgents would not have supported that move.

The insurgents found themselves still further out of gear when several of the Senators bolted the proposition. Nearly all the forces around the La Follette Presidential standard have melted away, and now the lack of cohesiveness is shown in diametrically opposing views on the reciprocity question.

Latest reports on the Iowa situation indicate, despite Senator Cummins's influence and his anti-Taft attitude, the sending of a Taft delegation to the national convention. Senator Cummins is far from happy over the conditions that may make it inexpedient to attempt to carry the State in opposition to Taft, but he is looking to the future and the main thing next year is to keep the party from going to pieces.

CIENTIFICO PARTY BUSY.

Plans to Establish Headquarters at San Antonio, Tex., and From There Conduct Campaign.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) June 8.—The Cientifico party of Mexico plans to establish headquarters in San Antonio and to conduct a "campaign of intellect," not of force of arms, according to Don Luis del Toro, an adherent of former Vice-President Corral, who speaks as a representative of the party.

"The cientificos are not strictly a party, however," Don Luis says. "They are a group of intelligent Mexicans who study politics in the light of science.

"Their tendency is contrary to that of other groups who pretend that liberty comes by direction of government, rather than out of the labors of political parties.

"The cientificos will come to San Antonio because here they have no fear of attempts upon their lives. They have faith in the Stars and Stripes. Within a few days several prominent members will arrive in San Antonio and then perhaps something definite will be announced."

As an inaugural move in the campaign, Senor Del Toro intimates, a newspaper is to be established here.

WEST VIRGINIA SENATOR'S WIFE ENTERS HORSES IN LONDON SHOW.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Great interest is manifested in London in the international show of thoroughbred horses that is to be one of the sideline attractions of the coronation season. While horse shows everywhere and invariably engage the attention of the elite and even the parades of the workaday horses cause thousands to pause, ponder and admire, the horse-show of the coronation season will be unique inasmuch as the royalty of England and the continent, to say nothing of society leaders of the United States and elsewhere, are going to enter animals for the prizes offered.

Mrs. Clarendon Watson, the handsome wife of the new United States Senator from West Virginia, has sent a fine string of thoroughbreds to London to enter in the horseshow. Senator and Mrs. Watson are confident they will win a ribbon of some kind, though they are in competition with King George and Emperor William of Berlin. Their horses took many first prizes in horseshows in New York and Washington, D. C., and elsewhere.

In addition to being thus interested in the London horseshow, Mr. and Mrs. Watson will witness the coronation of King George and his Queen. They are also the guests of many social functions, including a brilliant dinner to be given tomorrow evening by Ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid in honor of John Hayes Hammond.

Doty, at Muncie several months ago. Mr. McCormick drove to this city yesterday in a touring car, accompanied by James P. Doty. The arrangements had not been completed for the ceremony, but after a license was obtained, the couple drove to the home of the Rev. Mr. Porter, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church. The minister invited them into his house, but the couple preferred the novelty of being married in an automobile.

STEPHENSON TO HAVE HIS TURN.

WISCONSIN SENATOR IS FACING ELECTION INQUIRY.

National Senate Will Investigate Charges of Corruption and Bribery if State Legislature Makes Request. Money Alleged to Have Been Used to Procure Seat.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The probability that Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin must undergo an investigation regarding the methods by which his seat was obtained, attracted attention this afternoon. As the matter has not yet been brought officially to the attention of the Senate, no programme was outlined. It was admitted that cognizance must be taken if either branch of the Wisconsin Legislature requested an inquiry.

As the case stands, the Wisconsin Senate has adopted a resolution requesting the United States Senate to investigate charges of bribery and corruption in connection with the election of Mr. Stephenson. If either branch of the Legislature sends a certified copy of a resolution adopted to Vice-President Sherman he will lay it before the Senate. It will then be referred to the Committee on Privilege and Elections.

The new Lorimer investigation is based entirely on the request of the Illinois State Senate. It would be impossible to refuse a similar request from the Senate of Wisconsin.

At the time of Mr. Stephenson's re-election, many rumors reached this city that large sums of money had been used on his behalf.

Senator Stephenson this afternoon positively refused to discuss the action of the Wisconsin State Senate.

Steel Man Asks Legislation to Escape Dangers of Unbridled Competition.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Legislation to replace the Sherman anti-trust law to protect property interests and the people's welfare alike was urged by Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation, in concluding his testimony today before the House so-called "Steel Trust" Investigation Committee.

Judge Gary said he hoped the committee in its report would give the United States Steel Corporation what he thinks ought to be the corporation's standing under the law.

"I wish," said he, "this committee would take advantage of its opportunity to suggest legislation and use its influence to bring about the enactment of proper legislation calculated to protect the property interests of the country, the interests of the government and the people at large, so as to permit us to continue business progress along lines of prosperity."

TO HEAR ALL SIDES.

"Would you believe it sensible," asked Representative Littleton, "to have Congress appoint a joint committee to hear representatives of capital and labor and of so-called restrained and unrestrained trade with a view to preparing an anti-trust law which would correct features of the Sherman law or errors that might have come through court decisions on that law, and to strengthen and elaborate that law?"

"Yes, I do," responded Mr. Gary, "and I would be glad to have such an understanding result in something more practical and to be the first one to fall in line to live up to such a law."

The so-called "Gary dinners" where steel men acquainted one another with facts relating to their business and suggested the maintenance of prices to prevent "destructive competition" were delved into by the committee.

Representative Beall sought to show that the result of those understandings was tantamount to a signed agreement to control prices—a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

FRANK DISCLOSURES.

"I have said repeatedly," said Mr. Gary, "that I believed, and all of us in the steel business believed, that open and frank disclosures to each other of our business conditions and suggestions as to the best interests of all brought about an equilibrium in trade and prevented destructive competition.

"The only question involved in these dinners is whether it is good law or good morals to endeavor by friendly intercourse, such as has been described by me, to maintain to a reasonable extent, an equilibrium of business and prevent destructive competition.

"If the Department of Justice or the President should say that this is not the right thing to do, it would not be continued for one minute.

"If the members of this committee believe it is better for all concerned in this country for the steel interests to enter into destructive competition than to try legally to maintain an equilibrium of business, it is up to you.

"If you want to take the responsibility on behalf of the government of saying destruction would be better than for the steel interests to confer with each other, and for the maintenance of ruinous policies whereby the strongest would survive, the weakest go down and business generally be demoralized, we will not oppose your action, but we believe we have done the best thing we could do under the law through the maintenance of friendly relations."

EVERYTHING WAS LEGAL.

"Did you not mean to accomplish the result, through your friendly interchange of ideas at the Gary dinners, as would have been accomplished by an illegal agreement to control prices?" asked Representative Beall.

Mr. Gary replied that this was not so in his opinion; that whatever had been done was legal and that the men who attended these meetings were left entirely to do as they pleased, but that honest disclosures of competitors' prices placed men on their honor to seek to maintain prosperous conditions.

Mr. Lindaberry, counsel for the United States Steel Corporation, referred to the efforts of men in the steel industry through the Gary dinners as an attempt to put into practical operation the golden rule.

Mr. Gary said he had made no attempt to disguise the fact that the steel men of the country sought to maintain prices as near a level a Rebel Gang in Mexicali Gets the Worst of It.

Magon's Men Dispersed by Better Fighters.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MEXICALI (Lower California, Mex.) June 8.—Mexicans opposed to the Liberales, or Magonistos, who have been occupying this town since last January, suddenly formed a war party today, shot one of the Socialist insurrectos, captured twenty-two more, and tonight are believed to be advancing to attack Mexicali.

The new war force, which is composed of Maderistos and adherents of the old Federal regime, is commanded by Senor Guyago, said to have been formerly a refugee at Calexico, Cal., just across the border. He organized his army and took possession of the ranch house of the California Land and Cattle Company at Packard, four miles southeast.

The first intimation that the insurrecto garrison of Mexicali had of impending trouble was when they sent out a foraging party consisting of two Mexicans and a negro deserter from the United States army. The negro was killed and his two companions were made prisoners.

Francisco Quijada, commander of the rebel garrison, sent a party of twenty to rescue the two, and these were all captured. A third party was then dispatched, but after a reconnoissance, it returned with word that Guyago's force was too strong to be attacked in the open, and that it was advancing to assault the defenses of Mexicali.

This news created much excitement. Many Americans who have been serving with Quijada, deserted him and have gone over to Guyago. The losses today reduced the rebel garrison to about forty men.

They were prevented by a United States immigration officer. A squad of United States troops lined up with drawn weapons near the customhouse while the scrimmage was in progress.

Davis went around the world and visited many countries, purchasing freaks for a circus. On one of his trips he bought the first sacred white elephant, which was ever exhibited in this country. Later he became general manager of the old dime museum in New York City, for Jacob Little, and also formed the partnership of Davis & Keogh.

Davis introduced David Warfield to the public, when Warfield made his debut in "The Nutmeg Patch."

Important Witness in Steel Trust Case.

Grant B. Schley,

member of the firm of Moore & Schley, for whose benefit Judge Gary testifies huge purchase of steel stock was made in fall of 1907. He is to testify before investigating committee.

STEEL TRUST INQUIRY.

possible through friendly interchange of ideas for the purpose of getting between the restraint of trade and monopoly provisions of the Sherman law on one hand and destructive competition on the other. He had never stood for unchanging prices, he declared, but against wide fluctuations.

The recent action of the Republic Iron and Steel Company in reducing prices, he said, was because that company had decided not to co-operate with others in the industry, which proved, he thought, that there was nothing binding in the Gary dinner deliberations.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL.

Mr. Gary's attention was again called to his former declaration that he favored government control of corporations. He said he would have the government license corporations engaged in interstate commerce, first deciding whether it was so entitled under the anti-trust laws. He would make the license revokable for misconduct, but in all cases, would retain the right of appeal to the courts, which right, he added, "is the salvation of this country."

His opinion of Wall street was drawn out when he was asked concerning the capitalization of the United States Steel Corporation and concerning intrinsic values.

The capitalization of the steel company, he insisted, was not too great, in view of the additional value given all companies included when they were combined into one growing, vitalized concern.

"Intrinsic values," Mr. Gary said, "are not always strictly regarded, particularly in New York. There are times when people in the market in Wall street pay little attention to intrinsic values. Personally, I do not know much about Wall street. I do not care about Wall street but I do know that the selling price of securities in Wall street is at times largely the result of manipulation. That is a sad commentary, but it is true. Wall street, Mr. Chairman, is a good place for you and me to keep away from."

CARNEGIE'S APPRAISEMENT.

Mr. Gary was asked concerning statements of value placed by Andrew Carnegie upon his steel properties.

"I understand that Mr. Carnegie is to be a witness before this committee," said Mr. Gary with a smile. "I am sure that he is a good judge of values, particularly regarding his own property. When Mr. Carnegie appears, I am sure this committee will hear about some very high valuations."

The committee in excusing Mr. Gary asked him to hold himself under the subpoena and to return if his presence were desired.

"You know I plan to go to Europe," said Mr. Gary.

"Go ahead," said Chairman Stanley. "That will make no difference. You will return before long, and if the committee wants you, it can get you then."

James Gayley, former vice-president of the steel corporation, will be the first witness tomorrow.

COKING INDUSTRY ALSO UNDER INQUIRY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PITTSBURGH, June 8.—A Federal investigation into the affairs of the Pittsburgh Coal Company and the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company of this city to ascertain whether an attempt has been made to create a monopoly in the coking industry, was begun here this afternoon before a special session of the May grand jury. The probe is an outgrowth of the congressional inquiry into the United States Steel Corporation and a coal deal involving $18,000,000, which is nearing consummation between the steel corporation and the coal companies, will, it is said, figure prominently.

E. J. Taylor, chief engineer of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, was the first witness called.

CLASSICAL CAMORRA DEAD.

Present One is Composed of a Lot of Cheap Pikers, According to Police Official.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

VITERBO (Italy) June 8.—Simonetti, a police official, was called as a witness today in the trial of the Camorrists for the murder of Gennaro Cuocolo and his wife.

The witness said that the "classical" Camorra no longer existed. The Camorrists of the present day he described as simply groups of criminals who blackmailed thieves, getting from the latter stolen goods for next to nothing. They also practiced usury. He denied that Abbatemaggio, the informer, was a member of the Camorra.

The witness admitted that Enrico Alfano was at the head of these criminal gangs, the operations of which he illustrated by a case in which Alfano was directly involved.

A public singer, Simonetti said, had been robbed of jewels and sought the aid of Alfano to recover them. The Camorrist took the jewels from the cab driver who had stolen them and pocketed a reward of $1000. Later, Alfano was compelled to engage in a pistol fight with the thief, who wished to get his share of the reward. Both the cab driver and Alfano were arrested.

BOILERMAKERS STRIKE.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—Between 1000 and 2000 boilermakers employed by the Baldwin Locomotive Works in this city went on strike today without the sanction, it is said, of the national officers of the boilermakers' union. No wage question is involved, the trouble being due to the laying off of 1200 men some weeks ago. The union men assert that the men were forced out because they had joined labor organizations, but the company officials declare the men were laid off because there was not enough work for them.

LILLIAN GRAHAM AND GIRL COMPANION LANGUISH IN JAIL; STOKES IN HOSPITAL.

Motive of Los Angeles Woman's Attack on New York Millionaire a Mystery Still to the Police—Victim Declares They Shot Him Because He Refused to Pay Them Twenty-five Thousand Dollars.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad, the two young women who shot W. E. D. Stokes in the Varuna, at No. 225 West Eighteth street, yesterday evening, spent today in the prison attached to the West Side court and will remain at least until next Monday, to which date the hearing in their cases has been postponed.

Mr. Stokes spent a restless, uneasy day in Roosevelt Hospital, but so far there are no traces of fever and unless complications, not at this time indicated, set in, there is no doubt that he will be able to return to the Hotel Ansonia, of which he is the owner, within a few days.

FOG OF CONTRADICTIONS.

Nothing developed today which cleared the fog of contradictions and counter-charges in which the case is involved. Both girls reiterate their statements that Mr. Stokes had called at the Varuna expecting to find Miss Conrad there alone and that on finding Miss Graham there, he had demanded certain letters which, he asserted, she had in her possession, and on her refusal to give them up, had violently attacked Miss Graham and had then been shot by both girls.

Mr. Stokes persists in his denial that he made any attack upon Miss Graham and still insists that he was called to the Varuna by telephone and was attacked by both young women, when he refused a demand for $25,000 and refused to sign a retraction of certain statements which Miss Graham asserted that he made concerning her.

It was learned today that Miss Graham, accompanied by Miss Conrad, visited the office of Martin J. Littleton last Monday, and that Miss Graham endeavored to induce Mr. Littleton to bring a suit against Mr. Stokes for defamation of character.

MADE AN APPOINTMENT.

Miss Graham was with Mr. Littleton only ten minutes and he declined to consider the matter at the time, but made an appointment with Miss Graham for next Monday, when he will be in town again.

Miss Graham and Miss Conrad, on the same day, signed theatrical contracts with A. H. Woods to go out with a company which is to open in Chicago September 4. At that time Miss Graham was well supplied with money and apparently was concerned only with her theatrical future.

The manner in which the shooting affray in the Varuna started, and the underlying motives responsible for it are involved in mystery. It was said by a friend of Mr. Stokes today that as soon as the victim of the shooting recovers, he will leave this city for several months and will not press the charges against Miss Graham or Miss Conrad.

Terence J. McManus, counsel for Mr. Stokes, stated tonight with great positiveness, however, that Mr. Stokes is determined to push the prosecution against both the young women.

STOCKTON CAREER OF MISS GRAHAM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Lillian Graham, who is under arrest in New York for shooting Stokes, is well known in Stockton. She visited her sister, Mrs. John Singleton, and later resided here a short time with another sister, Mrs. J. Gallway, who made Stockton her home for some months. Miss Graham was very quiet and outside of the circle in which she moved, she took no particular part in society.

Those who were acquainted with her declare she was a charming young lady and while they were greatly surprised to hear she was implicated in a shooting affair, they assert she had a temperament of iron and in case she was called upon to make a fight she could be counted upon to stand her ground. On leaving here she went to Los Angeles with her sister, Mrs. Singleton, whose husband owned the famous Yellow Aster mine at Randsburg, but later she visited here twice before leaving for the East and Europe.

STARTLING CONDITIONS ARE REVEALED BY INVESTIGATION OF "ARSON TRUST."

Chicago Authorities Find That Firebugs Have Been Causing at Rate of Seven Hundred Fires a Year With Property and Insurance Loss of Fifteen Million Dollars Annually—Officials Implicated.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The arrest, confession and suicide of a patron of the "firebug trust" has brought to light startling conditions in Chicago and other cities.

As a side light upon the causes of the enormous fire waste in the United States the revelations regarding the "arson trust" are startling and instructive. That such a combination was at work in various sections of the country had long been suspected by company officials.

The fires credited to the gang now exposed are believed to be in the neighborhood of 700, with an estimated property loss of $10,000,000 and an insurance loss of $5,000,000 extending over a period of five years.

PROPERTY LOSS.

The property loss may be vastly overrated, since the beneficiaries of the "trust" insured to the limit on inflated values, and took care, in many instances, that a large proportion of the goods were removed before the "accident" occurred. But there is no doubt as to the magnitude of the insurance loss; the books of the companies bear testimony to that fact, which is deplorable in more senses than one. It not only shows defective judgment, but suggests carelessness and collusion on the part of fire-insurance agents.

It is openly hinted in connection with the operations of this "arson trust" that crooked adjusters and agents were in league with it to the extent of facilitating its raids upon the companies. Further investigation will undoubtedly locate some of the insurance sympathizers.

PROBABLE MOTIVE.

A modicum of detective skill could fasten the crime upon them, since they are morally, if not criminally, guilty had their motive only been to add to the commission on their business.

Taking the property loss in Chicago at about $7,000,000 per annum, the estimate of H. H. Glidden, manager of the Board of Underwriters, the ravages of the "arson trust" for five years are responsible for more than one-fourth of that amount yearly.

"The national fire waste last year," he said, "was about $234,000,000; so that, figuring the national loss by organized and individual incendiarism at the same ratio, we can charge $58,000,000 of this amount to criminal practices on the part of the insured and their confederates. If we add to this the immense losses attributable to tramps and pyromaniacs, the natural fire waste, as it may be called, under present conditions, would be reduced by about $100,000,000 per annum."

Massacred at Torreon.

CHINA WANTS INDEMNITY OF MEXICO FOR SLAUGHTER OF THE INNOCENTS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

JUAREZ (Mex.) June 8.—China will uphold the claim of Chinese residents of Torreon that they did not fire on the insurrectos prior to the massacre on May 15 and besides damage indemnity for the killing of the Chinamen will enter a claim of $500,000 against the Mexican government for property loss. This is the substance of the report received here today from Wu Lan Poo of the Chinese legation, who has been investigating the Torreon massacre. Mr. Poo, who reports 303 Chinese were killed, declares that just before the attack began, the Chinese residents were in no condition to fight even though the insurrectos looted their stores.

BORE NO ARMS.

"All of my countrymen deny that they bore arms or that they fired upon the insurrectos," says Mr. Poo in his first official statement. "A circular issued by the Chinese Commercial Association on May 12, the day preceding the attack on Torreon, calls on all Chinese to make no resistance under any circumstances, in the event of threatened assault by a looting army.

"As to the killing of my countrymen the first day of the battle, the Maderistas forced the men at the gardens to cook them food and then taste it before it was served to insure the Mexicans against poisoning. They then asked for water and while two Chinamen were in the act of tasting it they were shot down.

"The Chinese losses will aggregate $500,000, which the stores owned by Juan Man, who was killed, represented $100,000."

BODIES IN THE WELLS.

A number of bodies are yet in wells into which they were thrown. Mr. Poo says many of the 200 who were saved were sheltered by men and women at great peril to themselves.

With the departure tomorrow of Abraham Gonzales to assume his duties of provisional Governor of Chihuahua, affairs in Northern Mexico are expected rapidly to be put in readiness for the political reforms which are promised from Francisco I. Madero's conferences with President De la Barra. Among the early announcements expected from Mexico City is one for the division, among the poorer classes, of the larger Chihuahua estates some of which exceed 1,000,000 acres.

Gov. Gonzales will travel to Chihuahua in a private car. Preparations have been made for an ovation both from the Federal and insurrecto forces when he arrives.

Secret service men have been sent in advance of Gonzales to make arrests of any persons suspected of being implicated in the plot to promote the revolution in Lower California.

LATEST COUNTS GIVE DEATH LIST IN MEXICAN TEMBLOR AS HUNDREDS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MEXICO CITY, June 8.—The earthquake brought death to at least 150 persons, according to most authentic counts tonight. The area of the earth shock's destruction is a rectangle with its northern border less than fifty miles from the capital, and a southern line cutting across the lower part of Guerrero. The death toll grows with tabulation.

The casualties as compiled by the police in Mexico City number sixty-three. Fifty-nine corpses have been taken out of the ruins of Ocotlan, Jalisco. It will never be known how many persons perished in villages in remote parts of the quake zone.

Catastrophes in these parts are taken as a matter of course. For instance Tenala, in Jalisco State, was completely wiped out, to all outward appearances but the toll of deaths there cannot be accurately obtained.

Not many persons were killed in Colima, but a considerable amount of damage was done. [illegible] so badly damaged that a shock might cause the tower of another church on to the roof.

DON'T HOODWINK WATCHFUL JUDGE.

Kelly's Plot to Land Graft Office Fails.

Court Order Changed to Settle the Case.

Board of Police Issue Will Come Up Today.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Judge Seawell today at the request of Mayor McCarthy's attorneys that he sign a modification of his previous restraining order which would establish the Union programme candidate, Gallagher, in the office of Chief of Police, the modifications demanded were to the effect that they would practically settled the controversy for the present, for they asked that the restraining order White from asserting himself to be Chief of Police, or from performing the duties of the office, be set aside. In effect, the new order for the McCarthy forces, if it should be successful, would have made Gallagher the actual head of the department and would have given him the right to issue orders to the police.

Kelly's attorneys remained satisfied with the order of yesterday pre-empting the Police Commission from interfering with the trial of the Chief. It is believed Judge Seawell will hear arguments in case on all the orders and modify them as he considers proper.

BURBANK'S WORK.

Chamber's Development Board Will Elaborate Exhibits on the Orpheum Circuit.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A promised attraction at the big land shows that will be held throughout the East this fall is a massive exhibit of plants and flowers developed by Luther Burbank. These exhibits will be under the direction of the California Development Board, to whom Burbank has given exclusive privilege of displaying his work.

Edward Durney of the development board has just returned from Santa Rosa, where under Burbank's supervision he has selected the specimens which will be used in advertising California throughout the East. Burbank will work only as a California product.

The development Board has arranged to send representatives on a special circuit of land shows this fall. They will add to its usual program a lecturer and an informative floating center, a large exhibit of processed fruits and other agricultural products.

The Los Angeles Land and Irrigation Exhibit of the Pittsburgh Land Show and the American Land and Irrigation Exposition at New York are on the same circuit.

Realizing that the launch failed to assist in rescuing her, the occupants had dragged a drowned man aboard, something that Miss Cameron and the crew of the canoe. The boat righted and the girl was rescued, clinging to a piece of wood running across the bottom of the craft. She had been in the water above waist deep, but the men refused to identify.

EX-COWBOY LASSOS TANK.

Yanks Gasoline from Burning Building and Saves Lives of Oregon Firemen.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
PENDLETON (Or.) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] To save the lives of members of the Pendleton fire department who were playing water on the burning gasoline house of the Pendleton Cleaning Company, R. A. Arbuckle, an ex-cowpuncher, lassoed a sealed fifty-four-gallon tank of gasoline and pulled it out of the building.

An explosion of gasoline fired the building, a frame structure, early last evening.

While the firemen trained water on Arbuckle the ex-cowboy went into the gas-filled building and, with his first toss, roped the tank. He was not injured. The fire was quenched shortly afterward.

BANK OF SIERRA IS OPEN AGAIN.

LOYALTON STOCKHOLDERS MAKE GOOD MILLAR SHORTAGE.

Missing Cashier is Now Said to Have Plundered the Institution to the Tune of Thirty Thousand Dollars—His Whereabouts Still a Mystery.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
LOYALTON, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Bank of Sierra Valley, which closed a week ago when Cashier Millar absconded with $27,000 of its funds, was reopened this morning, the stockholders having put up the amount of Millar's shortage. There was a rush of local business men to deposit coin and there were practically no withdrawals.

Millar's shortage as City Treasurer was over $2000, and the amount lost by the Overland Meat Company, if any, probably will never be known, as Millar had entire charge of its affairs. Lodges, of which he was treasurer, have made no exact statements, and the amount lost by property owners who deposited the money to pay taxes will not be known for awhile.

Millar's peculation now amount to more than $30,000, and no one seems to know what he did with it. No trace of him has been found since his disappearance. Practically all accounts with outside banks were overdrawn.

WILL AMALGAMATE BODIES.

Porterville Civic Organizations Will Form One Great Society With Social and Business Features.

PORTERVILLE, June 7.—In line with the effort of the officials of the Chamber of Commerce to raise the total membership of the organization to 200 active members, there is made the statement that at the next general meeting there will be discussed in detail the plans for making of the Chamber the central social, commercial and musical organization of this city.

Commodious quarters are to be secured pending the construction of an adequate building to be owned by the Chamber and when such quarters are secured, the Chamber proposes to absorb the membership as well as the activities of such separate organizations as the Realty Board, the Merchants Association, the Choral Union, the athletic organizations, such as the tennis club, and older social clubs, such as the Monache and others.

When this is done, the realty work, for instance, will be in charge of a separate committee, to be named by the real estate dealers and the merchants will name a committee to have charge of their work as well. It is stated that in some parts of the south such a change has been effected in the Chambers of Commerce, and with immense good to the community.

BISHOP PRESIDES.

At a meeting which was held here last evening and which was presided over by Bishop Sanford, the Bishop of the San Joaquin diocese, the steps were taken for the organization of St. John's Episcopal church, the following officers having been elected. C. S. Freeland Warden; Arch Storie, Treasurer; W. T. Hickman, Secretary; C. B. Rees and J. L. Roberts, vestrymen. Rev. L. A. Wood will be rector of the parish for the time being and on alternate Sundays R. B. Trelease of Visalia will take the post of lay reader.

About eighty members will enroll in the congregation at the outset and it is believed that there is every prospect of being able to build a church here this fall. For the present the meetings will be held in the Price Hall.

McCARTHY LOSES AGAIN.

MAYOR IS NOT A CAESAR.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—The Mayor cannot remove an appointive officer without filing definite charges against him according to a decision rendered today by the State Supreme Court in the case of Thomas C. Bannerman, a member of the Board of Education, removed by Mayor McCarthy. Bannerman was removed when McCarthy became Mayor without any charges having been brought against him. By an injunction Bannerman held on until the expiration of his term, but Auditor Boyle refused to audit his salary warrant. The payment of this claim was ordered today by the Supreme Court.

Gold, Gold!

GREAT TREASURE REPORTED FOUND.

Startling Tale of Riches Taken from Deep.

San Francisco Club Man Financed the Venture.

Vessel Has Worried Officials of Two Countries.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
SAN DIEGO, June 8.—A treasure, variously estimated at from $15,000,000 to $65,000,000, which was hidden by a Chilean cruiser off the Honduras coast more than a generation ago, has been recovered, according to reports received here by a party of explorers aboard the steamer Eureka, which is now headed for this port. The Eureka is in command of Capt. Burtiss and was taken on a thirty-day charter by a party of San Francisco people about two weeks ago. The Eureka is an oil-burning steamer and the message received here this morning said it would put into this port for oil.

The expedition is said to have been financed by Harry Krelling, a well-known club member of San Francisco. The map showing the location of the buried treasure has been in the possession of a former resident of Honduras, who for the past several years attempted to finance an expedition to recover the buried gold. He was unsuccessful until he interested Krelling a few weeks ago. The result was the chartering of the Eureka. The fact that most of the South American republics will not allow the exportation of gold, made it necessary to guard the plans of the expedition. The message received from Salina Cruz yesterday morning read:

"Expedition a success in every way. Reach San Diego for oil next week. Meet us."

VESSEL SUSPECTED.

STATE DEPARTMENT WORRIED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, June 8.—The movements of the steamer Eureka have given much concern to the States and Navy Departments for a month. The Nicaraguan Minister here learned through private sources that the vessel had cleared from San Francisco about May 12 for the Bay of Fonseca, on the west coast of Nicaragua, supposedly with arms and ammunition.

Senor Castrillo, the Nicaraguan Minister, suspected a revolutionary expedition directed against the government of President Diaz, though he states the expedition might be against another Central American country supposedly ripe for revolution.

The gunboat Yorktown was dispatched from Panama to San Juan Del Sur and afterward to Amapala to overhaul and search the Eureka. Two days ago she reported to the Navy Department that no arms had been found on the Eureka, which is a steam schooner. No attempt was made to detain the Eureka, although the Nicaraguan Minister suspected that she had discharged her arms on some of the coast islands or transshipped them on some coasting vessel.

He told Crane his relatives were trying to obtain possession of his property by having him confined in an asylum.

The arrest follows an indictment returned by the Federal grand jury at Tacoma. Guy Rosenkranz of Aberdeen also was arrested on the same charge. Both furnished bonds.

Capt. Sears Acquitted.

VICTORIA (B. C.) June 8.—Capt. A. A. Sears, master of the steamer Iroquois, which capsized on April 10 at Sidney, with a loss of twenty-one lives, was acquitted of manslaughter today, after the jury had been out five minutes.

SACRAMENTO, June 8.—Gov. Johnson today issued a requisition on the Governor of Oregon for the return of M. M. Snyder, wanted in San Francisco on the charge of defrauding W. E. Nichols of Santa Rosa out of $500 in a fake gas lighting scheme.

Census Padding Alleged.

SEATTLE (Wash.) June 8.—J. M. Hunsicker, a clerk in the office of the County Clerk, was arrested today, charged with adding 599 fake names to his list while employed as an enumerator of the Federal census in Seattle last year. It is alleged that Hunsicker returned many fictitious Japanese, Russian and Italian names on his list.

Wichita Man Gives Coroner a Check to Make Sure of a Nice Funeral.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
WICHITA (Kan.) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] This city has a man who believes in preparedness. He is H. E. Hutchings, a restaurant proprietor. Hutchings, who does not believe he will live long, called on Coroner McAllister yesterday and asked that official how much money was required to insure him a nice funeral. Mr. McAllister suggested $75. Hutchings drew a check for that amount and placed it in the care of the Coroner. Mr. McAllister promised to comply with the unusual request. Hutchings has heart trouble.

INNOCENT CAUSE OF DISASTER RESCUES HERSELF.

Woman, Two Daughters and Little Lad Swept Away by Swift Current in Futile Effort to Catch Girl Sweeping Down Stream—Child Catches Stump and Pulls Self Out.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW ORLEANS (La.) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. B. C. Tanner, her two boys, and Annie Coursey, aged 10, drowned this afternoon trying to save Pearl Coursey, aged 8, from a similar fate. Pearl caught hold of a stump after they were all in the water and saved herself.

All were on a Sunday-school picnic along the banks of the Bowie River, near Hattiesburg, Miss. The children wanted to wade and Mrs. Tanner took them some distance from the other picnickers, around a bend in the stream.

Little Pearl Coursey waded out a bit too far and the swift current swept her off her feet. She screamed and as she came within reach Ernest and Henry Tanner, aged 12 and 14, tried to grasp her dress. They were whisked into the midstream current, as was Annie Coursey, who was close behind. Mrs. Tanner, seeing them all in danger, leaped in fully clad.

All were drowned save the innocent cause of the disaster.

MAIL CLERKS ENLIGHTENED.

Uncle Sam Will Not Stand For Any Labor Union Monkeyshines For Their Association.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
SYRACUSE (N. Y.) June 8.—Second Assistant Postmaster-General Joseph Stewart appeared again today before the convention of the National Association of Railway Mail Clerks and gave the clerks, in annual session, further information as to the attitude of the Federal government concerning their organization.

The clerks proposed to appoint a committee from among their number to leave the government service, receive a salary from their association, and present whatever grievances the clerks might have to Congress or to postal department heads.

Mr. Stewart said he could say with authority that the Postoffice Department would not receive this salaried committee. No concessions would be made to the clerks, he said, through any committee or individuals not directly employed in the service.

BELGIAN CABINET QUITS.

Row in Chamber of Deputies Over a Measure That is Said to Favor Clerical Schools.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
BRUSSELS, June 8.—The Cabinet of M. Schollaert resigned today. M. Schollaert became Premier and Minister of the Interior in January, 1908, succeeding M. de Troos, who died.

The Cabinet fell in consequence of difficulties over the ministerial schools bill and which yesterday caused a stormy session of the Chamber of Deputies. The Liberals and Socialists contended that the appropriations made in the measure constituted an unbearable favoritism of the church as against the public schools. The Socialists oppose also the possible dissolution of Parliament by King Albert before the new census shall allot a new apportionment of deputies. Through this reapportionment th. Socialists hope to gain sufficient seats to overcome the existing clerical majority.

METALLIC TOOLS OF THE ANCIENTS.

Remarkable Find Made in the Tempe District.

Copper Knife and Three Bells Taken from Ruin.

Graduating Exercises in the Schools and University.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]
PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 6.—While nearly all the irrigated expanse of the Salt River Valley shows evidences of cultivation in pre-historic times, and while many ruined cities have been found close by canals which must have ranked in size with those of these later days, it is notable that there are few evidences that the ancients were aided in construction of these great works by metallic tools of any description, or that metal was known in warfare or for any domestic use. In a cleft in a hill southwest of Tempe, Frank Hamilton Cushing found a fragment of copper roughly fashioned into the semblance of a knife, which probably owed its existence to an accidental smelting of the metal in carbonate ore. Within the last month, however, a second metallic discovery has been made in an ancient ruin in this vicinity. William Lossing, a beekeeper, living west of Phoenix, found three bells, in one of which remains a stone clapper.

Mr. Lossing is convinced they could not have been as recent as the time of the Spanish occupation. The bells are not unlike sleigh bells in shape and size, and are made of copper. They have been turned over to Dwight B. Heard of Phoenix, who will send them to the Smithsonian Institution.

FARMERS INTERESTED.

The farmers of the Salt River Valley have begun paying on the Roosevelt dam and the Salt River irrigation project and have turned over to the local office of the Water Users' Association about $310,000, collected within a month, representing assessments on about 128,000 acres of land. Payments are yet to be made on 80,000 acres, returning over $100,000 more. The money collected is to be applied directly upon the improvement of the Salt River Valley canal system and in building additional hydro-electric power works. The cost of this is in addition to the gross cost incurred by the Reclamation Service in the main features of the project. The expenditure is considered advisabe, as the sale of water power developed will materially help in the payment of the annual assessments.

Active operations will be commenced by the Barber Asphalt Company of Los Angeles upon the streets of Phoenix, July 1. Contracts are being signed for about $150,000 for work in the business section.

GRADUATING CLASSES.

This week at Tempe are being held the graduating exercises of the Normal School of Arizona. The graduating class comprises forty-eight persons. The baccalaureate was delivered by the Rt. Rev. J. W. Atwood, Episcopal bishop of Arizona.

Friday evening, forty-seven graduates of the Phoenix Union High School received their dipomas from Territorial Secretary George U. Young. Winfield Hartranft was the salutatorian and Miss Gladys Toney, the valedictorian. The address to the class was given by Dr. A. H. Wilde, president of the University of Arizona.

The Phoenix Board of Trade has concluded that one way of getting near to the rural population is by offering prizes for the best products of the soil. The Exhibit Committee has at its disposal money which will be awarded to farmers who produce the best crops and who bring in the best exhibits to the Board of Trade rooms. The board is pleased with the results secured through its immigration bureau at the Chamber of Commerce in Los Angeles and will continue the Los Angeles branch indefinitely.

FOR THE DEFENDANT.

Last Saturday, Judge Kent decided for the defendant a suit wherein Joseph Horne, a local nurseryman, had sued his partner, John Armstrong, for $5000 damages for alleged alienation of the affections of his wife, Elizabeth Horne, now said to be a resident of Los Angeles. The Hornes were married last November, on the arrival of the lady from Scotland, but their marital experience was of the briefest.

Mary C. Barber has sued William A. Barber for divorce in the local courts. The couple were married in Los Angeles in 1904. The plaintiff alleges desertion.

Judgment for defendant has been given in the District Court in the suit of E. E. Bridgeman against a local undertaking firm, for damages in the alleged substitution of an inferior casket for one in which the body of the wife of the compainant was received from Los Angeles about a year ago. One notable feature was Bridgeman's allegation that he had become aware of the substitution through a dream visit of his wife.

The Phoenix-Los Angeles railway postoffice is now in existence, one set of mail clerks operating over the Santa Fe via Parker.

Grading has been begun on an eight-mile extension of the Bouse and Swansea Railroad to the Moro mine.

Charles F. Egan, a Mesa merchant, has filed a petition in bankruptcy; liabilities $8213; assets $4229.

B. A. Fowler, president of the National Irrigation Congress, is in Los Angeles, from which point he will go to Chicago, to attend a meeting of the Programme Committee.

TUCSON INTERESTED.

IN SAN CARLOS PROJECT.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]
TUCSON (Ariz.) June 6.—Tucson is showing interest in the San Carlos reservoir project in a more substantial manner than by sympathy. Several days ago residents of Pinal county stated they and their neighbors had exhausted their means in the fight for sustaining the reservation project, as against the lowline railroad grade, and $5000 was asked of Tucson for the further prosecution of the campaign at Washington before the Interior Department. Engineer Gillilan, representing J. H. Quinton of Los Angeles, reinforced the arguments of the committee members, having just returned from a resurvey of the damsite, at a cost of $1200. The report and maps are now to be filed with the Interior Department which will hear the case about June 15. The greater part of the $5000 asked for already has been raised among the business men of Tucson.

Hearing that Secretary W. L. Fisher of the Interior Department is to make a western visit in July, President George F. Fisher of the Tucson Chamber of Commerce has telegraphed, asking that he visit Tucson and the Casa Grande Valley and personally investigate the San Carlos irrigation project.

Though Tucson has barely finished the raising of a $75,000 bonus for the El Paso and Southwestern Railroad right of way, to which has been added the donation to the Casa Grande settlers, still another $20,000 has been asked of the business interests by the Pioneer Smelting and Mining Company which proposes to build a customs smelter within this city. It is explained that this $20,000 is asked more as a guarantee of popular support than for the sake of the actual money involved. The subscriptions are being taken with the understanding that they will not be payable until after the smelter is actually completed.

Thursday evening, eleven graduates of the University of Arizona received their diplomas from Chancellor M. P. Freeman of the Board of Regents, the commencement exercises being held in the open air, beside the main building of the university. The commencement address, upon "Problems of the Pioneers," was delivered by Prof. A. E. Douglass, Professor of Physics and Astronomy, and for months past acting president of the university.

Not content with newspaper denials of the report that Mrs. E. H. Harriman intends to establish a great university on the Pacific Coast, Chancellor Freeman of the University of Arizona has wired her, asking that she consider the claims of the local university for endowment on even as great a scale as was first announced.

Frank Craycroft has gone to Los Angeles to purchase oil drilling machinery for the Catalina Exploration Company.

Three artesian wells are being sunk around Bowie, where the water now stands within forty feet of the surface.

On Sunday, the maximum temperature of 104 degrees was registered, running down at night to 55 degrees.

The railroad shops at Tucson are now employing 233 men, the force being gradually increased as accommodations are provided to replace the buildings destroyed by incendiary fire last year.

Activity in building operations again is noted locally, permits for the last month aggregating $40,009.

During May, from Pima county points were shipped 11,415 head of cattle, valued at $228,000. It has been estimated that the year's shipments will aggregate in value $800,000.

Representative Samuel W. McCall of Massachusetts, is being considered for the presidency of Princeton University, according to a report in Princeton yesterday. Mr. McCall declined the presidency of Dartmouth in 1909.

NEW THROUGH TRAIN TO PACIFIC COAST.

Burlington Makes Deal With Two Other Lines.

Six Months of Negotiations End Successfully.

Service to Begin Eighteenth Present Month.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Officials of the Burlington Railroad announced today that as a result of a traffic agreement entered into with the Denver and Rio Grande and the Western Pacific lines, a through passenger train will be operated between Chicago and San Francisco, beginning June 18.

This move on the part of the road to establish through passenger service to California is in line with similar plans carried out by other roads recently, notably the Frisco, which has arranged to operate limited passenger trains from St. Louis to San Francisco through a compact with the Santa Fe.

The Burlington's "San Francisco" train will leave Chicago at 9:45 a.m., daily, arriving at Denver at 1 p.m., the following day. From Denver the tracks of the Denver and Rio Grande will be used as far as Salt Lake City, where a connection will be made with the Western Pacific lines.

According to present plans, passengers will reach San Francisco the third day out from Denver. The train will include observation cars, standard drawing-room sleepers and new Pullman tourist cars. Negotiations pertaining to the traffic arrangement have been in progress for the past six months.

The new San Francisco train will be the fifth operated daily by the Burlington to the Pacific Coast. The Oriental Limited and the Northern Pacific express from Chicago, the Great Northern express from Kansas City, and the Puget Sound express from St. Louis are now operated every day to the North Pacific Coast.

CANCELS SUPERVISION.

ADVANCED RATES CASE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today cancelled its order suspending advances of rates on livestock between the Missouri and the Mississippi Rivers, the commission upholding that it was without sufficient information to pass on the question of reasonableness of the rates or the alleged necessity of equalizing conditions between Omaha, Chicago and Kansas City.

LOOKS LIKE REBATING.

BY TERMINAL RAILWAYS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, June 8.—A conference was held today between the Interstate Commerce Commission and counsel for the trunk line railroads on the question of rate allowances made to terminal roads affiliated particularly with the iron and steel industry. The allowances aggregate millions of dollars a year and it is asserted in some instances where the terminal lines are controled by the large shippers they amount practically to a rebate. The particular problem involved is whether the terminal railroads, performing principally switching duties, shall be considered as common carriers.

OLD OFFICERS SURRENDER.

Dual Government in Oklahoma City Ended by Supreme Court Decision for Commission Form.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Oklahoma City's dual city government was brought to an end today when the Supreme Court unanimously held that the commission form of government as provided in the new city charter was in accordance with the laws of the State, and that the election under the charter was properly held.

The court affirmed the decision of the Superior Court of this county, which issued a writ of mandamus to compel Mayor Lackey and the old City Council to surrender their offices to the new Commissioners.

The old officers refused to give up until the case was passed on by the highest court but they surrendered today, and the new city Commissioners and their appointees are now in full control.

All-Summer Rush of Tourists from the East Starts and Railroads Taxed for Equipment to Handle Crowds—Pacific Electric Calls in Loan of Street Cars.

Delegates to the Pacific Coast conventions will begin arriving in Los Angeles early next week. Coincident with the visitors from the East on the rates for the International Sunday-school Convention, the all-summer rates from all parts of the country go into effect. The first of the tourists on these rates will arrive tonight and will continue until the latter part of September.

The railroads centering in Los Angeles are taxing equipment to handle the crowds. The first of the special trains in the Radnor tours from Nashville and intermediate territory will arrive tonight. There are eleven of these excursions scheduled for the summer, coming about a week apart. Nine will move over the Salt Lake Railroad. Early next week the special trains carrying delegates to the Sunday-school convention will begin arriving. These include special trains from Atlanta, St. Louis, Des Moines and one or two other special trains all coming over the Salt Lake.

A special train from New England will reach Los Angeles June 21 over the Santa Fe, after a stop at the Grand Canyon, followed the next day by special trains from Houston, Fort Worth, and one from Tennessee.

For the meeting of the American Medical Association, the Santa Fe will furnish an unprecedented service in that the California Limited train will leave Chicago in eight sections the night of June 21, the eight trains to run through to Los Angeles at ten-minute intervals, with a stop-off at the Grand Canyon, arriving in Los Angeles June 26. The delegation from Chicago will come to Los Angeles over the Salt Lake, arriving here the night of June 25.

Red Displaces Green.

The Pacific Electric has called in thirty-four cars loaned to the Los Angeles Railway Corporation at the time of the consolidation. The cars will go through the shops and will be put in service on the Pacific Electric, together with fifty cars of the Los Angeles Pacific now in the shops. Before the end of summer, the green cars, formerly operated by the Los Angeles Pacific, will be replaced by the red cars used on the Pacific Electric.

Will Attend Meeting.

Three passenger traffic officials in Los Angeles are preparing to attend the meeting of the Transcontinental Passenger Association to be held in Salt Lake this month. They are John J. Byrne, assistant passenger traffic manager of the Santa Fe; Fred A. Wann, traffic manager of the Salt Lake, and F. E. Battura, assistant general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific.

Greek Steamship Agency.

Two Greek steamship companies have established an agency in Los Angeles, with D. W. Ferguson, Southern California agent for the North Pacific Steamship Company, as the representative. The companies are the National Transatlantic and the National Steam Navigation Company. The agency was established because of the increasing number of Greeks coming to Southern California.

New Cut-off Finished.

The Southern Pacific has announced the completion of the Rocklin-Colfax cut-off. This cut, which crosses the Sierra mountains from Rocklin to Colfax, is the most expensive piece of construction to be done in connection with double-tracking the Harriman lines from the Missouri River to the Pacific Coast. The cost was $15,000,000.

Elks to Salt Lake.

The Salt Lake Railroad is prepared to take a large delegation of Elks to Salt Lake City tomorrow. The Elks of Santa Monica will return the visit made by the Elks of that city last winter. There will be about one hundred in the excursion, and they will make a stay of two weeks.

ALFONSO'S SON UNDER THE KNIFE.

SURGICAL OPERATION TO BE MADE IN SWITZERLAND.

All the Offspring of King and Queen of Spain Reported to Be Defective and Bone of His Majesty's Head is Said to Be Decaying. But He is Not Consumptive.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GENEVA (Switzerland) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] News that Queen Victoria of Spain is coming to Switzerland late in June to have her second son, Prince Jaime, undergo an operation to relieve a defect of speech, is the first definite confirmation of previous reports that any of the Spanish royal children are defective.

The truth is, according to apparently reliable information, that all of them are so, and there is good authority for the statement that in at least one case, this weakness is mental as well as physical.

The children's infirmities are attributed to Alfonso's condition at the time of his marriage. It is known that he, in turn, inherited serious troubles from his father and was kept alive during babyhood only by the most heroic treatment. Later, outdoor life and constant exercise seemed to be working an improvement, but more recently his health has been breaking again.

The story that he will pass next winter in Switzerland persists, and is probably true.

Despite official denials that his health renders it impossible for King Alfonso to spend another winter in Spain, it is the general belief in Switzerland that a Spanish gentleman who recently purchased a handsome villa at Lezins, a sanitarium resort near the Rhone Valley, was acting for His Majesty. So far as can be learned, it is not, indeed, true that Alfonso is consumptive, as originally reported, but it is said that the disease from which he has long suffered involves the decay of bones in his head.

MUSIC VERSUS GOLF.

Man Can Live Longer on the Former, Charity Convention Hears—Ruef Case Under Discussion.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BOSTON, June 8.—At the national conference of Charities and Corrections today adequate relief for families and neighborhoods, care of destitute children; housing, health and recreation, drunkenness and mental defects of lawbreakers, offered opportunity for delegates to get in touch with the most advanced theories for successful work. Dr. Harlow Brooks and Dr. W. R. Williams of New York, discussed drunkenness in regard to the effect of alcohol on the organs and functions of the body. Miss Jane Addams of Chicago and Joseph Lee, considered the problems of housing, health and recreation in Ford Hall, and delegates interested in the mental defects of delinquents listened to addresses by Dr. William Healy of Chicago; Dr. M. G. Schlapp, of New York; Prof. Maurice Parmelee, of the University of Missouri and many others.

"The lawyer is healthier than the prizefighter. A man can live longer on music than on golf," said Joseph Lee, president of the American Playground Association.

In discussing California affairs, A. P. Bates of San Francisco, said:

"We put Ruef in prison, but unfortunately the man who furnished the bribe is still living in high society in New York."

Already two cities—Cleveland and Seattle—are pressing their claims for next year's conference.

SHOW BUSINESS PAYS.

Russell Sage Foundation Finds Out What Managers Already Knew—Some Theaters Criticized.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—A severe arraignment of the moral and intellectual tone of the theaters here is presented in a report issued under the auspices of the Russell Sage Foundation. The vaudeville theaters and burlesque shows come in for harsh criticism. Compared to these shows the regular theaters, the report says, are visited by a relatively small number of patrons. The total number of theaters in Greater New York is given at 497. Those in Manhattan number 275, of which only thirty are rated as "first-class houses." The average weekly attendance at the 275 theaters is 1,750,000, only 160,000 of which represents visitors at the first-class houses. A total of nearly $575,000 is spent weekly on theaters in this city.

Of the burlesque houses, five-sixths are rated as "demoralizing," and one-sixth as "lowering." Of the vaudeville houses, three-fourths are "not objectionable," one-fifth are "lowering," and only 5 per cent. are "of positive value."

CITY COUNCIL DEAD.

But There Was no Need for Oklahoma Embalmers and Undertakers in Annual Meeting.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "The whole City Council is dead. Come on out here, we need help," some one shouted as he rushed into the assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce today where the members of the Oklahoma Embalmers' and Undertakers' Association were holding their convention.

Instantly there was a rush of the country members, who saw visions of a horrible accident. It turned out to be a ruse. The City Councilmen had just vacated their offices in compliance with an order from the Supreme Court.

MUST FIND DOCTOR.

Empire State Man Has to Prove to City Officials He's Not a Woman as the Records Show.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

LOCKPORT (N. Y.) June 8.—When James Clark, son of Thomas Clark, called on the City Clerk to get a certificate of birth, he found the records show that he is a girl, and that his name is Carrie.

Assistant City Clerk Fitzsimmons dug into the records of the day of James's birth and found that Carrie, a daughter, had been born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clark.

The mistake evidently was caused by the doctor in filing the certificate. James, therefore, must continue on the records as a girl, until he finds the doctor.

TRIPLE MURDER AT SPOKANE.

Discharged Carpenter Cuts Loose With Rifle; Posse Now Scouring Woods to Capture Him.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SPOKANE (Wash.) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Enraged because he had been discharged by his employer, John D. Mansker, who is building a barber shop near Dishman, Bill Boyd, a carpenter, this afternoon got a 30-30 rifle and shot Mansker dead, shot L. W. Whipple in the face, tearing away his lower jaw and so badly injuring him that he died later, and then turned the gun on Justice of the Peace C. M. Misner, shooting him in the left breast. He is expected to die.

Boyd fled through the Milwaukee yards with a mob after him. He raced to safety to the woods and the mob, fearing to follow, sent in a call to the Sheriff's office. With the arrival of three deputy sheriffs, a posse of thirty was formed and search for Boyd renewed. It is reported that one of the posse was killed. Boyd has a good supply of ammunition.

KAISER OBJECTS TO APPOINTEE.

NO SUCCESSOR YET MADE TO DR. HILL'S POST.

German Ambassadorship Yet Vacant Because of Hint From Fatherland Ruler—Utmost Secrecy Maintained As to Identity of Party Who Has Been Rejected.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispach.] One reason for the delay in announcing the appointment of an ambassador to Germany to succeed Dr. David Jayne Hill, it was learned this afternoon, is the fact that the German Emperor has suggested that he did not care to receive in Berlin the man whom President Taft had selected for that position.

It will be recalled that some time ago the President made up his mind regarding this appointment and that the German government was asked whether the selection would be acceptable or not. The greatest secrecy was maintained at the White House and State Department as to the identity of the man selected by the President for the post. There have been many guesses, and each has been met with denial in official quarters.

There seems to have been some anticipation on the part of this government that there might be objections in Berlin to the envoy proposed and the greatest efforts were made to keep the selection secret in order that it might never be known upon whom the disfavor of the Kaiser fell.

The identity of the man whose name has been rejected by the Kaiser is lost behind half a dozen names that have come since the announcement of Dr. Hill's retirement as possible appointees to the post.

The first of these mentioned was John G. A. Leishman, American Ambassador at Rome.

John Hays Hammond has intermittently been mentioned for the appointment but he is understood not to desire this assignment.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

Date Set for Final Vote.

Chicago Senator Goes to the Rescue of Victim.

Seven Assailants Arrested After Hard Fight.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Policeman George Fleming, of the Desplaines-street Station, was kicked and beaten almost to death early today by seven union-labor sluggers.

The victim is in a serious condition at his home and the assailants, who were captured after a hard battle with State Senator John Broderick and Detectives Clark and O'Brien, are locked up at the Desplaines-street Police Station. All the prisoners are members of the Sheet Metal Workers' Union on strike.

CREATED DISTURBANCE.

The seven men were creating a disturbance near the Haymarket Theater when Policeman Fleming ordered them to disperse. Instead of obeying the officer, all seven leaped upon him.

The assailants knocked Fleming down and beat and kicked him about the head, face and body. He fought as best he could and attempted to draw his revolver, but the odds were too great.

Senator Broderick, standing in the doorway of his saloon nearby, saw one of the men pounding Fleming's head against the stone sidewalk.

TO THE RESCUE.

The Senator immediately went to the assistance of Fleming and was attacked by two of the men.

Broderick, who is heavily built and a former policeman, knocked both down.

Clark and O'Brien leaped upon the men who were beating him. A fierce fight followed, the policemen fearing to shoot because of the big crowd which gathered about the combatants. The seven men were finally overpowered.

GOV. MARSHALL IS FIRM.

Notifies Union Labor Conference That He Did Right in Honoring Requisition for McNamara.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In reply to a letter sent him last week by the union labor conference in charge of the Indianapolis affairs of the McNamara case Gov. Marshall asserted, in a communication received today by Frank Duffy, conference secretary, that he would not inform Gov. Johnson of California that J. J. McNamara's extradition from Indianapolis to Los Angeles was obtained through fraudulent affidavits. McNamara, secretary and treasurer of the International Union of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers, faces charges of complicity in dynamiting outrages at Los Angeles.

Gov. Marshall expressed ignorance of any alleged fraudulent statements made in connection with McNamara's extradition. He declared Gov. Johnson would resent his interference and that he "did not see his way clear to interfere with the administration of justice in another State."

The State Chief Executive reiterated his opinion that the duty of the Governor is to issue a warrant on requisition papers when a certified copy of a sufficient charge to constitute a crime is produced and that it is not his duty to investigate the case. Gov. Marshall says in the letter that legal investigation of other charges incident to the case are being made by other bodies and that as State Chief Executive it is his duty to remain unbiased and not to become partisan counsel or judge.

Don't Take "Worsted" Literally.

DECLARES DEMOCRATIC WOOL TARIFF IS PROTECTION TO WORSTED TRUST.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, June 8.—An attack on the Democratic wool tariff bill on the ground that it affords protection to the so-called worsted trust, was made in the House today by Representative Victor Murdock of Kansas. He attacked the 40 per cent. duty on worsted cloths, which the bill contains, declaring that it meant immediate protection to the combination that controls the output. Mr. Murdock said the trust has so lowered the quality of goods that the consumer buys, that "clothing manufacturers have been ashamed to pass the fabrics out to the wearers," and at the same time, he said, the cost of worsted goods has been increased.

"The worsted trust has, by stock manipulation," said Mr. Murdock, "paid out in eleven years, probably on not over $15,000,000 original investment, $22,000,000 in dividends and has built up, besides, an establishment carrying a capital of $60,000,000, with a surplus of $10,000,000 on top of that."

Republican Leader Mann opened the attack on the Democratic bill with a criticism of its effectiveness as a revenue producer.

He accused the Democrats in the House of following misinformation in their support of the bill. Mr. Brantley of Georgia, Democratic member of the Ways and Means Committee, supported the bill in a speech attacking protection.

SAGE TEA DARKENS THE HAIR AND RESTORES COLOR TO GRAY HAIR

Cures Dandruff, Stops the Hair from Falling Out and Makes It Grow.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair, with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to old-time, tiresome methods of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Whole or None.

TALKS RECIPROCITY TO SOUTHERNERS.

Cotton Seed Crushers Hear President Taft.

Produce Exchange Banqueters Cheer Sentiments.

Executive Wants Bill As It is Or None at All.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—"The bill, the whole bill, and nothing but the bill," thus President Taft summed up an earnest plea for the unamendment adoption by the Senate of the Canadian reciprocity agreement before a representative audience of Southern men tonight.

The occasion was a banquet given by the New York Produce Exchange to the Interstate Cotton Crushers' Association. The banquet hall resounded to a stirring welcome for the President as he entered. He had spent a busy afternoon in Brooklyn, where he reviewed parades of more than 150,000 school children and saw the Crescent Athletic Club team defeat Montreal at lacrosse. But he showed no signs of fatigue and smilingly bowed his appreciation of the welcome. Gov. Dix, who arrived about the same time, also was given a cordial greeting.

SOUTH'S ADVANTAGE.

In his address President Taft pointed out to the Southerners the advantages their section would derive from the enactment of the agreement with Canada, but did not neglect to recur to his main argument for the pending bill on the broader lines of general interest. There was no questioning the sympathy of the majority of his auditors with the President's plan. From the start every mention of the word "reciprocity" was greeted with cheers and the President at times had difficulty in proceeding. He voiced objections to amending the agreement by taking on the farmers free list bill, which course he said, would drive away from its support enough votes to defeat the agreement.

"May I not ask you all as Americans, as southerners, as southern cotton men, and as southern cotton seed men," Mr. Taft said, "to exert yourselves through this association and in every other practical way, to urge upon and demand of your Senators that if they really desire reciprocity—as I sincerely believe most of them do—they shall take the best and most direct way to secure its passage?"

TALK ON COTTON.

President Taft began his speech with a little talk on cotton. He said:

"You represent a branch of the farming industry of this country in which we have a practical monopoly. The great crop which determines the price in the world each year is the cotton crop of the southern States. Your branch of that industry, the collecting and treatment of the cotton seed, is comparatively new.

"Now, the cotton seed product figures in every calculation made with respect to the cultivation of cotton; and there has been added by the proper treatment of the cotton seed a new source of food supply and a gainful occupation that needs, and can find, a market the whole world over.

"It has been the good fortune of our government, in the last few years, and especially during this administration, to enlarge the market for cotton seed oil, and the Canadian import duty upon cotton seed oil, which was 20 per cent. before the passage of the Payne Tariff Bill, is reduced under the maximum and minimum clause, to 17½ per cent. that is, a reduction of 1-8 of the duty.

"In the negotiation of the reciprocity treaty, however, we secured the admission of cotton seed oil into Canada without duty.

TRADE RESULTS.

"The growth of the trade is as follows:

"In 1905, the value of the cotton seed oil introduced into Canada from the United States was $213,000; in 1906, $310,000; in 1907, $376,000; in 1908, $539,000; in 1909, $620,000; in 1910, $867,000; in 1911, $1,047,000—each year ending March 31. This means a total export to Canada of more than 2,050,000 gallons of this oil.

"With the complete removal of the duty, we may expect the trade greatly to increase, not only because it will become less expensive in Canada, but because it will thus give cotton seed oil an advantage over its competitors—olive oil and peanut oil.

"Under the treaty, vegetables and fruits of all kinds enter Canada free. One of the greatest branches of the farming industry in the South is truck farming, and the bringing of early vegetables to the North. The same thing is true of fruits and berries. With the introduction of these free into Canada, you will secure other customers with a valuable trade that will add greatly to the demand and that will expand your industry and maintain the prices at which it can be profitably carried on.

EFFECT OF TREATY.

"The effect of the treaty, as a whole, is certain to be of the highest usefulness to the country at large, and will increase rapidly trade that now is $300,000,000 to figures double that sum.

"The treaty has opponents, however. The House of Representatives soon after it passed the bill embodying the reciprocity agreement, passed a bill known as the farmers' free list. In my judgment, it was both unfortunate and unjust that this bill should have been introduced and adopted on the theory that it was a sop to the farmers, for there is no injustice done to the farmers in the Canadian reciprocity agreement.

FARMERS' FREE LIST.

"I am glad to say that Mr. Underwood, who introduced the farmers' free list, repudiated any such idea, but certain it is that persons have assumed that unless the farmers' free list was passed at the same time, the Canadian reciprocity agreement would be an injury or unfair to the farming classes. Nothing could be further from the truth in my judgment. The Canadian reciprocity agreement will greatly aid the farming classes, both in the North and in the South.

"The farmers' free list, so called, put on the free list articles used by southern farmers only, such as cotton bagging and cotton ties. I have heard it suggested, on behalf of certain Senators from the Southern States, that they could not vote for reciprocity unless it was linked in some way with the farmers' free list.

"They say that the farmers' free list has gone into the Finance Committee, a majority of which is unfavorable to it, and will prevent it being reported out to the Senate at all.

CITES AN OBJECTION.

"They propose either before or after the bill comes into the Senate, to put an amendment on it with the farmers' free list. The objection to this is, first—that the farmers' free list has no relevancy at all to the Canadian reciprocity agreement, because it affects the imports from all the world and it is a general tariff revision having nothing whatever to do with the contract which we have made with Canada. The second objection is that if it is voted onto the reciprocity agreement it will drive away from the support of the reciprocity agreement a number of votes, enough to defeat the agreement.

"Those who are sincerely and earnestly in favor of reciprocity and yet favor the farmers' free list, ought to be able to take some other method of vindicating themselves than to defeat reciprocity by amending it with the free list. By moving to discharge the committee which has the farmers' free-list bill under consideration they might show by their vote upon such motion their approval of a bill and their desire for its passage.

PLEADS FOR ACTION.

"The truth is, the situation in the Senate is one that can be described as calling for the bill, the whole bill and nothing but the bill. May I not ask you all, as Americans, as Southerners, as Southern cotton men and as southern cotton-seed men, to exert yourselves, through this association and in every other practical way, to urge upon and to demand of your Senators that if they really favor reciprocity—as I sincerely believe most of them do—that they shall take the best and most direct way to secure its passage.

"I hope you will not think that I have abused your hospitality by making this appeal. My justification for it is the conviction that I could not urge you to any course better adapted to increase your present prosperity and to add to the marvelous progress which the people of all sections, with gratified and unenvious eyes, have seen developed in the South."

President Taft, after he had concluded his address, kept his place and listened to the other speakers, among whom was Gov. Dix. It was late when the banquet ended, and the President was driven direct to the Pennsylvania terminal.

PRETTY INCIDENTS OF VISIT OF PRESIDENT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—Local Sunday-school work, international sport, and the cotton seed crushing industry were matters which brought President Taft to greater New York today for a brief visit.

In his first speech, replying to Mr. Gaynor's welcome, the President half apologized for coming here so often. One of the last things he said tonight was that the day's demonstration almost eclipsed any with which he had been greeted here and certainly was one he enjoyed greatly, for in it nearly 150,000 little children had joined. All afternoon in Brooklyn, he reviewed the thousands of boys and girls who followed their Sunday-school leaders in double file in a dozen different sections.

The day was full of pretty incidents. One was a kiss with which the President rewarded a little girl in pink who climbed upon his car as it halted in a crowd in the Williamsburg bridge plaza and handed him a big bouquet of American beauty roses. Another—when a boy called out: "Hello, Mr. President, my name is Bill, too."

It is estimated that Mr. Taft covered more than forty miles of Brooklyn streets. The trip was punctuated with stops at churches, where little speeches were demanded, and by luncheon at the Hanover and Union League Clubs. The President is something of an enthusiast over lacrosse and a match in the Bay Ridge section of Brooklyn was attended. There he cheered for the Crescent Athletic Club which was beating the Montreal team.

After the game, the President boarded the revenue cutter Seneca. More than 100 of the guests in Brooklyn today were taken aboard the vessel, and as he came up the bay the President was busy with an informal reception on board.

Night had fallen when the vessel docked at the Fiftieth-street pier in North River and the President hurried to the home of his brother, Henry W. Taft, for a change to evening clothes for the banquet of the Interstate Cotton Seed Crushers Convention.

The programme called for Mr. Taft's departure for Washington at midnight.

LAWYERS FIGHT.

Both Fined By Reno Judge For Contempt—Former Candidate For Governor Is Injured.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Judge W. A. Massey, president of the Washoe County Bar Association, and Attorney D. H. Hartson engaged in a fight today in the District Court of Judge French, during the course of a civil suit in which the two were opposed.

Massey represented the defendant, the Reno Traction Company, while Hartson appeared for a client suing the company for damages alleged to have been received by being struck by a street car.

The battle happened while the plaintiff was on the witness stand and under examination by Massey. Hartson objected to the witness being browbeaten, and Massey resented the application of such terms to his system of eliciting testimony. Heated words followed and the two attorneys clinched. Both fell to the floor, where, after struggling for a minute, they were separated by Bailiff Whited.

The only injuries sustained were by Massey, who bruised his cheek when it came in contact with a cuspidor.

Both made profuse apologies to the court, but failed to apologize to each other. Just before the court adjourned this afternoon, Judge French fined the barristers $25 each for contempt of court. The fines were paid.

Judge Massey was a candidate for Governor on the Republican ticket at the last primary election, but was defeated.

SANTA MONICA, June 8.—W. J. Weid, an electrician, while working on an incandescent circuit in connection with the electric light plant here today, touched a socket where there was presumably a live wire and was instantly killed. Weid arrived here a month ago. His former residence is not known.

Life's Seamy Side.

FATALLY SHOT BY FRENCH MAID.

Prominent Millionaire of San Fancisco Victim.

Suit Failing, She Takes Law In Her Own Hand.

Tragedy Enacted at Entrance to Courts Building.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—C. Frederick Kohl, a prominent capitalist and prominent as a club and society man, was shot and probably fatally wounded today by Adele Verge, a French maid, until recently in his wife's employ.

The shooting took place in the entrance corridor of the Grant building, in which the Superior Courts are housed, and where Kohl had gone as a witness in a suit recently brought by Miss Verge against him and Frank A. Miller, a hotel manager of Riverside, for $20,000 damages for malicious prosecution.

The suit was the outgrowth of an incident in the hotel in Riverside where Miss Verge quarreled with a chauffeur. The maid was dismissed from Mrs. Kohl's service and arrested at the instance of Mrs. Richardson, housekeeper of the hotel, on the charge of insanity.

DISCHARGED AS SANE.

After being imprisoned four days the maid was discharged by the Insanity Commission. She then came to this city and filed suit against Kohl and Miller for malicious prosecution, alleging that they had prevented her from keeping several positions by hounding her with private detectives, who told her employers she was insane.

Yesterday, the suit was called and a motion on behalf of Kohl for a non-suit was granted. Superior Judge Gesford, who tried the case, ordered that the charge of illegal arrest preferred against Miller should be heard, and it was as a witness in this case that Kohl was present in court today. Miller testified he had ordered Mrs. Richardson to swear to an insanity complaint against Miss Verge on account of complaints from the guests of the hotel that she had given indications of an unsound mind.

IN THE SAME CAR.

At the conclusion of the case, Kohl and Miss Verge departed from the building in the same elevator. Kohl stopped at a cigar stand in the entrance to light a cigar, and Miss Verge went on. Suddenly drawing a revolver from the fold of her dress she turned and fired at Kohl, at a distance of a few feet.

The physician staggered into the arms of bystanders and the woman fled up Market street. James Leonhardt, owner of the cigar stand, and Frank Graham, Kohl's chauffeur, overtook her and, after taking her pistol away, turned her over to Detectives Sullivan and Gaughran.

Kohl was hurried to the Central Emergency Hospital where Dr. Tillman said the wound was just below the heart. The shooting was done with a .41 caliber double-barreled Derringer of foreign make. The shock from the heavy bullet was great and the loss of blood profuse.

CONFRONTED IN HOSPITAL.

At the hospital the wounded man was confronted by Miss Verge and in the presence of an assistant District Attorney he identified her as his assailant. In his statement, the capitalist forgave Miss Verge and declared he believed her to be insane. When the statement was ended, he was removed to a private sanatorium where physicians probed for the bullet.

Miss Verge was taken from the Emergency Hospital to the City Prison, where she was held on the detinue book pending the outcome of Kohl's wound. She was in a highly hysterical state tonight, declaring she did not know why she had shot her former employer. The maid came to this country from Paris with Kohl's mother, who brought her here for her daughter-in-law.

During the trial of the woman's suit against Kohl, the judge expressed himself as satisfied that Miss Verge was suffering from a form of mania, which made her believe that everyone she met was talking about her. Both Miller and Kohl denied they had hired private detectives to hound Miss Verge.

WEALTHY CITIZEN.

Mr. Kohl is one of the richest men in San Francisco and he and his wife are prominent socially. He is a member of the New York Yacht Club, the Metropolitan Club of Washington, D. C., the Richmond Country Town and Country Club and prominent clubs on the Pacific Coast.

The wounded capitalist is the son of Mrs. William C. Kohl, herself a very wealthy woman, and his wife was Miss Elizabeth Godey of Washington, D. C.

The elder Mrs. Kohl is now in Atlantic City, where she went from New York after attending the Gould-Graham wedding. Mr. Kohl's wife has been summoned to his bedside from their home in San Mateo.

An examination made by a number of physicians several hours after Kohl was removed to the sanatorium brought the announcement that on account of his rugged constitution there is a slight chance of his recovery.

FIFTY-SEVEN VICTIMS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

FRESNO, June 8.—Five rings valued at $1000 were stolen from the home of Louis Scholler, at No. 1408 L street early today. Mrs. Scholler's wedding ring was dropped by the thief in his haste. Several hundred dollars worth of jewels were overlooked.

POLITICAL PEACE.

Crimes in Sonora Are Due to Unstable Rule—Man Ends Life By Guzzling Lot of Champagne.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BISBEE (Ariz.) June 7.—While peace appears to pervade Northern Sonora, there is no doubt that minor crime and violence may be expected for some time, due to lack of stable government. Many robberies have been reported from the outlying villages and murder has been added in several instances. Saturday afternoon, near Cananea, Anselmo R. Siere, a prosperous rancher, was ambushed. The body was found, still in the buggy, pierced by four bullets. The pockets had been rifled.

THROUGH THE HEAD.

The body of Manuel Sosa was found, Monday, in the San Pedro Valley, south of Fairbanks, with a bullet hole through the head. Sosa left his ranch home April 28, in company with Manuel Sanchez, to join the revolutionary forces. It is believed by local officers the men quarreled and that Sanchez assassinated his companion.

Monday afternoon, in Bisbee, John Erickson, a Swedish carpenter, committed suicide by shooting himself twice through the body.

In the hills back of the Calumet and Arizona Hospital has been found the body of an unidentified man, believed to be that of Gus Johnson, a Lowell barkeeper, who disappeared two months ago.

WROTE A MESSAGE.

By the side of the body was a piece of paper, upon which, written in pencil in Finnish, was a message, "I have drunk two bottles and am now popping the third." Near by were two empty champagne bottles, one about half full, and a flask of whisky about half drained. All around were cigarette stubs and fragments of matches, indicating that the man had remained upon the spot for hours before his death. There seems no doubt that it was a case of suicide by poison. The bottles had been wrapped in newspapers dated April 6.

W. J. Bolden, burned by a gasoline explosion, died in the Copper Queen Hospital. He came from Leadville, Colo., was about 33 years of age and married.

The "Widow Talamantes" of the Agua Prieta war has gone back to her home in Cananea, where she is known by the name of Senora Victoria MacGregor. The real Widow Talamantes never went to war at all, remaining quietly at her home in southern Sonora.

LOWER INSURANCE.

The Bisbee City Council is working upon a problem of lower insurance rates for this city, an end which may be accomplished by the expenditure of about $40,000 by the local water company.

Gov. Richard E. Sloan will deliver the Fourth of July oration in Bisbee.

BY MATCHLIGHT.

MURDER IS DONE.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

GLOBE (Ariz.) June 8.—Saturday night, Ypolito Lopez was shot and killed by Teodoro Ruiz, who returned unexpectedly to his home and found Lopez in company with Sara Feliz Soto, with whom the former had been consorting. Ruiz did the shooting by the light of a match. Two bullets passed through the woman's body as she lay in bed and a fourth was sent by Ruiz into his own breast. The woman and Ruiz are now in the County Hospital. Their wounds are mortal.

Sunday morning, Octavino Franco, aged 51, was drowned while bathing in the San Carlos River, four miles from Rice Station. He was a resident of Globe, a stonecutter by trade, and leaves a widow and eight children.

A serious fire was discovered Sunday night on the 1200 level of the Old Dominion mine.

A loss of $7000 was occasioned by a fire which destroyed two residences on Cuprite street, belonging to Mrs. William Sprague and J. T. Jackson.

Ice water is to be provided by the Globe City Council for a new fountain in front of the Courthouse by the Wednesday Club.

The postoffice war at Miami, in which different sections of the camp are differing over the location, has been referred to Postoffice Inspector C. F. Dutton, who has investigated the claims of both sides and will make a report to the Postoffice Department.

ITALIAN LOST IN MOUNTAINS.

Jumped From Train in Arizona En Route to Coast—Woman Tramp in Trousers Put Off a Freight.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) June 7.—Mrs. Jose Rodriguez, shot by Luis Alvarez at Hillside last Friday, succumbed to her wounds in a Prescott hospital. The woman had been married two months. Alvarez is in jail awaiting trial. He was found by Deputy Sheriff Tovrea near Congress. The only excuse he had for the crime was that he had been enraged over the fact that he had been deserted by a Mexican woman with whom he had been living for a couple of years and that it was she whom he had attempted to kill, instead of Mrs. Rodriguez, to whom the woman had fled.

Salvatore Rossi, an Italian, two months a resident of this country, is lost in the mountains south of Williams and is believed to have died.

Two weeks ago he was a passenger on a westbound train with a ticket for San Francisco. Near Albuquerque, he became demented and jumped from the train. The man's brother-in-law, Domenico Accita of San Francisco, is leading the search.

Last week at Jerome Junction, Frank Nail, a brakeman, aged 28, fell from a moving car under the wheels, his head being severed from the body. He leaves a widow and two children.

Al Smith has been exonerated at Ash Fork of blame for killing a Mexican in a race riot.

A great Mojave-Apache pow-wow will be held next week on the upper Verde River, at least 300 participants being expected. The affair will be a welcoming home to a score or more of Indian boys and girls, who have been released for a vacation from attendance on the Indian Industrial School at Phoenix.

Work has been begun on a Territorial highway between Prescott and Flagstaff under a contract with the Board of Control, and it is expected that the road will be completed before the end of summer, giving an alternative route from Prescott northward to the Grand Canyon by way of Flagstaff.

MILITIA MEN FINED.

Most of the members of the National Guard company at Flagstaff failed to respond to drill call on Decoration Day. As a result, drastic action, authorized by the Territorial statutes, but rarely resorted to, was taken. The defaulting members were arrested and fined $7.50 each.

For a couple of years Henry F. Ashurst has been making a vigorous campaign for a senatorship from Arizona, to represent the north in the event of Statehood. He lately engaged in a fist fight with Mike G. Burns, a mining man and ex-member of the Territorial Legislature. Burns, a much older man, is said to have sustained by far the worse end of the controversy. Ashurst had taxed Burns with opposing his candidacy. Burns is a member of the Democratic Statehood Committee of three members.

Preparations are being made to test the prohibition strength in Yavapai county and it is probable a general county local-option election will be called. The campaign is being managed by the Rev. Sam Small and W. M. Burke, superintendent of the Arizona Anti-Saloon League.

A library is being gathered for the Pioneers' Home at Prescott, contributions coming from all parts of Arizona. Guy Heyman of San Francisco has furnished one of the rooms at the home.

WOMAN TRAMP.

Last week a woman tramp, wearing male attire, was found by trainmen on the top of a Santa Fe westbound passenger train. She was put off at Flagstaff, but later continued her journey westward.

The North Arizona Gas and Power Company has a fifty-year franchise for a gas plant and service at Kingman and proposes to supply also a number of the outlying camps with light and fuel. The incorporators are Robert H. Willson, Rol King, C. R. Mohan, F. M. Hall and K. K. Ash, all of Los Angeles.

Henry Lovin of Kingman is preparing to build a new store building at Flagstaff to cost $25,000.

Gov. Sloan this week moved his family from Phoenix to Prescott and will make this city his residence until next fall.

MYSTERY IN THE SHOTING.

Santa Monica Man and Newly-Discovered Wife Insist That it Was Accidental.

SANTA MONICA, June 8.—With no degree of success the police probed today into the mystery surrounding the shooting of Charles E. Lester, at his apartments over the Palm restaurant on the ocean front, late last night. According to Lester's own story he was lying on his back in bed, when a revolver that was at the foot of the bed fell to the floor and was discharged. The ball ranged upward through the mattress and grazing Lester's spine embedded itself somewhere in his back. Although the victim of the accident, who has been employed in local garages during the past two years, was supposed to be a single man, he stated today that his wife was present at the time. A woman appeared later who stated that she was his wife and that she was present when the shooting occurred. She says it was accidental. Lester has been taken to the hospital, and an endeavor will be made to extract the ball. It is not expected serious results will follow.

SOCIETY WOMEN PATRONESSES.

Respond to Invitations to Assist at Auction for Charity. Pretty Girls to Act as Ushers.

Eddie Nagel of the Jonathan Club has consented to act as auctioneer at the Associated Charities' sale of seats for the opening of the New Orpheum to be held next Wednesday morning at Spring Street Orpheum. His work as an entertainer has often been proved.

Society will be represented at the auction, and a list of prominent women will be announced later as patronesses. Those conducting the auction have arranged that many of Los Angeles's society's most beautiful young debutantes and matrons shall serve as ushers.

The entire lower floor and the seats in the boxes are to be included in the auction, the Orpheum management retaining the 50 and 25-cent seats in the balcony for sale in the usual way.

INDIAN CHIEF INSULTED.

MUSKOGEE (Okla.) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The appointment by Secretary of the Interior Fisher of William T. Vernon, a negro, former secretary of the registrar of the Federal treasury, as assistant supervisor of Indian schools at Muskogee, has caused a storm of protests here. Monty Tiger, the Creek Indian's principal chief, said today: "I consider the appointment of a colored man as supervisor of schools of the Indian a gross insult. But what the government says we must accept. A negro was once assigned by the civil service commission to the Indian agent's office here. He did not stay more than four days, when he was removed. The people did not want him here."

Just a Boy's Luck.

A small boy from town was spending a few days in the country. One morning he heard the grown folks complaining of having been kept awake the night before by a skunk.

Willie burst into tears. "Why, Willie, what's the matter?" the fond mother inquired.

"Why, didn't someone wake me up?" he blubbered. "I never smelled a skunk in all my life!"—[Metropolitan Magazine.

College Debates On Banking

University Thrashes Out Interesting Question

An interesting debate was held last night at Colby University on the subject, "Resolved, That Banking Service Becomes More Efficient as it Becomes More Personal." The debate was held by the students of the economic courses, and a vast array of statistics on bank efficiency were laid before the judges and the large body of interested spectators. The debate was won by the affirmative side.

In debating in your own mind what bank you shall patronize, never overlook the fact that the Merchants' Bank and Trust Company, at 207-9-11 S. Broadway, has attained a noteworthy reputation as the bank with the greatest degree of personality in its service of any institution in California. That service applies just as much to the man who deposits a dollar a month as to him whose account runs into the thousands.

Everybody loves macaroni spaghetti, but really few people prepare it properly. Here's a recipe that is particularly delicious:

If for four people, take a 10c package of Bellarosa CRESCENT SPAGHETTI (if for 6 or 8 people, a 25c package), boil in slightly salted water until tender. Do not boil too long. Chop three or four onions and boil until soft, in equal parts of milk and water with four slices of bacon, pepper, etc. Drain spaghetti in colander. Place in baking dish with alternating layers of spaghetti and sliced Italian or sap-sago cheese on top and bake 10 minutes in hot oven.

Macaroni and spaghetti are economical and supremely delicious. But everything depends on the brand you buy. In order to insure perfection insist on having BELL-CRESCENT MACARONI which is rich and tender—made from gluten flour by perfected methods. It is 50 per cent better than common macaroni—but costs no more. Sold daily in Los Angeles by Patrolman C. S. Bowman, who was instantly killed last night near Macy street by a Santa Fe switch engine. A passing trolley car obstructed his view of the engine, which he had not heard approaching.

... crew, was standing on the footboard at the base of the water tank of the switch engine, which was backing up the line. The officer's body struck him as Bowman fell, and almost caused Clement's own death.

Bowman's body, with both legs cut off close to the trunk, was picked up about 250 feet from the spot where he was struck. The trunk had been rolled over and over under the cars and mangled. The tender, engine and two cars had passed over it. The severed limbs lay outside the rails, many yards away from the body and head.

REMAINS BADLY MANGLED.

One of the train crew telephoned to police headquarters that an officer bearing shield No. 217 had been killed by a train at Macy street and the Santa Fe tracks. The railroad man said that the remains were too disfigured to make identification possible, save from the star number, but this was not accepted at headquarters by Lieut. Adams, who took the report.

It was only when Sergeant Dan Long viewed the body and made sure it was Bowman that the department resigned itself to his loss. When Long called at the spot, the train had already been moved away and the crushed corpse was found lying alone in the middle of the track. It was several hours afterward that it was learned by the police that the train had been in charge of Fireman J. F. Clements and Engineer A. J. Fitzgerald of No. 552 North St. Louis street, and the statement of Fireman Clements obtained.

Officer Bowman was a native of Augusta, Me., where he had conducted a hotel. He came to Los Angeles about five years ago with his wife, step-son, Percy Bowman, and his father and step-mother, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Bowman, the family making their home at No. 1000 East Thirty-second street.

Bowman was for a time employed by the Merchants' Fire Dispatch, then became a special Pinkerton officer at Arcadia. He was apointed on the force June 9, 1909, and was held in the highest esteem by his superior officers.

The body was taken to Bresee Bros. morgue.

Millions of Folks Use Only 'Cascarets'

They Never Have Headache, Biliousness, Sluggish, Inactive Bowels or a Bad Stomach to Make Them Miserable.

A million boxes a month. That's the sale of Cascarets. And every tablet in every box means a day of good cheer. Think what a world of happiness this candy laxative has brought to men and women—also the children. Are you getting your share?

Cascarets cure bowel troubles when they have developed. But that is the least of their uses. Their best service is to prevent the many ills that come from inactive bowels. Think of the days when you are not at your best. The mornings when you don't feel right, the afternoons when you are logy, the evenings when you are irritable. The cause lies in the bowels.

One Cascaret makes everything different. Don't say "I'll take it tonight." Take it at once. Carry a box in your pocket. The hours before bedtime are too good to be wasted. Cascarets are gentle and pleasant. Their action is as natural as the action of fruit on the bowels. They are sold by all druggists at 10 cents per box.

All of this is shown by the width between his eyes, and by the bulge of his forehead center above the eyes.

He has a strong bump of imitation, but he is lacking in the psychic center which would lend his actions either feeling or originality. As an actor he would never display genius because he has no fire of spirit. He has a great power of localization, and could not be lost, his faculty augmented by his observation and memory of details would make it possible for him to go into any room in the dark he had once occupied for five minutes in the light, and find any object he desired.

He has no intuition, but by observation and analysis he knows at sight the type of persons he may trust. He has a strong parental love that extends to children and to other small animals. His round eyes indicate that he is essentially a monogomist. All animals with round eyes choose and live with only one mate. Guilford says this law applies to men.

Teddy has a sense of right and wrong, but no hope, no imagination and no power of speculation beyond the present minute. He is utterly lacking in the power of concentration. His love of life is so strong that he has an immense power to resist disease and is quick to complain of the slightest illness.

He is not aggressive, but is not a coward, and is very careful not to injure those who are kind to him.

Guilford also read Teddy's palm, finding that he had a strong line of faith, a long life line, a clear and steadfast heart line with a sub-normal mount of Jupiter, abnormal mount of Saturn and Venus, and an absence of the mount of Apollo.

PRIVATE WATCHMAN IS PINKED.

Undertakes to Act as Peacemaker Between Two Jealous Men and Lands in Receiving Hospital.

W. W. Williams, a private watchman, was shot in the shoulder last evening at No. 741 Central avenue, a lodging-house, while trying to act as peacemaker in a quarrel between Will Johnson and R. J. Hinchley.

Johnson, who did the shooting, and Hinchley, who was recently released from the penitentiary after serving an eighteen-months sentence for forgery, were rivals for the love of a woman of ill-repute. When Hinchley regained his liberty, he found he had been supplanted in the woman's affections by Johnson, and there were several quarrels over the fair one.

The woman was recently hurt in an accident and Williams and Hinchley took care of her. Yesterday evening, Johnson entered the woman's room and was ejected by Williams and Hinchley. Williams struck his head and shoulders out of the door to make sure that Johnson was gone, and the latter fired at him, the bullet making a flesh wound in Williams's shoulder. Johnson escaped and Williams was taken to the Receiving Hospital.

SUSPECT ARRESTED.

W. H. Wheatley, a negro who was trying to sell a large electric fan, was arrested last night in a Main-street pawnshop by Patrolman Riggs, who did not think that Wheatley looked the part of a man having legitimate extra electric fans. Detectives Ritch and Roberds, who examined Wheatley at headquarters, found a watch on him which was identified as having been stolen from Mrs. L. A. Jackson of No. 702 East Fourth street. The owner of the fan has not yet been found.

China After Poppy Growers.

China must be credited with being very progressive in its treatment of the opium habit in recent years. Recognizing the necessity of stopping the terrible ravages of this drug among its people, the Imperial government determined three years ago to curtail the production of the poppy. The effort has been very successful and is being continued, notwithstanding a trade valued at $125,000,000 a year is thereby destroyed.

The governments of China and India are co-operating in this matter. They are so reducing production and shipments that in ten years it is expected there will be a total abolition of the trade in opium. As the opium habit has been spreading in the United States, it is apparent that this destruction of the plant from which it is obtained should have an important bearing on public health. It should at least prevent the present alarming additions to the number of the unfortunate victims of this terrible drug habit.—[Boston Globe.

An Indignant Patient.

Dr. Leo Halpin was called in a hurry to one of the uptown hospitals the other day, says the New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Times-Star. A stranger had been brought in, suffering from an obvious case of appendicitis. The surgeons at the hospital told him that an immediate operation was essential. "Then you get me Dr. Halpin," said he. "I don't know him, but he cut a leg off a friend of mine as neat as anything you ever see. I want Doc Halpin to perform this operation." Dr. Halpin, flattered by the demand from the unknown, hurried to the hospital at midnight. He unched, prodded and poked the sufferer. After he had completed his examination he spoke to the interne who was assigned to the case. "Notify this man's relatives," said he. "I don't think I'll cut into him until he gets a little stronger."

"Say, you," said the stranger, getting out of bed and beginning to put on his clothes. "What do you think I am? A cheese?"

MANY VICTORIES PASS IN REVIEW.

Work Accomplished by City's Worthy Organization.

Helping Hand Out to Many Young Women.

New Club Springs from Change in Department.

The annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association, which was held last night at the Auditorium, was made the occasion for a general review of the many victories which the organization has recently achieved in its line of endeavor. It was the seventeenth annual meeting, and there were present many who have watched the association grow from a mere band of active workers for the good of young women into the important factor in city affairs it has now become.

"So long," said Miss Amelia C. Johnson, acting general secretary, in her annual report, "as Southern California continues to be beautiful, attractive and progressive, people will continue to come in large numbers to Los Angeles. Many will be women, and many will be entire strangers to the city. The Travelers' Aid Department, like a hand of the association at the railway stations, has aided and directed during this year 2201 persons. But not only at the stations is this department active through its two deaconnesses. People are cared for after that first attention, if it be found necessary. Seven hundred and eighty-six calls have been made; 614 garments given away; letters and cards written, magazines and papers, food, bedding, flowers and medicine supplied, and situations secured as needs were apparent."

HELPING WOMEN.

In reference to the task of securing employment for young women Miss Johnson said:

'Last fall the employment department underwent a change when the business section was divided from the home section and a third secretary came in to share responsibilities. The arrangement has given opportunity for more careful study of the needs, and consequent development. Out from the change has also sprung a new club, known as the Young Women's Christian Association Commercial Club."

The financial end of the subject was not neglected. "In the very nature of its work," said Miss Johnson, "the association cannot be self-supporting entirely. Seven per cent. has been pledged by men and women who seek to help by giving. Everywhere there is growth in the life of the association; everywhere there is a pressing against the limits which have held us. To meet the regular demands and to respond to the new ones, it is the hope of those who deal with the finances that not only $35,000 may be raised, but $50,000, providing not for the debt alone but for advance in the work. It is the belief that this will be accomplished—$50,000, 4000 members. The average is a comparatively small amount.

Others who spoke were Mrs. D. K. Edwards, the president; Mrs. Z. D. Mathuss, who was the organization's first president; D. E. Luther, general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association; Miss Theresa Wilbur, executive secretary for the department of field work, and Rev. Hugh K. Walker, pastor of the Immanuel Presbyterian Church. There were several delightful musical selections on the programme.

Without Bond.

UNION-LABOR THUG HELD FOR MURDER INQUIRES IF HE'S TO BE THE "FALL GUY."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Maurice "Moss" Enright, professional union labor thug, charged with killing Vincent Altman and William "Dutchy" Gentleman, was today held without bail by Municipal Judge Stewart. The former bonds of $10,000 in the Altman case were set aside, after the court refused to hear evidence tending to show that Altman was killed by another person than Enright.

"I'll produce witnesses here within an hour who will tell the name of the man who shot Altman," said Charles E. Erbstein, who represented Enright.

WANTED NO TESTIMONY.

"This is not a preliminary hearing on the case," said the court, "and I will not hear any testimony. The prisoner is held without bail."

"We are ready to furnish bonds of $75,000 in addition to the $30,000 he is already under," pleaded Erbstein, but the court was firm.

A quarrel between Enright and his attorney occurred in the squad-room of the Police Station, while the prisoner was waiting for the necessary papers to commit him to jail. Enright swore roundly at Erbstein and wanted to know if he was being "double-crossed."

"Am I going to be made the 'fall guy' in this affair?" Enright demanded of his attorney. He was trembling from nervousness and his counsel attempted to quiet him.

Assistant State's Attorney Barrett said the State had three witnesses in the Altman case, one who saw Enright fire the shots, another who saw him flee up the stairs in the Briggs house and a third who saw him throw off his overcoat, which, later, was found by the police with a revolver in the pocket with two chambers empty.

"Erbstein says he can produce the witnesses who saw another man shoot Altman," said Inspector Hunt. "I haven't the least doubt he can produce twenty-five if he is given a little time, but it does not change the evidence we have."

The case of Pete Gentleman and Harry Higgins, union labor sluggers, on trial for attempting burglary, before Judge Honore, was given to a jury late in the afternoon.

Thomas J. Farrell, business agent of the Chauffeurs' Union who terribly beat William Small, a doorman at the Morrison Hotel for calling a non-union taxicab for a patron who demanded it, was taken into custody today on a warrant, charging him with assault with intent to kill.

ABOUT YOUR OWN FIRST NAME.

Its Origin and the Famous Folk Who Have Borne It.

ARCHIBALD

A Name Which is One of the National Names in Scotland.—Its Teutonic Origin, and its Use Among Old Scotch Families—The Douglases and Campbells Who Made the Name Famous—Archibald Bell the Cat, and How He Won His Surname—Arch, Court Jester of James I and Charles I—Sir Archibald Alison, Historian, and the Schedule by Which He Did His Work—His Popularity and Industry.

BY FRANCES MARSHALL.

At the present time Archibald Philip Primrose, fifth earl of Rosebery, one time premier of England in the reign of Queen Victoria, stands perhaps alone among men of world-wide fame named Archibald. But for centuries the name has been popular in England, and it has been so greatly used in Scotland that, with its diminutives Archie and Baldie, it is considered one of the national names of that country. It was found in the records of many an old Scotch and English family for generation after generation, and for this very reason, although the name is a little formal and high-sounding for the fashion of this day, it will probably live on.

The name is an old one, of Teutonic derivation. It means sacred prince. The first syllable comes from a word which gave erce, the word used in the Anglo-Saxon New Testament for an ark or ship, and which gave also erchan, an old German adjective meaning holy or genuine. The name in its first form was Erchanbald. The French made it Archambault and the Italians used Archibaldo. The English and Scotch changed the name to Archibald.

There were originally other names from the same source. Eorconwald, meaning holy power, was the name of a bishop of London in 678, who had much to do with the early ecclesiastical history of that town. At about the same time Erkenoald—who bore another form of the same name—was mayor of the palace in France. But although this, as well as other names from the same source, had a certain amount of early popularity, Archibald is the only one of them whose popularity continued after the early middle ages.

It is such families as the Douglases and Campbells who gave the name its tremendous popularity in Scotland. One of the most famous Archibalds of the latter family was Archibald Campbell, marquis of Argyll, who was born in 1598. When he was 16 he began his military service under his father. Even at that age he showed the decided traits which later characterized him. He had strong religious principles, and although he was personally a friend of King Charles I, he fought against the principles the king upheld.

Charles, in turn, was fond of Archibald Campbell, for in 1641 the King made him marquis of Argyll. Argyll tried for a long time to bring about some sort of understanding between the King's enemies and friends; but when he saw that that was impossible, he took up arms against the royalist forces, and in 1644 fought a successful battle against them.

When Cromwell gained power, however, Archibald refused to recognize him, and for some time held out against him. On the restoration of the monarchy under Charles II, Archibald, thinking that he would be received by the King, went to Whitehall. He was placed under arrest, however, charged with having submitted to the usurper—though in truth he had refused to submit—and he was tried and convicted and executed.

This sturdy old Scotchman, of course, had enemies. But even his enemies did not attack the dignity of his behavior and the courage of his bearing during his trial and at the time of his execution.

King Charles II, perhaps with the hope that he might repay the family for his harsh treatment of the old marquis, showered favors upon his son and namesake. But, like his father, the younger Archibald got into trouble with the King. He was once condemned to die because, when he took the oath framed by the Scotch Parliament, he added the reservation "so far as is consistent with the Protestant faith." Archibald's wife, however, saved him from death. For she went to Edinburgh castle, where he was confirmed, with the disguise of a page for him to put on, and in this disguise he escaped. For a time he hid near the castle, but later he escaped to Scotland.

Like his father, this Archibald was executed. When James II. came to the throne, Archibald landed in the north of Scotland, with an armed force, to take part in Monmouth's rebellion. He was taken prisoner, condemned and executed.

Among the Douglases fourteen Archibalds, at least, gained fame. One of these was Archibald Douglas the Grim, born about the year 1328. He was an active border chief of great ability, who served both the church and the State valiantly and who married his sons and his daughters with the royal family, and thereby served his own house.

At the battle of Poitiers Archibald the Grim, would have been taken prisoner had it not been for a friend, who convinced the French that Archibald was a servant, frightened and disguised in his master's armor, and was so able to ransom him for forty pounds.

Archibald the Grim was noted for his personal strength. It is said that he could easily wield a sword so long and so heavy that no other man could lift it.

Archibald the Grim's second son, Archibald, duke of Touraine, married Margaret, daughter of King Richard III., and succeeded to his father's great estates. This Archibald's grandson of the same name, was made Earl of Angus. He was born in 1443. He gained one of his surnames—he was called the "Great Earl" and Archibald Bell the Cat—in the following manner.

The English, under the Duke of Gloucester, besieged the Scotch King, James III., at Berwick castle. The Scotch nobles became angry with their King because of the ascendancy which Cochrane, Earl of Mar, had gained over him, and one of them told the fable of the mice who strung a bell around the neck of their enemy, the cat.

"Who will bell the cat?" said a nobleman.

"I will," answered Archibald, meaning that he was ready to lead the opposition to Mar.

So Archibald and the other nobles met in church and there waited for Mar, who finally came to capture them. When he entered the church Archibald went up to him and pulled a gold chain from his neck, exclaiming, "A tow would suit him better." Another noble seized Mar's hunting horn, tipped with gold and a beryl, saying: "He has been a hunter for mischief over long." And, headed by Angus, the nobles took the King's favorite and hung him on the bridge of Lander, as an example they said "to simple, mean people not to climb so high."

This Archibald, Earl of Angus, had a son, Archibald, who was lord high treasurer of Scotland and a grandson, Archibald, who married the Queen Dowager of England, Margaret Tudor.

One of the most interesting of the early Archibalds was Archibald Armstrong, jester at the court of James I., and Charles I. Archy Armstrong, as he was called, was born of Scottish parents. As a boy he gained a wide repute because of his cleverness as a sheep stealer. When he was still young he was attached to the court of King James VI. of Scotland, and when that monarch ascended the English throne as James I. Archy went with him. He used to take part each evening in the "fooleries" planned for the King's amusement by the master of revels, and soon came to be such a favorite with the king that he was made court jester.

FOR SALE—

I have one enormous lot bordering on the northern city limits, just 17 minutes from center of city on Glendale line. It is 95 feet front, 175 feet on one line, 195 feet on the other one, and runs to a rear width of 36 feet, or an area of 11,748 square feet; almost equal to two 50x150 ft. lots, for only $360.

AND it is on a paved street; has gas, electricity, telephone, pure mountain water, school (three minutes' walk) stores, churches, finest of car service, and last, but not least, is in the middle of the most beautiful country you ever saw. Free water piped to every foot of the land.

Go out and see this water and complete water system for yourself; then you will be convinced it is one of the best and most complete plants in the country.

Never before has there been, and probably never again will there be here, near Los Angeles, so good an opportunity for a safe and profitable investment, upon either a large or small scale, as is presented just now by the Lankershim land tract, in the famous San Fernando valley's richest, sunniest and most fertile land for chicken ranches, orchards and alfalfa.

Independence, happiness and moderate wealth will be given to the hundreds of farmers that will become owners and occupants of the little farms and gardens that range in size from 5 to 10 to 20 acres. Whether they have much or little money, there is not, and cannot be, any question about the fertility of this tract, nor the possibility of supplying water to make it supremely productive. There is not and cannot be any question about transportation, for here we have the new electric car line from Hollywood, also two lines on the Southern Pacific.

RAILWAY SPIKES.

Some of the roads have for some time been sending "missionaries" to the farmers. The custom has now spread to Maine. On June 15-18, the Bangor and Aroostook will run a special for professors from the University of Maine, who will deliver thirty-one lectures at different points. They will take with them a carload of animals to demonstrate some of the lectures.

The engineering officers of the several divisions of the Missouri Pacific will be placed under the authority of the division superintendents by order of the new president, Mr. Bush; thus inaugurating a change in the divisional organization.

Arrangements are being made for the liquidation of the Pacific Express Company. Wells, Fargo will take over the business on the Missouri Pacific; the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern; the Wabash; the St. Louis Southwestern, and the Texas & Pacific.

The Chilean government has granted concessions for the construction of 115 private railways, of which twenty-four have already been built, and several are now under construction. The concessions vary from five years to perpetuity.

The president of the Missouri Pacific said the other day that as soon as it is shown that the property warrants the road will have all the money it needs to rehabilitate it and put it in the front rank of western railways. He said he thought the feeling against big transportation systems is not so bitter as it was some years ago, because of the fairer treatment they give the people and the people give them.

In the British Parliament the Postmaster-General announced that the cable companies between England and America will reduce the rates on ordinary cable messages 50 per cent., provided they are written in plain language, and, provided, also, the sender takes the risk of delay not exceeding twenty-four hours. The Postmaster-General also stated that the use of wireless telegraphs was largely increasing. The British government owns many aerographic stations on the coasts of Great Britain.

The Black Diamond Express is an all-parlor-car-train put on the Lehigh Valley some little time ago as an experiment. It has proved a complete success.

The Delaware and Hudson and the Erie announce a new freight route from New York to Chicago. It is by steamboat north to Albany (142 miles); thence southeast by the Delaware, and Hudson to Binghampton (143 miles,) and by the Erie the rest of the 1195 miles, which is the distance from New York to Chicago over this route.

THE CHURCH IN A DEMOCRACY.

Striking Sermon by Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, Henry Ward Beecher's Successor in Plymouth Church, Brooklyn.

IN Plymouth Church the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, preached on "The Church in a Democracy." His text was from Ephesians iv. 13: "Until we all come in the unity of the faith." Dr. Hillis said:

"Our fathers came to this land for God and not gold, and for the enthronement of three words—righteousness, justice and love. Having cleared an opening in the forest, they built a meeting house, and on Sunday they studied righteousness that keeps men good friends with their God, and the moral universe in which they live; justice, that means obedience to the laws of the commonwealth, and secures national prosperity and peace; love, the love that is the fulfillment of all law, and manifests itself in philanthropy toward God's poor and weak. And having fed the springs of manhood on the soul's college day, during the rest of the week they emphasized five words that had to do with their life as citizens in the ideal commonwealth they proposed to found. Liberty—every man 21 years of age must be free to bring his intellect and judgment to bear upon all problems, social, financial, industrial and moral. Equality—the highways that lead to lands, office, education and honor, must be open to all young feet. Opportunity—the widow's son and the banker's son alike, must be free to climb just as high as his industry, ability and ambition would permit. Intelligence—knowledge must be diffused through the public schools, and the whole land sown with the good seed of universal truth and wisdom. Integrity—the Sunday must be kept free from the din and tumult of material toil, that boys may have a chance to brood and find themselves, and grasp the handle of their own being, and by patient drill master the great simplicities of right living, and so discover that obedience to the laws of God and nature is the sole secret of peace.

REFLEX INFLUENCE OF DEMOCRACY ON THE CHURCH.

"But once the founders and fathers had developed their democracy these free institutions began to react on the church, and the faith that had created them. Their theology was the first to feel the warming and mellowing influence of democracy. At the beginning, these Puritans, from William Brewster to Jonathan Edwards, were under the influence of an iron Calvinism that carried the sovereignty of God up well-nigh to fatalism. Man was impotency itself; God was the Supreme Ruler whose decree fixed every destiny. In the medieval times and under feudalism the Calvinistic faith is as natural as breathing. To the serf who cannot escape from his lord, to the monk who was inured to his cell, to the peasant who expects the baron's heel to rest upon his neck. But this new land was large, roomy and ample, holding all possible climates, ripening diverse fruits and grains, with abundance of free land and immeasurable opportunity. In the republic, one boy left the field and lifted himself to the level of statesman; another boy turned his back upon the forest and started for the Governor's mansion and the White House; within a few years penniless boys became millionaires, and poor men's sons made their names widely known as scholars and orators. Millions of foreigners also achieved place, land and honor. Democracy has no favorites. The angel that stood at the entrance of the schoolhouse and of the legislative hall whispered to each boy, 'Whosoever will, may come.' Little by little it was borne in upon the minds of the American millions that in the nature of things there must also be a republic of God. Plain people began to suspect that a theology that represents God as electing a handful to salvation, and passing others by to reprobation, was the translation into terms of theology of an autocratic government, where a despotic king elected some to the House of Lords, as his favorites, and passed by the plebeians and the peasants, for the praise and the glory of the king, who ignored them. If there were no favorites, no patrician elect in a democracy, why should there be favorites toward salvation? Little by little Calvinism dissolved like an iceberg, gnawed by the sun at the top, and consumed by the warm waters of democracy at the bottom. The poor boy that started from the corn field toward the Senate chamber in response to the overture, 'Whosoever will, may come to office and honor,' heard also the angel of God, standing at the gate of heaven, make a divine overture to the transgressor, 'Whosoever will, may come and enter in through the gates into the city of God.' And so democracy, in its reflex influence, destroyed all the fatalistic theologies and left man a citizen in the new spiritual republic of God.

HOW DEMOCRACY INFLUENCED CHURCH GOVERNMENT.

"Later, democracy in the republic began to react on men's theories of church government. The Pilgrim Fathers came to translate into terms of prose the dreams of Paul, that all men were free and equal, because they were the sons of God. Every man must give an account of himself for the deeds done in the body. The Puritans felt profoundly this awful responsibility. Since every man must give an account of himself, every citizen must be absolutely free, without a single hair's weight of influence exerted by king, pope or bishop. The greater the responsibility, the greater the necessity of freedom, untrammeled and absolute. The Pilgrim Fathers, therefore, in founding a political democracy, based upon liberty and equality, found the counterpart thereof in church government, and became Independents, or Congregationalists. Plymouth Church, for example, is a pure democracy. I am your pastor, but I am not lifted by so much as a hair's breadth above any member of this church. Your pastor is simply one member, chosen to speak on Sunday, while the rest of you during the week are chosen of God and clothed with equal authority to speak and work for man and God as lawyers, physicians, publicists, merchants and workers. Because we believe in democracy that is political we believe also in pure democracy, ecclesiastical.

"But in the republic there is a second group of men, who believe in representative government in matters of the church. Therefore, they elect representatives, or delegates, who have delegated power to act for the church. And this system is called Presbyterianism. Presbyterianism means that the church is not self-governing, but delegates that control to elders, whom they call 'ruling elders,' who decide what is best for the congregation. These ruling elders and the minister united in a county, make up a Presbytery, and the Presbytery, delegating its power to elected representatives, makes up the State Synod, and by the same method the General Assembly is constituted. This is the system of Calvin, of Scotland and Holland. It is called Presbyterian because it is a representative government, through elders, who rule over the congregation. Then comes the form of ecclesiastical government, represented by the Established Church of England. Episcopacy is the translation of a limited monarchy into terms of ecclesiastical government. For the King of England, you have the Archbishop of Canterbury. The House of Lords becomes the House of Bishops; the baronet or the esquire translated into terms of rector for the congregation. Plain citizens of England, who have no position, appear as church members in the pews. Now, there are many men who believe in democracy on the political side, but who, in another part of their intellect, believe in the limited monarchy in ecclesiastical government. Last of all, we come to a group of citizens who, holding to democracy during the week, on Sunday believe in absolute autocracy in ecclesiastical government. These men belong to the noble and historic Roman Catholic Church. Believing in political democracy, and educational democracy and industrial democracy, on the ecclesiastical side they believe in autocracy.

CARDINAL NEWMAN.

"Ask a man like Cardinal Newman what he thinks, and he will make answer immediately, 'I do not think—the Pope thinks for me.' This one infallible head of the church represents authority and unity, and it seems to its members the best possible form of ecclesiastical government. The saintly souls, heroes, that have been reared under this historic form of government, prove that there are millions of Christians who are helped by believing in political democracy, but in ecclesiastical autocracy. But little by little, democracy is influencing all of those forms of church government. Men cannot believe for six days of the week in educational democracy, that diffuses knowledge through the public schools for all the millions; in industrial democracy that diffuses property into all the millions, in political democracy that diffuses power into all the millions, without believing in ecclesiastical democracy, that enables each son and daughter of God to come directly into the Father's presence. Personally, I do not believe that it is possible, when a few centuries have passed, for men to remain believers in democracy for six days in the week and then on Sunday give up a little of their democracy to ruling elders, or much on Sunday to a limited monarchy, or on Sunday to enthrone an autocratic government. This republic is going to be democratic all the way through, or else a limited monarchy all the way through, or else an autocracy all the way through, or else a pure democracy all through the seven days of the week; then love will fulfil all the laws, every man will be his own king, his own teacher, because he is the son of God, the ruler over his own soul, in his own inalienable right. So comes the perfect manhood and the unity of the faith; first in the republic of man politically, and second, in the spiritual republic of God.

WHAT IS THE CHURCH IN THE DEMOCRACY?

"Sabbatier defined religion as the life of God in the soul of man. It follows that the Christian is one who has Christ's life, and wants to do Christ's work in Christ's way, under Christ's leadership, in company with Christ's disciples. The first church was constituted in an upper room and was composed of twelve men to whom Christ had communicated the life of God. This new redeemed society then started out to communicate God life to other men's souls, and the movement spread in concentric circles. Soon the life of God in man's soul began to express itself. The upper room grew into St. Sophia's Church in Constantinople, St. Peter's in Rome, Westminster Abbey in London, the Old South in Boston, Plymouth Church here in Brooklyn, and is expressing itself in many a new building rising in Asia and Africa. The disciples sang a hymn, and that hymn has developed into the litany and ten thousand new books of song. The life of God had to be described and explained, and we name the description a creed and a theology. This life of God in man's soul had to be controlled in its workings. Men elected officers, calling some elders, some priests, some bishops. This life of God, fed on Sunday, through prayer and song and worship, began to express itself in reforms, and it flowered and fruited in orphan asylums, homes for the blind and the aged. Schools and colleges were founded to explain the Christian themes. It destroyed gladiatorial games, the wrecker's right, feudalistic taxes, concubinage, slavery and ultimately it will slay the sweatshop, the squalid tenement, the jail, the saloon, the poorhouse. This inner life of God in man's soul will express itself in new ways, in new countries.

"A few days ago, a Japanese scholar and statesman was in Plymouth Church. He said to one of our lawyers, 'Oh, Japan will soon be Christian, but it will not be your Christianity, it will be Christianity improved.' By all means! The life of God in the soul of the Japanese ought to express itself through a Japanese temperament. The life of Christ in their soul ought to be expressed in Japanese hymns, in Japanese articles of faith, describing their own theological experience. No man expects a Japanese Romeo to sit down and read to his Juliet the love letters that John Calvin wrote to the widow he married. And the Japanese people ought not to describe their love to God and their spiritual experience by trying to play that they have had John Calvin's spiritual experience, or the Westminster fathers' spiritual life. If a man has had a long spiritual experience of God's life in his soul, he ought to have had a long creed, but a young disciple with a short experience of God's love in his soul, will probably have a short creed, and simple. The sun in the sky is one sun, but that sun grows Indian corn in Illinois, tea in China, indigo in India, date palms in Africa—the soul is one, the clouds one, the sun one, but the different countries produce different fruits and grains. We have one God, one Christ, one faith, one need, one immortal hope, but the races and temperaments are diverse, and, thank God! so are the hymns and the creeds, and the forms of government! Peeled of ecclesiastical vanity and conceit, I am as willing to pray for the Patriarch of the Greek Church and the Pope of Rome now, as I have been for years praying for the Archbishop of Canterbury, the bishops of the Episcopal Church, and the great Presbyterian churches and Baptist and Methodist and Universalist and Unitarian and all our brethren, who represent the unity of faith and have the life of God in their souls and are trying to do Christ's work in Christ's way.

DUTY OF SOME CHURCHES TO DIE.

"Now Christ ordained the church for the spreading of manhood. God gives forests, not furniture; ore, not engines; the air, not music; rock and star pages, not geology and astronomy; brain and nerve, and leads man to write his own psychology, develop his own church, his own litany, his own creed, his own government. But the time has come for Christian unity. Unless the churches come together, free institutions cannot survive. There are fifteen to twenty thousand little towns of two and three thousand people each in the republic, where are a half dozen little churches, breaking up a community that ought to be unified in the Christian work, and it becomes the scandal of the twentieth century. The characteristic building in our American towns of two thousand is the high school building that unifies the community. The correlative is a Christian church that unifies ecclesiastical democracy. In a town of two thousand people not more than one thousand can ever go to church at the same hour. Now, unite the musical talent of that town, and you will have a glorious music, Te Deums and hymns. Unite in one solid band all of the social reform men, and you could cleanse the ills of the town. Unite all the men of spiritual fervor, and you would have a great dynamic center that would pulsate life. In the physical body you can have only one intellectual center, the brain; only one circulatory center, the heart; and in a town you have educational unity, the high school; political unity on the day of election, and you should have spiritual unity. The union church can baptize by immersion or sprinkling, as we do in Plymouth.

"We have Roman Catholics who are members of Plymouth, and Baptists, and Methodists, and Episcopalians, and Presbyterians, and Quakers, and Universalists, and Dutch Reformed, and United Presbyterians, and a Greek, and the Armenian, but as disciples, we stood up and proclaimed we believed we had Christ's life in the soul and we wanted to do Christ's work in Christ's way, in company with Christ's disciples. In the ordinary town of two thousand people there are eight preachers, Protestant and Catholic. Now, the ten Commandments are not denominational, they are universal. The Sermon on the Mount and the Golden Rule are not denominational, they are universal. The sense of sin and its forgiveness are not denominational, they are universal; the Cross, the death, the resurrection, they are not denominational, but universal. Think of it! Eight preachers and priests dividing a town of two thousand people, that ought to be united, into eight warring and belligerent bands! Before God I believe it to be the first duty of six out of the eight preachers and priests to resign, to go into education, or business, or agriculture. If an apostle was willing to be burned at the stake for Christ, surely these men ought to be willing to resign, and force these churches to unite in one splendid building, with unified music, a unified Bible school and a unified family church.

"Look even at the condition of these churches on the Heights—twenty years ago the center for thousands of families; and now two-thirds of these families have gone to the suburbs or the country. Rich in their traditions, the handful that is left are proud of the noble past and do not see their way clear to remove. But when a church's work is done it is just as glorious for it to die and go out of existence as it was in the beginning for it to come into existence. For scores of years a church may live for God, and then God may come to it and ask it to die for Him, but its officers make the great refusal. In astronomy you can have only one central sun, unifying the planets. In physiology, only one central circulatory system. In psychology, unity of the intellect. In politics, unity through the Constitution. In a democracy, while men are free to choose their own hymns, write their own creeds, develop their own form of government, Hebrews, Roman Catholics and Protestants can no longer be faithful to the institutions of the republic unless they can come together and agree on the fundamental simplicities, and the basis of the family life and the basic virtues in business life and in political life, until all the citizens being scholars toward the intellect through educational democracy, patriots toward their country through political democracy, self-sufficing men toward factory and field through industrial democracy, are primarily obedient to the laws of nature and God, through the teachings of the Sabbath, the church and ecclesiastical democracy. So comes the Republic of God."

A BABY IN BATTLE.

Incident of the Civil War When a Mississippi Soldier Rescued a 3-Year-Old Girl.

[Louisville Courier-Journal:] It will be remembered that at the battle of Fredericksburg, December 13, 1862, the Confederates were driven out of the city on the 12th, and did not recapture the town and enter it again till the 16th. On the 12th the last regiment to leave the place was the Twenty-first Mississippi, and the last man who brought up the rear, being closely pressed by the invading troops, was Buck Denman. He was a Mississippi bear hunter, a superb specimen of manhood, tall and straight, broad-shouldered and deep-chested. With the eye of an eagle and a voice like a bull of Bashan, he was rough in manner as a bear and tender in heart as a woman.

When the invaders were charging up the principal street, and shells from the siege guns across the river were bursting over the housetops, Buck Denman was kneeling beside a house corner to take a last shot. Just as his finger trembled on the trigger a little baby girl, 3 years old, toddled out of an alley, and with a Newfoundland dog ran after a big shell that had spent its force, and was rolling along the pavement—the dog snarling at it, and the little girl clapping her hands in glee.

To rescue the child from such deadly peril was Bucks only thought. Without pausing to consider he rushed to her and gathered her to his bosom. Next there was nothing to do but run, which he speedily did, pursued by shot and shell, holding the baby with one arm and trailing his gun with the other, as he sped up Marye's Heights to join his retreating comrades. And there behind that historic stone wall and on the 16th of the cold December month—while the shells were shrieking and the storm of battle raged—Buck fought Burnside and nursed the baby girl by turns.

Never was child so cared for. There were other nurses as fierce and bear-like as he who took turns petting and soothing her and engaged in sharp rivalry for her quaint slumber under their soldier blankets. Couriers were sent far and near to procure milk, and the camp ransacked for a dainty morsel of food. And so the days and nights wore on.

When the Confederates reoccupied the city, on the 16th, the Twenty-first Mississippi was the first to enter, and what happened as they passed with yells and shouting through the streets may be best told by Buck himself, as reported by Adjutant Stiles, who publishes the story: "I was holding the baby high, Adjutant, with both arms, when above all the racket I heard a woman's scream. The next thing I knew I was covered with calico, and she fainted on my breast. I caught her before she fell, and laying her down gently, put the baby on her bosom. She was the most prettiest thing I ever looked at, and her eyes were shut, and—and—I hope God'll forgive me, but I kissed her just once."

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

Pasadena.

NEW CIVIC BODY SAFELY LAUNCHED.

To Promote Interests of the Crown City.

Men of Wealth and Stability Behind Movement.

New Pastor is Given a Cordial Welcome.

(Office of The Times, 36 S. Raymond avenue.)

PASADENA, June 9.—For the purpose of developing civic pride in Pasadena's growing business district a new association has been born. This function was performed yesterday afternoon, in the Board of Trade rooms when the Central Improvement Association came into existence. C. D. Daggett was elected president, D. W. Herlihy and H. C. Hotaling vice-presidents and E. C. Ballingham, secretary and treasurer.

Those present at the initial meeting were: W. K. Fogg, E. H. May, Freeman Ford, C. D. Daggett, E. C. Ballingham, D. W. Herlihy, C. J. Hall, J. Herbert Hall, J. O. McCament, W. M. Eason, M. H. Pierce. The object of the organization as expressed in a resolution unanimously adopted is to promote interest in the welfare of the central section of the city. A number of committees were appointed to gather data regarding matters of supreme interest to that section of the city.

Notice was given yesterday morning of the meeting, but many of those receiving notice understood that the meeting was called to protest to the Pacific Electric Company for moving their ticket office from Fair Oaks avenue and Colorado street to the Southern Pacific depot. As a matter of fact this matter did receive much attention and protests were spoken of, but nothing was done.

It was stated that much of the association's time and attention will be devoted to promoting the west side or that district west of Raymond avenue and to make it so attractive that there will be no inclination to extend the business district East of Marengo avenue, its present terminus.

NEW PASTOR WELCOMED.

Pastors of the city met, last night, at the First Universalist Church and extended to the Rev. A. R. Tillinghast, recently appointed minister of that church, a right royal welcome. It was a happy event and enjoyed by a large number of members of the church and others. Dr. E. L. Conger presided. H. L. Canfield, associate pastor, officiated at the installation. Addresses were made by the Rev. Leslie E. Learned, rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church; the Rev. Dr. C. Ellwood Nash, State superintendent, Los Angeles; the Rev. W. C. Hull, pastor of the First Christian Church; the Rev. E. Stanton Carrier, of Riverside; the Rev. Robert Freeman, pastor of the Pasadena Presbyterian Church.

NEWS NOTES.

Clouds have gathered on the horizon of the Y.M.C.A. Yesterday five members of the Woman's Auxiliary of that organization resigned, giving as a reason the recently enforced resignation of Secretary E. T. Sams. The directors of the association have expressed their regrets by saying that Secretary Sams was not the right man for the place and for the good of the organization they were forced to seek a new secretary. The action of the women, yesterday, is said to have caused a world of gossip in Y.M.C.A. circles.

The annual exhibition of the various grammar schools is now being held, each school giving its exhibit in its own school.

The ashes of Arch Hoxey, the daring aviator, who was killed on the Domingues aviation field last winter, were taken to Atkinson, Neb., yesterday by the mother, Mrs. Minnie C. Hoxey, where they will be buried alongside the grave of the father.

SITE FOR THE BUILDING.

South Pasadena Y.M.C.A. Workers Are Getting Ready to Build a New Structure.

SOUTH PASADENA, June 8.—An option has been taken on a fine lot on the southeast corner of El Centro and Fairview avenue for the proposed new Y.M.C.A. building. The lot has a frontage of 81 feet on El Centro street, and the purchase price is $50 a front foot, or $4050. The site is a fine one for the building, as it is across the street from Central Park, and in a central location. An active campaign is to be carried on until subscriptions are secured for the necessary amount to complete the payment on the lot and erect a suitable building. An enlarged committee has been formed composed of the following: Norman F. Marsh, John H. Jacobs, George W. Wilson, Z. L. Parmelee, D. S. Gates, H. E. Thomas, R. G. Johns, William Hazlett, John G. Hamm, W. A. Gillette, Charles B. Ingram, R. D. List, W. L. Cox and G. W. Lawyer.

About four years ago there was organized a Y.M.C.A. Provisional Committee, and a fund of some $700 cash and five shares of Cawston Ostrich Farm stock subscribed. A part of the funds raised was invested as an initial payment on a lot, which was sold at a profit, and an option taken on this lot, with a more favorable location. sets of the committee are as follows: Fifteen shares of Cawston Ostrich Farm stock, par value $1500, subscription toward purchase of ground, $2000; cash in bank, over $2000. The time is now believed auspicious for furthering the movement.

OLD GASSER GETS A GOING.

Sawtelle Well Along Abandoned Begins to Blow Out Rocks With Awful Roar.

[Associated Press, Night Report.]

SAWTELLE, June 8.—An old gas well, which long ago ceased to give out enough gas to perfume the air, has again started with powerful pressure and is hurling rocks and gravel 200 feet in the air. Its roar can be heard for miles. Trolley cars pass within a few feet of the shaft, and trolleys are pulled away from the wire while passing to prevent the great volume of gas from igniting.

Three years ago this well was sunk in a search for oil, and was abandoned when the gas was tapped. A pipe was attached and the gas set on fire at the time in the hope of reclaiming the well, but it burned with fury for months before the supply was exhausted. The pressure at present is apparently stronger than it ever was before.

Avalon.

DISAPPEARS AND LEAVES NO TRACE.

AVALON CITIZEN IS BEING SOUGHT BY WIFE.

Sunday He Addressed a Brief Note to His Spouse and Since Then No Word Has Been Received—Catalina Business Man to Best Business Regulation.

AVALON, June 8.—Anxiety is felt here about the strange disappearance of J. Williams of this place, who left Sunday, June 4, and has not since been heard from. "Am going fishing, will be back soon, Jim"; was the note he left his wife. Today Mrs. Williams returned from a visit to the mainland, where she has spent forty-eight hours in searching for her missing husband.

Since Sunday night every launch party leaving Avalon has been requested to keep a lookout for the missing man. No trace or clue has been picked up to denote his whereabouts. No boats are missing. A boat owned by Williams is still anchored at its own mooring. For the past few weeks Williams has spent long hours on the water fishing for white sea bass. Usually he was accompanied by his wife.

A report was circulated Monday that he had been seen going aboard the steamer Hermosa, Sunday afternoon, as the vessel was leaving for the mainland, but none of the officers or crew can throw any light upon the mystery. Williams was known personally to several officers who state that they would have immediately recognized him had he gone aboard the Hermosa.

Two years ago Mr. and Mrs. Williams came to the island from Denver and have since remained here, making periodical visits to their friends on the mainland. They have no children. Always were they to be seen together upon the streets. Today the wife said:

"I am almost distracted about this unaccountable absence of my husband. I have sent wireless messages, letters and personal messages to our many friends in Denver and Los Angeles, but cannot get any trace of him. The local police have also tried to locate him but have failed. We have been married nine years and this is the first time he has ever been absent for more than one day."

Williams is 35 years of age and was wearing a dark serge suit and brown tan shoes. He is 5 feet six inches in height and is a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

WILL FIGHT CASE.

Notice to appear in Department One of the Superior Court on Monday, June 12, and show why they should violate the laws of the Freeholders Improvement Association of Avalon, was served upon Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gill of this place today. Several days ago Gill announced his intention to solicit patronage on the streets from guests arriving on the Wilmington Transportation Company's steamers for his rooming-house and tents and cottages. Yesterday an injunction was asked for to prevent Mr. and Mrs. Gill from soliciting.

"I am a property owner, a member of the Freeholders' Improvement Association and I contend that I have certain rights to solicit patrons on the streets of Avalon, if I do so in a gentlemanly manner," said Gill today. "We shall fight this ruling to a finish."

Two months ago the Board of Freeholders who represent the Property Owners' Association of this place began to enforce a law passed by the board that there should be no soliciting by rooming-house owners or restaurant proprietors on Crescent avenue. For two months all business men have observed the ruling. To preserve peace and harmony the Freeholders' Association, at a cost of $1500, built an information bureau near the center of the street, which they have maintained at their own expense.

LANDS A RECORD BLACK SEA BASS.

AVALON, June 8.—A record black sea bass was brought to gaff by W. E. Hamlin of Pasadena, here today, weighing 402 pounds. The battle lasted almost two hours. The monster put up a terrific fight and nearly wore its captor out before it succumbed. Hamlin was not prepared for the big fish.

Long Beach.

CATHOLIC PRIEST MAKES A PROTEST.

Wants School Meeting Held In Public Building.

Board of Education Makes the Required Change.

Work is Started on Big Cement Walk.

LONG BEACH, June 8.—Members of the School Board were treated to a disagreeable surprise this morning by the receipt of a letter from Rev. James Reardon, pastor of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, containing a bitter protest against the plans for the baccalaureate sermon of the senior class June 18, and demanding that the plans be changed and the address delivered by a layman and in a public building.

As had been outlined the bacclaureate sermon was to have been delivered on Sunday, June 18, at the First Methodist Church by the pastor, Rev. H. I. Rasmus, and as this is the first time in the history of the Long Beach schools that such an incident has arisen it took the board unawares.

After discussion the board decided to concede a change of place and instructed Principal Burcham to secure the Auditorium for the exercises if possible. The members of the senior class having themselves selected Rev. Rasmus as their speaker the board declined to take any action toward a change. Rev. Reardons's letter follows:

To the Honorable Board of Education:

Gentlemen: As an American citizen, as a citizen and taxpayer of this municipality, and as a Catholic priest, in my own name and in the name of the Catholics here residing I wish to enter my most solemn protest against the so-called baccalaureate sermon to be preached by a sectarian minister and in a sectarian church in connection with the graduating exercises of the Long Beach High School. This lamentable and grossly unconstitutional proceeding has been in vogue altogether too long in this fair State of California and it is high time that the attention of all right-minded Americans should be called to this unfair treatment of others of their citizens. We should have some voice in the regulation of these matters since it is our money, as well as that of non-catholic citizens, which goes to the support of the public school system. If the exercise must be held, in all justice it should be divested of every shade of religious coloring, for one church or sect cannot be favored without outraging the religious sense of all the others, who have an equal right to have their opinions regarded. Let the graduates and pupils and their relatives and friends assemble in the school hall or in the municipally-owned auditorium, there to be addressed by some recognized educator who has not, or at least, will not express any religious bias. Such a condition of affairs could give offense to none and would be doing full justice to all concerned.

I shall take occasion to forbid the children and people of my congregation from attending the exercises if they are marred by having anything like a religious tenor. Trusting your honorable body will give this protest your immediate and serious attention, I am yours in justice to all and favor to none, JAMES B. REARDON,

Rector of St. Anthony's Church.

When seen this afternoon and told of the action of the board, Father Reardon expressed himself as pleased, and said his principal object was to bring the matter into publicity and the removal from church influences satisfied him, even though Rev. Rasmus would deliver the sermon.

Dr. Rasmus had nothing to say regarding the matter except that he had been invited to deliver the baccalaurcate sermon and would do so.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Property owners on the beach between the Virginia Hotel and the San Gabriel jetties were elated today when two gangs of men under Contractor Young began preliminary work for the $100,000 cement walk and parapet along the front. Five gangs of men will be employed in the work. One will make the concrete pilings, another will set them after they cure, a third force will build the parapet, a fourth will fill in and the fifth will lay the walk proper. Seven months time is given to complete the walk which is one and one-fifth miles long.

J. P. Smith of this city was arrested in Los Angeles yesterday on a bogus check charge, and lawyers today are puzzled as to how to untangle the net into which Smith unconsciously blundered. He had an account in the Exchange National Bank and drew checks against it for Los Angeles creditors, but the check was returned "account tied up." Investigation shows that S. W. and Georgia Mullen have sued Smith for money loaned him, and have taken an attachment against his bank account. Until this suit is settled the last check cannot be honored and Smith is technically guilty of uttering a worthless check, although really he has funds to meet it.

Charles F. Ryan, the retired Pinkerton detective, who two weeks ago received two checks aggregating $1750, from an Arizona man, which he was satisfied did not belong to him, has located the real owner, a mining man in San Francisco and this morning received a letter of thanks for his trouble in the matter and also a letter from C. F. Lindsay of Kingman, Ariz., who sent the checks and misdirected them.

Hundreds of friends today attended the funeral services of the late Charles Baettge, and a large number of floral pieces were sent as last tender tributes. The pallbearers were members of the city government, Mayor Windham, Police Judge Hart, F. S. Craig, Chief of Police Moyer, Building Inspector Twombley, and Tax Collector Pillsbury. The services were in charge of the Christian Science Church.

Mrs. Nellie Burton Foreman died suddenly this morning at the home of her mother on East First street of cerebral hemorrhage. She was 28 years of age and leaves a son 9 years old.

John T. Polkinghorn, 78 years of age, died last night at his home on East Seventh street. He was a native of England and had lived here for five years. He leaves a widow and one son.

EAGLE ROCK IS REJOICING.

Highway Commission's Decision Gives Pleasure to Residents—Hot Election Over Trustees Tomorrow.

EAGLE ROCK, June 8.—There is much rejoicing in Eagle Rock this week over the announcement that the Los Angeles highway commission has announced its intention to proceed at once with the work of putting in the macadam road on Colorado street which is one of the connecting links in the great foothill boulevard from San Bernardino to the ocean. The strip in this city will be about two miles long and will be made to connect up with Pasadena as soon as the great bridge is built over the Arroyo Seco. Just as soon as this work is started Colorado street, which is 120 feet wide extending east and west through the entire city, will be taken into the city. It now belongs to the county of Los Angeles.

ELECTION HEAT.

There promises to be a very exciting contest on Saturday when a special election is to be held to elect a city trustee to take the place of H. C. Galloupe, who was appointed to fill a vacancy caused by a failure to elect a fifth trustee at the late city election. Dr. George E. Cox is the only candidate whose name will appear on the ballot, but while Mr. Galloupe declined to be a candidate his friends are going to try and elect him next Saturday and a warm fight is expected. Joseph W. Walker, who recently announced himself as a candidate, has withdrawn from the race in favor of Dr. Cox.

A unique, originl and entertaining programme was that given Tuesday afternoon at the Eagle Rock School building by the Parent-Teachers Association. The programme was arranged by Mrs. Bessie Thew Miller. Mrs. Caro Senour, the children's song poet, of Hollywood gave four of her own child poems in costume. Mrs. Myers gave a talk on birds. These three ladies are members of the Woman's Press Club of Los Angeles. Original songs were presented by Mrs. Harrison of Eagle Rock. Miss Frances Miller played the accompaniment and rendered a fine piano solo. There was a large audience present.

LIBRARY MUST EXPAND.

Redondo Beach Institution is Not Keeping Pace With the Demands Made On It.

REDONDO BEACH, June 8.—The report of Miss Mary McKinley, librarian of the city library, submitted to the Library Board last evening, pointed out the necessity for increased room in the near future. The shelf room allowed for the year's growth is now taken up and provision for extra shelf room will be necessary soon. Additional stacks of shelves will demand additional room, as at present the room is crowded during the busy hours. The report also showed a large increase in circulation over last year. For the past month the circulation was 1426 with 897 active card holders as against that of last May, showing a circulation of 972 and 574 card holders.

Neptune Lodge, Knights of Pythias, will hold the annual memorial service for the dead members, Monday evening in Whichelo Hall. Rev. Dr. A. C. Welch will make the memorial address and music will be rendered by a choir composed of Mrs. A. Montgomery, Mrs. F. E. Thompson, Misses Hazel and Ethel Steel, Prof. C. E. Andrews and M. Foster.

NEWS BRIEFS.

A Membership Committee was appointed to receive names of members. The committee is Mrs. C. T. Gulliver, Ernest Heath and A. L. Walton. A meeting will be held Tuesday evening to form plans for the work of the club.

The young girls of Christ Episcopal church met this afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. S. Metzger, on Catalina avenue, and organized a Junior Guild to be known as St. Claire's Guild.

WOMAN'S CLUB PLANS BIG EVENT

Sierre Madre Organization Will Give a Dance to Mark the Season's Close—Officials Caught.

SIERRE MADRE, June 8.—The Woman's Club will close the season of delightful entertainments by a final dance on Saturday evening, June 10. Great preparations have been made to hold one of the largest dances of the season in the clubhouse auditorium. An orchestra from Los Angeles has been engaged. The committee having charge of the arrangements consist of Mmes. M. D. Welcher, E. W. Camp and M. Goodfellow, who are being ably assisted by Messrs. M. D. Welcher and Claude Davis. All are well-known members of the dancing set and have been unusually successful in previous events of a like nature.

From the number of new structures that are being erected and the sale of realty reported, this town is forging ahead of all previous records. Among some of the buildings now in the course of erection are those of C. F. Ballou, $3500 residence in the Park Manor tract; Charles Perry, $4000 to $4500 house on Algeria street; Dr. H. F. Lake, $3500 residence on Grand View; A. S. Mead, $2000 cottage on Central avenue in Bridle tract; Mrs. John Roth, $2000 cottage on Central avenue and Lima street; and H. E. C. Webb, $3000 residence near Baldwin avenue. Plans for many other cottages and bungalows are being prepared, and many prospective investors in homes are seeking desirable sites.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Through the efforts of Capt. J. S. Osgood the school children are to be entertained by an address, June 15, on "The American Flag," to be given by Miss Frances Richardson, who recently delivered this lecture before the Woman's Club. Capt. Osgood is one of the best known citizens of this region and has always been at the head of all movements relating to American independence and American citizenship. He is a veteran of the Civil War and has selected what is known as Bunker Hill day for this occasion.

It appears that Walter Dunn, City Attorney of Monrovia, was one of the interesting speeders caught in the dragnet of Sunday, also it is reported that Monrovia's City Engineer was another. Several who were caught intend to contest the matter, claiming the City Marshal had no authority to hold court on the curbstone and exact bail or fines from them, thus denying them their Constitutional rights to be haled before a judicial body as is the custom. A general mixup appears to have prevailed in the procedure, although its effect has been extremely beneficial in subduing speed maniacs.

SANTA MONICA.

SANTA MONICA, June 8.—The First National Bank has purchased for a stated consideration of $300 per front foot the lot on the northeast corner of Marine street and Trolleyway. Here a two-story brick block is to be erected at once and will be occupied by the bank, which is to increase its capital stock to either $75,000 or $100,000.

ENGLISH PREACHERS COMING TO AMERICA.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

LONDON, May 20.—In the early autumn two of England's most remarkable preachers—Father Bernard Vaughan and R. J. Campbell—will visit America.

Father Vaughan is one of the most distinguished Jesuit preachers, and a great favorite of the Pope's. He has gained his chief fame in England by his vigorous attacks on London's "smart set" from the pulpit of his fashionable church in Farm street. He has consistently preached against bridge, pet dogs, betting, frivolity and generally all the fashionable vices of the rich. King Edward listened to him on several occasions and on most Sundays he preaches to a galaxy of London's society leaders. But this is by no means the limit of his activites. When he can get away he goes down into one of the worst of London's slums where he carries on a most successful mission and when in the slums he lives just as the slum dwellers do. He occupies a little room in an ordinary tenement and prepares his own simple meals. When he holds open air missions he goes right in the worst quarters and fetches out the people by ringing a bell as he goes along. All the children know him and love him around Commercial road—the district where he works—and quite a crowd of youngsters follow him clamoring for his blessings.

One of his latest exploits was to play the part of dock laborer in dialogue written by himself, supposed to be between a priest and his parishioner. The parishioner is supposed to be one of the "bottom dogs" and speaks in the Cockney dialect. During the conversation the priest brings home the moral and gets the man to promise to attend mass. Incidentally Father Vaughan is able to give his hearer his views upon social reform and to discuss the problems of slum life. The whole play was given in so novel and interesting a manner that many who would not stay out a more conventional address listened to this dialogue to the end and profited thereby.

Father Vaughan combines all the fervor of a medieval evangelist with all the wit and brightness of the most polished twentieth century man of the world. As yet he has made no definite plans for his visit to America.

"All I know," he said, "is that I've promised to go to a lot of places to preach and I know I shall have to go to many more than I've promised to up till now."

Speaking of his fiery oratory the Pope once said to Mr. Campbell and sent to him

San Bernardino.

DETHRONES KIND OF MAN.

Loses Reason in Accident.

To Speed Mania Recover.

Funds Are Di- ed Up.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] F. S. (Doc) McCall, while driving his motorcycle at terrific rate of speed through J. Dale Gentry, a pedestrian, was removed to the hospital this morning in an unconscious condition, his mind having become deranged from the strain following the accident. He had been arrested by Deputy Sheriff on a felony warrant, charging worthless check to the amount of $100. A physician's medical examination of McCall, locked up in the county jail, attracted notice, and was quickly concluded that he was insane. This diagnosis was correct. Before he could be taken to the hospital he had become maniacal, threatening violence to himself, and at intervals his cries for help appeals to be saved from imaginary dangers developed from the fact that he was confined to his room in the jail. But Dr. R. G. Owen, who examined him, does not now consider him as extremely serious, and it will be some time before he will be able to leave his room. It is probable that he will be under an insanity complaint, and will be detained at the county hospital pending observation. Should the condition not show improvement he will be examined before the insanity commission, with the idea of being committed to the State hospital.

The case against McCall will be dismissed after the accident. O. Gentry, father of Dale Gentry, who was killed in the accident with McCall, has demanded that McCall be prosecuted to the full extent of the law, and the county would necessarily have to defend the result of the accident. McCall issued a check and handed it to Gentry, the latter found that there was no money on deposit in the bank on which the check was drawn. The felony charge will be dismissed, owing to the defendant's apparent mental condition.

TO VISIT WHITTIER.

The City Trustees decided at the regular session to pay a visit some dark night to Whittier, the purpose being to inspect the new tungsten street lights installed there. If found satisfactory, the Trustees will arrange with the Southern California Edison Company to place this type of lamp in the business district. Better lighting will be found also in the residence section. The Trustees confirmed the selection of Dr. Gobar as City Health Officer, and resolutions of respect ordered drawn in memory of Dr. Clayton Rich.

INCREASED TRAFFIC.

Statistics obtained at the Santa Fe office here show a heavy increase in traffic, both passenger and freight, to and from Fullerton. The receipts for May, 1911, were $24,825 greater than for May, 1910, the total for this May being $84,825. The increase for the past twelve months has been steady and unprecedented for this point. Over 250 passengers change trains at this station every day during the busier seasons of spring and fall travel. Thirty trains a day is now the total number passing through this junction.

VEHICLES COLLIDE.

An automobile driven by a party from Hington collided with a peddler's wagon on North Spadra street near the depot, smashing the wagon and injuring the peddler. The machine careened against an iron hitching post and was damaged.

PROSPECTOR ON HIS LAST QUEST.

BODY FOUND WITHIN SIX MILES OF CAMP.

Discovered Claim Thirty-two Years Ago and, Returned to Locate it Only to Meet Death From Thirst in the Bleak Mountains—He Traveled Two Hundred Miles.

IMPERIAL, June 8.—The emaciated body of William Burgess, the prospector, who was lost on the Carrizo Mountains, since May 22, was found early Tuesday morning by his partner, Thomas Stratton and Bob McKane, a cattleman.

Sunday, May 21, Burgess, who was 65 years and Stratton, a middle aged man, arrived at Carrizo Creek, from Yuma, on a prospecting trip.

During the year of 1879 Burgess, while surveying in the Carrizo Mountains, discovered this mining property and decided then to return some time and locate on the property. The years went by before Burgess found the day when he could return and locate his discovery, as other business interests prevented. Taking his friend Stratton, a successful mining man, with him, he revisited the Carrizo Mountains and early Monday morning, May 22, started from the camp they had established, endeavoring to locate the findings of 1879. Burgess took a canteen of water containing one-half gallon, and started in an opposite direction to that taken by Stratton. Upon Stratton returning to camp, he thought nothing of the non-appearance of Burgess, until late at night, thinking Burgess might have walked farther than heanticipated, but when morning came and Burgess was still absent, then Stratton became alarmed and started out in quest of his partner. Meeting other prospectors, Stratton told of his fears relative to the non-arrival in camp of Burgess, and they assisted Stratton in the search. Word was brought into Imperial, Brawley and El Centro relating that Burgess was lost in the Carrizo Mountains and searching parties were organized in each of the valley cities, who started out to look for the missing man. J. W. Poor and party of Imperial were gone eight days looking for him, and only returned when they had been taken to the place, on the bleak mountain side, to where poor Burgess's body lay, by Stratton and McKane.

The body was found within six miles of the camp established by these prospectors. Fred Fuller left in his machine, accompanied by Dr. F. W. Peterson, the Coroner; C. A. Shaffer, the undertaker and Stratton, Burgess's partner, taking with them a casket.

After the inquest the body of this old prospector will be laid away, with simple funeral rites on the lonely mountain side.

The searching party relate that in trailing Burgess, they were guided by the peculiar shoes the prospector wore and that he traveled over 200 miles in his lonely wanderings over the mountains. The members of the searching party returned to Imperial foot sore and weary.

COLTON NOTES.

COLTON, June 8.—Cofoner Fuller held an inquest this morning over William B. Wampler, who was killed yesterday. On the Coroner's jury were Frank Allinger, C. M. Greisinger, T. S. Ackins, T. Holiday, John Wilds, Anthony Hert. The verdict was "accidental death by fractured skull, caused by a runaway team." The funeral services will be held from Jewell Memorial Methodist Church at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The Fraternal Brotherhood has elected officers for the ensuing year: J. D. Rutherford, president; I. M. Knopsnyder, vice-president; Mrs. Perry Rains, secretary; Mrs. Mabel Shehorn, treasurer; Ed. Erichson, master-at-arms; Miss Mae Bailiff, mistress-at-arms.

OCEANSIDE.

OCEANSIDE, June 8.—S. R. Dunn, superintendent, states that the results thus far of the experimental planting of sugar beets on the San Margarita ranch are encouraging. He estimates the crop, at the end of nine weeks from the date of planting, at ten tons to the acre, and the beets yet have about three months in which to mature. He expects that the yield will be about fifteen tons to the acre, which are estimated to bring $90 per acre, gross. If the experiment should prove a success, it is expected that enough acreage will be planted to insure the erection of a sugar factory.

BIG CONVENTION WELL UNDER WAY.

Christian Endeavor Workers Have Big Programme.

Oakland and Fresno Both Want Next Meeting.

Five Sessions Held in as Many Churches.

SANTA ANA, June 8.—The California State Christian Endeavor Union, which is holding its twenty-fourth annual convention in this city, is going to take every possible step to have its delegation to the International C. E. Convention to be held at Atlantic City from July 6 to 12, pledged to use every effort to get the International Convention for 1913 for Los Angeles. The leaders are urging everyone who can to make arrangements to attend the Atlantic City convention, and if California can possibly get the big gathering for Los Angeles it will be done.

The fight for the 1912 convention goes merrily on. With the arrival today of W. N. Jenkins of Oakland ginger was put into the campaign for Oakland, but Fresno's delegation is confident that Fresno is to be named. Today President J. P. Welles named the Place Committee, which is a kind of court of last resort in regard to the location of the next convention. On that committee are F. D. R. Moate, Sierra Madre; Clara Hazsier, Los Angeles; E. D. Hayes, Watsonville; Herbert Rankin, Santa Ana; Guernsey Brown, Santa Barbara; J. W. Stein, Sacramento; Mary Hale, Martinez.

About 300 Orange county Endeavorers have registered at headquarters, while over 900 have registered from points outside the county. Tomorrow's registration will be swelled by fifty delegates from Pasadena.

Tomorrow afternoon has been set apart for recreation. All those who have been Christian Endeavorers for ten years or more are to be taken by automobiles to the County Park, Other delegates are to go to Huntington Beach. At the County Park the feature will be an impromptu baseball game between teams, dubbed on the programme as follows: "Webfooters, captained by 'Silver-lated' Jenkins, chairman of the Oakland 1912 Committee, against the Raisin Growers, captained by 'Not a Seed' Williamott, chairman of the Fresno 1912 Committee."

The morning was devoted to conferences at five of the Santa Ana churches. At these meetings the experienced leaders gathered about them the delegates less experienced and discussed methods of carying on the endeavor work.

At 11 o'clock a general meeting was held at the First Presbyterian Church, where the delegates listened to addresses by Miss Nelson L. Scribner, State superintendent of the work among sailors. She outlined the efforts of the C. E. to make life easier for the sailors, and told of the widespread work that has been done to aid the spiritual safety of apprentices and junior officers. Attending the service in uniform were: H. O. Emmons, chief yeoman of the U.S.S. West Virginia; Carl H. White, yeoman, U.S.S. South Dakota; J. H. Walker, U.S.S. California, and W. W. Cole, U.S.S. Maryland.

Dr. E. S. Chapman, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, declared in his address that the people of California under the new local-option law have an opportunity to free themselves of saloons.

"God is leading you young people," he said. "The saloon men would annihilate you if they could."

J. P. Wells of Los Angeles, president of the State union, stated today that with the enthusiasm and tendency toward spiritual uplift and admirable arrangements for carrying out the five-day programme, the convention is bound to be the best in the history of the California Christian Endeavor.

The spirit of enthusiasm and devotion that has marked every conference and meeting of the convention was especially noticeable at tonight's meeting, which was held in the big tent, erected for the convention. The singing was particularly sympathetic and appealing. The chorus work was under the leadership of D. W. Weist, secretary of the Stanford University Y.M.C.A. The special numbers were the offertory, "Lift Up Your Heads;" a soprano and tenor duet, "Thine, I Am," by Miss Mary Wakeham and R. R. Miles, both of Santa Ana, and a solo by Miss Neil Lawson of San Jose, the convention soloist.

Devotionals were in charge of Rev. C. H. Seccombe, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Santa Ana. Two addresses were delivered tonight, one on "Atlantic City," by H. H. Gobber of Pasadena, and the other, the sermon of the day, by Rev. Hugh W. Gilchrist of the Mt. Hermon Association. Rev. Gilchrist's subject was "The Domain of Christ."

According to the report of Miss Lulu Minter, corresponding secretary, made this afternoon, there are now 945 Christian Endeavor societies in California, with a total membership of 27,822, a gain of 4749 over last year, exclusive of junior endeavorers. During the last year 235 societies were organized and 163 disbanded, leaving a net gain for the year of 128 societies.

BUILDING BIG ADDITION.

Ontario Concern Now Working Three Hundred and Fifty Men and Finds Enlargement Necessary.

ONTARIO, June 8.—The Pacific Electric Heating Company has commenced work on a $7000 addition to their already large factory on East Main street. The building or wing which is to be 100x60 feet, will be of reinforced concrete. It will be rushed to completion and it is expected that it will be ready for occupancy in about three weeks.

The addition has been made necessary by the expansion of the business, particularly in the manufacture of the new electrical coffee percolator, recently put on the market, a new immersion boiler and a new stove and by the consequent extra number of employees. The company is employing 320 hands at present, an increase of seventy over last years. Day and night shifts are kept busy.

NEW OFFICERS.

At the annual meeting of the People's Mutual Building and Loan Association held yesterday, Charles B. Ford and A. D. Moore were re-elected to the board of directors. Other members of the board are: Charles Frankish, A. P. Harwood, J. Cullen Wright and Jacob Jesson. Following the meeting the directors met and chose officers for the coming year. They are: A. P. Harwood, president; Charles Frankish, vice-president; W. F. G. Blaikie, secretary and T. E. Parke, attorney.

LINEMAN BADLY BURNED.

San Bernardino Electrician Gets Painful Shock at Top of Twenty-five-foot Tower.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] George Rope, a lineman in the employ of the Pacific Light and Power Company, was painfully burned this afternoon by coming in contact with a high-power line of the company's at Second and Arrowhead avenue.

He was saved from a bad fall from the top of the twenty-five-foot pole by the heavy straps which fastened him. His fellow linemen hurried to his aid, lowering him to the ground after which he was removed to the Ramona Hospital.

The accident was caused by a rubber glove slightly tearing. Rope was burned and shocked, but it is not believed his injuries are of a serious nature.

Hemet.

WELL RESULTS ELATE VALLEY.

GOOD WATER FLOW LIKELY NEAR THE TOWN.

Twelve-inch Hole Sunk Three Hundred and Twenty Feet on the Walker Ranch Expected to Produce About a Hundred Inches. Will Be Used for Alfalfa.

HEMET, June 8.—The entire valley is elated over the results of the water development on the Walker ranch, four and one-half miles southwest of Hemet. A twelve-inch well has been sunk 320 feet to bed rock, passing through 160 feet of gravel. It is expected to develop 100 inches of water. Although its final tests have not been made, Paul Walker, manager of the ranch, says he is confident the water will rise to the surface, at least, and will not be surprised if the well has a flow.

E. R. Pitzer, driller in charge, says the indications for an almost unlimited supply of water are the best he has ever seen. It is his belief that the water-bearing stratum that has been struck is at least 100 feet wide and may extend the entire length of the valley. This development of water, coming, as it does, upon the heels of the Charnock wells, is seemingly sufficient cause for elation. Mr. Walker contemplates the sinking of a twenty-four-inch well from which Mr. Pitzer estimates 400 inches of water.

The Walker ranch consists of 969 acres of as good alfalfa land as there is in the valley. A third of it is already seeded to alfalfa that runs eight tons to the acre. With plenty of water and property distributed, ten or twelve tons per acre can be produced as easily.

There is a pumping plant on the place already that controls the flow of ten wells.

BAPTISTS TO BUILD.

The Business Committee of the First Baptist Church has approved plans that will result in the expenditure by the church of at least $10,000. It is the intention to break ground at once for the erection of a new house of wurship upon the site of the former one, which is now inadequate. In addition, a parsonage will be built upon the lot adjacent.

P. F. Witter, contractor of Hemet, has drawn up the plans and will have charge of the construction. Rev. J. S. Pate, who has recently accepted a call to the pastorate here, has been active since his arrival here.

NEW GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

In addition to other building activities, Hemet is to have a new grammar school. Charles T. Stetson, president of the Board of Trustees, acting in conjunction with the other members of the board, has selected the plans for a $17,000 structure to replace the old one. It will contain six rooms, principal's office and rest rooms. Work will be commenced next week and the building will be ready for occupancy by fall.

The last year's faculty, headed by Prof. Edward Dolland, remains intact for another year, and has the addition of Miss Rita Domengoni, as teacher for the sixth grade.

MEXICANS GOING SOUTH.

Leaving Redlands to Take up Arms Against the Foreigners Under the Socialist Flag.

RIVERSIDE, June 8.—Many Mexican laborers, among them quite a number employed by the Riverside Portland Cement Company at Crestmore, three miles north of this city, have departed for Lower California in response to an appeal which has been made in this city during the past few days in the form of a circular issued by the so-called Society of the Defenders of the National Integrity, an organization formed by Mexicans in Lower California. The departing Mexican laborers have answered the appeal made to them in their native tongue to take up arms against the foreigners who are mustered under the Socialistic flag on the soil of Lower California.

Two thousand dollars was reported raised by subscription among the merchants and other patriotic citizens for the July Fourth celebration by the Finance Commitee at the July Fourth meeting held last evening in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. It is intended to have an aviation meet as the big feature of the celebration, an aviator from Los Angeles to be employed for $1000 to make a flight and do several desperate and thrilling stunts in the air.

This is to take place on the grounds of the Riverside Driving Club, which organization will also hold races on the afternoon of the day. Committees composed of active and successful business men are busying themselves to frame up such a celebration as this city has never seen and are meeting with all kinds of encouragement from the leading citizens.

This will be the first time within sixteen years that Riverside shall have given a real, old-fashioned July Fourth celebration and it is the intention to whoop it up in great style.

A pleasing feature of the celebration will be the parade in which, in connection with the industrial and allegorical floats, there will be a large number of richly decorated automobiles. C. A. Dundas, one of the members of the Parade Committee and a proprietor of the Glenwood Garage, stated that he has the promise of 100 E.M.F. autos, nicely decorated, for the parade, and there will be many others.

YORBA LINDA NOTES.

YORBA LINDA, June 8.—The Yorba Linda section is rapidly settling up and many new people are acquiring tracts in this section. The agricultural and fruit outlook was never better. The pumping plant No. 2 of the Janss Investment Company is ready for installation and will be put in operation as soon as the pumphouse is finished. This will send water from reservoir No. 1, which was finished recently, and irrigate the northeastern portion of the tract. The pipe lines will be laid within the next two weeks.

Chester Page, son of F. G. Page suffered intensely as the result of swallowing several pieces of bones. He was taken to Anaheim and medical attention secured which saved his life.

A new house is being completed here by L. M. Quigley, who is one among a number of recent settlers from Whittier.

Mrs. Handle was brought to the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. F. Conlay yesterday, stricken with paralysis and requires constant care. She has resided in Orange till recently.

PIONEER PASSES.

ESCONDIDO, June 8.—Silas P. Abell, for forty-three years a citizen of San Diego county, died at the home of his son, Eugene M. Abell, in Escondido this morning. Mr. Abell was a native of Connecticut. He came to California in 1848. For three years before the Escondido grant included the present townsite, Mr. Abell farmed 2000 acres of the grant. He owned and operated the first stage lines between Escondido and San Diego and between Escondido and Encinitas, and served on the first Board of Trustees under the city organization. He leaves five children: Albert J., Alfred W. and Everett L. of San Diego; Eugene M. of Escondido, and Mrs. Annie Rose Vandevere of Dewdeny, B. C. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon.

LA HABRA.

LA HABRA, June 8.—As a fitting close of the school year a picnic of the teachers and pupils was held in Pomona Canyon, where a generous spread was enjoyed. Miss Convis, the primary teacher will not return next year, having accepted a position in the schools of Los Angeles.

Members of the Farmers' Club attended the meeting of the Chambers of Commerce at Westminister. F. R. Aldrich of this valley was elected president of the association.

PERRIS.

PERRIS, June 8.—J. C. McGowan, who has been associated with Robert Mitchler the past year in the Perris Garage, sold his interest in the business this week to Albert Leavitt of Riverside.

J. M. Younglin died suddenly Sunday morning at his bee ranch in the mountains near Elsinore. Mr. Younglin was 62 years of age. Funeral services were conducted at the Methodist Church here Monday afternoon by the pastor, Rev. Albert Ore. He leaves a widow to mourn his loss.

Demand HOLSUM!
Don't Accept a Substitute

Do you remember the fable about the dog who, crossing a bridge with a bone in his mouth saw the reflection and, dropping the bone, dived for the shadow?

That's what you do when you accept a substitute loaf for

HOLSUM BREAD

HOLSUM is always reliable. Any woman may serve it with a good conscience. With the average kitchen equipment, and in the rush of modern life, she has neither facilities nor time to compete with the HOLSUM baker who does nothing else; whose life work is HOLSUM.

THE ORIGINAL NEAL THREE DAY LIQUOR TREATMENT

The Up to Date and Modern Method of Treating the Drink Habit in Three Days

How many days were you away from your business or the office last year, or unable to think and act surely and clearly? How much did that experience cost you in actual cash or deals unclosed?

You may say—not a cent—but how much did you gain in efficiency, and it is only through your increased efficiency that success is made. The Original Neal Treatment, by the elimination of alcohol poison in the system, will increase your efficiency and stop all craving for liquor with but little loss of time. Three days at our club-like institute at 945 South Olive Street, have been the means of not only rebuilding many men, but rebuilding their business.

The Original Neal Three-Day Liquor Treatment consists of the administration by a regular physician, always in attendance, of a perfectly harmless vegetable medicine. There are no hypodermic injections. The medicine is taken internally. Safe, sure and thorough.

If you have a friend who drinks to excess and you would like to help save him from the drink habit, write, wire or phone The Neal Institute Co., 945 South Olive street, Los Angeles, Cal.

There is no other place in Los Angeles or Southern California where you can obtain the Original Neal Three-Day Treatment for the drink habit.

Phone Broadway 4502 or A4072. Open day and night. Write for the booklet, "THE NEAL WAY"—and other information.

Young Lady Makes Bow as Whistling Soloist at Orchestra Concert, and Delightful Vocalist Pleases.

The orchestra of the First Methodist Sunday-school gave its twenty-sixth free concert last night, and was greeted by an audience filling every part of the house, never equalled on any former occasion. Under the leadership of Earl B. Valentine, the orchestra has made fine progress, and is now a strong and effective musical organization, and Valentine has developed vastly as a director.

The concert signalized the debut of Miss Mary Brodbeck, daughter of Dr. H. W. and Mrs. Brodbeck, as a whistler. She gave "The Nightingale and the Frogs" with exquisite taste and beauty, and responded with an encore selection which was given with equal success. The young lady has been under tutelage for but six months and gives great promise of becoming a famous whistler.

Miss Pearl Harrison sang a trio of rose songs, with a charm of presence and beauty of voice rarely enjoyed. They were "The Rose in the Garden," "Three Red Roses," and "A Bowl of Roses." An exquisite encore number followed.

Manufacturer Arrested for Failure to Provide for His Wife, Previously Ordered by Court to Do So.

Dr. Norman C. Heron, a manufacturer of eucalyptus oils and balms, living at No. 338 West Jefferson street, was arrested yesterday by Deputy Constable Thornburg and arraigned before Justice Summerfield on a charge of failure to provide for his wife, Amy A. Heron. He was released on his own recognizance, and his examination was set for the 20th inst.

The Herons were in the divorce courts recently, with a complaint and cross-complaint. The actions were both dismissed. During the time the case was pending, Heron was ordered by the court to contribute to the support of his wife, which he is said not to have done since the case was dismissed. The complaint was issued by Deputy District Attorney Richardson.

GIRL DIES; SELF SLAIN.

Drinks Formaldehyde and Life Passes in Agony; "Ill Health and Despondency" Given as Causes.

"Despondency caused by ill health," resulted in another suicide yesterday morning. Miss Nancy Belford, No. 1544 Curran street, drank a large amount of formaldehyde, which she had kept in the house to use as a disinfectant and died a few minutes later.

The Coroner was called and he issued the customary explanation. Friends and relatives of the woman said they knew of no other cause. She had been in ill health for several months.

The body was taken to the Peck and Chase undertaking establishment.

GOVERNMENT ATTORNEY HERE.

Arrives With Daughters and Will Attend United States Customs Court Which Meets Here Next Week.

Charles E. McNabb, an attorney for the United States Customs Court of Washington, arrived at the Alexandria last night accompanied by his daughter, Miss McNabb, and Miss Jasper.

McNabb is here as a government attorney in the Customs Court which will be held for several days beginning next Monday. Judge Byron S. Waite, general appraiser, with headquarters in New York, preceded McNabb by several days and will also attend the sessions.

McNabb heard yesterday for the first time by telegraph of the death Tuesday, of his chief, Assistant Attorney-General D. Frank Lloyd, at a hospital in New York, as the result of an operation.

DRESS FIRED BY MOTORCYCLE.

Redlands Young Woman is Horribly Burned as a Result of a Peculiar Accident.

REDLANDS, June 8.—While riding a motorcycle last night the clothing of Miss Alice Holgate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Holgate, caught fire from the machine, and the young woman was horribly burned about the lower part of her body. She is suffering such intense agony she is still under the influence of anesthetics, and the extent of her injuries cannot yet be determined. Miss Holgate and her cousin, Miss Jessie Robertson, of New York, who is visiting the Holgates, had been taking turns in riding around the block with J. F. Kavenaugh, a friend of the family. She rushed to the nearest house and was soon given assistance, but before her clothing could be removed her limbs below her corset were deeply burned and her hands were also burned. Her face escaped the flames. Whether or not the muscles are burned cannot be determined at this time.

Investigation showed that the cap to the gasoline tank had been loosened, and the gasoline was thrown over the riders by the jarring of the machine, and sparks from the exhaust set the gas on fire. The young man escaped with a few very slight burns.

OUSTED TEACHER REINSTATED.

The trouble arising over the failure of the Board of Education to reappoint Hugh T. Osborne to the principalship of the Lugonia grammar school has been amicably settled, and Mr. Osborne has been reinstated. The origin of the trouble was Mr. Osborne's failure to obey orders issued by School Superintendent C. H. Covell in regard to the grammar school athletic meet held some months ago. Two of the entries from Osborne's school were objected to by the other schools on the grounds that they were professionals, having played for money during the summer, but Osborne stood by his boys, and when informed that they could not enter, he withdrew his school from all events.

Last week when the teachers for next year were announced, Osborne's name was notably missing. The Lugonia school patrons, who are very fond of their principal, immediately began the circulation of petitions, securing in a couple of days 400 names. These were presented to the school board, and yesterday the board and Mr. Osborne got together, and after several hours they decided to reinstate Mr. Osborne, he having signified his willingness to submit to higher authority, although the board was unable to get him to admit that he erred in the instance of the field-meet matter. Mr. Osborne has made his home in Redlands, is a prominent member of the University Club, and is generally very well liked, and his many friends are rejoicing over the decision of the school board.

REDLANDS NOTES.

A mysterious fire in the basement of the new $55,000 Polytechnic High School building last night called out the department shortly after 11 o'clock and the blaze was put out before more than $50 worth of damage was done. The fire started in a pile of finishing lumber, but how it originated is a mystery. The lights attracted a passer-by and he immediately phoned in the alarm.

For the past several days High School boys have been busy circulating petitions among themselves and the business men of the city, asking that the physical director of the High School be removed and another and more competent man be put in his place. Today it developed that Mr. Wester has already left for the East to play ball for the summer, and it is doubtful whether or not he will return, as he is something of a twirler, and has for some time been wanting to get onto a ball team.

John H. Fisher, president of the Country Club, today announced his committees for the year. The Tea Committee will consist of Mrs. A. G. Hubbard, chairman, Mrs. Edward S. Graham and Mrs. A. C. Denman, Jr. Mr. Fisher announces an entirely new committee, consisting of Mrs. W. D. Bethell, chairman, Mrs. Halsey W. Allen, Miss Gretchen Moore, Miss Helen Haver, Miss Rachel Hemingway and Mrs. A. G. Hubbard. This committee will look after the social life of the club hereafter, this duty having heretofore devolved upon the Tea Committee.

ALFALFA MILLS LIKELY.

Movement Under Way for the Establishment of One at Bishop and One on the Other Side of Laws.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BISHOP, June 8.—There is a movement on foot here toward the establishment of one or more alfalfa mills, one at Bishop and one on the other side of Laws. The matter has been taken up by local men and a proposition has been made by the California Alfalfa Meal Milling Company which promises to have two or more mills in operation in this section by the time hay is cut this season. The mills will handle three tons of hay an hour each, and will cost, when completed, about $25,000, respectively. The mills will assure, according to the promoters, at the very least $5 a ton to the farmers for their hay, delivered at the plant before it is stacked.

COPPER KING BUYS LAND.

Joseph Giroux, the copper king of Ely, Nev., who is building a $30,000 home at Hollywood, has just closed a deal at Big Pine for four adjoining ranches for which he paid close to $50,000. This is said to be about the best land purchase in so large a body ever made in this valley. The ranches, which are located about a mile southeast of Big Pine, include 240 acres from the Crocker brothers, estimated at $25,000; eighty acres from J. A. Partridge, $10,000; the Scammon ranch of eighty acres, $7600; and forty acres from Victor H. Larson, $4000.

With the land was purchased all the stock and improvements and personal property. The ground is mostly seeded to alfalfa. Mr. Giroux has begun at once to work out plans for a model cattle farm.

SAN DIEGO.

SAN DIEGO, June 8.—There will be no special train to Los Angeles tomorrow on account of the Christian Endeavor convention at Santa Ana. The difference in the rate from Santa Ana to Los Angeles was fixed at 85 cents; the railroad company exacted that to secure a special train at least 125 delegates must subscribe to a round trip rate of $.55 which would include the Los Angeles rate, before the train would be run. Delegates refused to submit to the additional 85 cents, thus cutting down the fare to $3, which was embodied in the transportation to Santa Ana alone.

TURNERS TO RUN.

Concordia Turnverein will send a big delegation to Los Angeles to the Pacific Coast Circuit, Gymnastic Union of America, June 22 to 26. In addition to competing for the prizes an effort will be made to bring the 1915 meeting to San Diego. In this the local organization will have the support of the Los Angeles Turnverein.

Concordia Turnverein of this city will send three classes, Seniors, young men's and women's, to contest for the prizes. Every visitor from San Diego will wear sashes containing the words, "San Diego, 1915." To pay the expenses of the local teams to Los Angeles a benefit will be given Thursday night, June 15.

MUSHET TO ENTER RACE FOR MAYOR.

Ex-City Auditor Announces Purpose and Position.

Speaks of Important Matters for Next Executive.

Rose and Summerfield Also Mentioned Now.

Municipal campaign somnolence was broken yesterday by the sudden announcement of William C. Mushet, former City Auditor, that he will contest with Mayor Alexander, Good Government, and Job Harriman, Socialist-unionite, of San Gabriel, for the nomination for Mayor of Los Angeles at the primary election in October.

The announcement is not a surprise in political circles. It has been imminent for weeks, during which time Mushet has been feeling the political pulse and getting a satisfactory diagnosis of the situation.

Ever since his memorable race of two years ago at the primaries where he was beaten for a place on the final ticket by George A. Smith, regular Republican, by only a few votes, it has been believed that he would try again this year.

Mushet has many influential backers who have been besieging him for an expression on his position. Among those who asked the direct question and requested an early answer was Joseph H. Call, who leads a mixture of Democrats and Good Government elements that are ready to support Mushet. This direct question gave Mushet his chance to send a letter to Call yesterday announcing his candidacy and his platform, in a general way, and copies of it were given out last night as Mushet's statement to the public.

At the same time news of the Mushet candidacy became known it was also stated that Police Judge H. H. Rose is importuned by a large following to permit the use of his name, and that an announcement of his purpose is soon to be made. Another report says that Justice of the Peace J. W. Summerfield is among the possibilities in the primary battle.

Neither Judge Rose nor Justice Summerfield is ready to discuss the Mayoralty race just now, however.

A FINANCIAL MANAGER.

Mushet was a strong and conspicuous figure in municipal government during the three years he served as City Auditor. It was he who started the fight for lower electric light rates and for financial reform. It was his management of the city's finances that provided the immense reserve fund of $500,000, which was turned over to the Alexander administration when it took complete control a year ago last January. That reserve has been the mainstay of the city ever since. It was Mushet, too, who began the fight against the Gamewell company because of its alleged extortionate charges, and the present Council has followed his work.

Two years ago he became a candidate for Mayor when Alexander, George A. Smith and Oscar E. Fariah were in the contest. In the finals Alexander was first and Smith second, beating Mushet to a place on the final ticket by only a few hundred votes.

After retiring from office Mushet established the Mushet Audit Company, which has offices in the Union League building. He has devoted himself to this business, but has not lost sight of his desire to be the Chief Executive of the city. In his letter to Call he thus outlines his views on municipal administration.

COMMENDS EFFICIENCY.

Finance Committee of Grand Jury Conveys to District Attorney Appreciation for Courtesy and Assistance.

A substantial expression of appreciation came to the District Attorney yesterday from the Finance Committee of the grand jury in the form of a letter commending the efficiency of his administration and the assistance rendered the grand jury by him and his deputies. The letter, which is as follows, is signed for the committee by J. L. Matthews, charman, who is also secretary of the grand jury:

"As chairman of the Finance Committee of the Los Angeles County Grand Jury, 1910-11, I desire to convey to you our appreciation for the assistanec and courtesy which has been extended by you, your deputies and employees, to our accountants, which has materially assisted and lightened their labors. I desire especially to commend you on the splendid administration you are giving the taxpayers of this country, and congratulate you upon the efficiency of your working force, a condition which I am pleased to state exists almost universally in the public offices throughout this imperial county."

NO HELP FOR HERO.

Park Employee, Bitten By Mad Dog When He Goes to Another Man's Assistance, Is Turned Down.

With his arm lacerated by a rabid dog, W. H. Simpson, who has worked eight years for the city in Eastlake Park, was, it is said, refused aid yesterday by the park department officials in procuring necessary medical attention.

Simpson Wednesday was at work in the park when a cur that often had been noticed in the park, attacked John A. Oberg, a visitor. The attack was so vicious that Simpson ran to the aid of Oberg. As a result the dog bit Simpson on the arm.

Emmett Rice, animal keeper at the Eastlake Zoo, killed the dog. He cut off its head and took it to the office of the Board of Health where an examination of the brain was made by the City Chemist. This disclosed positive evidence of rabies and Simpson was advised to seek Pasteur treatment without delay.

Not being a man of means he visited the office of the Park Department where he says he was told that he could not be assisted nor could he be paid for the time he must be absent from his employment. He was offered a letter to the County Hospital. So far he has not made much progress toward pasteurization of his injuries.

NOT A CITIZEN.

Hom Sing, a Chinese vegetable man of this city, was arraigned before Commissioner Van Dyke yesterday and gave bail in the sum of $2500 for his appearance June 16, to answer the charge of being in the country without a certificate of residence.

No Escape.

SUPREME COURT AFFIRMS DEATH SENTENCE FOR THE "TIGER MAN."

THE California Supreme Court has affirmed the judgment of Judge Willis in the case of George E. Figueroa and the "tiger man" must die for the killing of his wife, Sarah M. Figueroa, in this city a little over a year ago.

One of the features of the famous case was that, while it was submitted on appeal, no argument was made on behalf of the people. Notwithstanding the failure of counsel to present the case properly upon appeal, the court declares that the record was carefully read and digested because the life of Figueroa was at stake. The decision says that the defendant was given a fair trial and that the evidence of his guilt under the testimony was clear and satisfactory.

The Figueroa case will be recalled as perhaps the most sensational and revolting trials to occupy the attention of the local criminal courts in many years. The particularly cold-blooded character of the slaying on the threshold of the Figueroa summer house, where the unfortunate woman was being driven by her unnatural husband and the callous indifference exhibited by him afterward, won for the young Spaniard the sinister title of the "tiger man."

But one point in the transcript is called into question by the higher court. Judge Willis sustained an objection to questions designed to show that Figueroa might have been partially under the influence of liquor at the time of the murder. It was evident at the trial that such an effort would have failed of its end but the supreme tribunal favored giving the murderer the benefit of every doubt.

English Derby a Good Thing and Big Surprise.

Man Luck Favors Doesn't Believe in Betting.

A. V. Morrison of Los Angeles and San Francisco, who accompanied by Mrs. Morrison, arrived at the Alexandria yesterday, is not a betting man. He is, on the other hand, a conservative business man, who believes that betting of any nature is a delusion and a snare.

Morrison was shown his suite, and shortly afterward walked up to the mail clerk, at the Alexandria, and asked for his letters.

Among the bundle of mail matter handed him was a telegram which had been held pending his arrival. It was from Victoria, B. C.

Morrison carelessly opened the message, while standing at the clerk's counter. He hastily glanced over the contents, and with the utmost astonishment depicted on his face, burst out:

"Great geewhillikers, here is a man who wants to give me $10,000 for a little piece of pasteboard I purchased only as an accommodation while in Victoria."

Then the story came out.

Morrison, who frequently goes to Victoria, has a large circle of friends in that city. A few weeks ago he was there, on business, and while talking with a number of English friends at his club, the subject of the big pool being made up on Sunstar, the wonderful horse, across the water, came up.

The pool had grown to great proportions, and the purse that some one would get was alluring to a man of any betting instincts. But Morrison does not bet, and does not believe in betting. However, his friends are not all of the same mind. Practically every one of them had already taken a ticket in the pool, and for that reason it required little persuasion to induce Morrison to take one of the little tickets, which cost but $1. He took the ticket to please his friends, and immediately forgot it.

Yesterday he was reminded of it when he tore open the telegram, which reads as follows:

"You win. Sunstar winner of Derby. Draw on me for $10,440, and attach your ticket, No. 6927 to draft. Letter follows."

The telegram is signed by the secretary of the promoters of the pool.

Morrison went to his bank, and displaying his telegram, drew the draft, attached his winning ticket and turned it tover.

Morrison is western agent for a large tobacco company, and is in the city at this time, to open permanent offices for the concern in rooms 701-2 Security building.

Morrison, who calls Los Angeles his home, is an Englishman, and like all his countrymen, has an intense interest in the winner of the annual English Derby, but heretofore has never made a bet on the result. He is a man of comfortable means, but is naturally elated over his windfall.

"When I purchased the ticket," said he, "I had no idea of profiting from it, but took it simply because many of my business acquaintances in Victoria were interested in the pool. I had forgotten entirely about it, and am overwhelmed with surprise. I have drawn on Victoria for the money, as instructed and learned by wire that the draft was acknowledged immediately."

BOGUS CHECK CASHED.

The police have been asked to search for a woman who yesterday afternoon passed a bogus check on A. Vlodek, a grocer at No. 3905 Pasadena avenue. The woman ordered two sacks of wheat delivered to an address which she gave and asked for the balance due on the check in cash. When the wheat was delivered to the address given, it was refused and the statement made that the woman was not known there. She is about 30 years old, five feet, six inches tall and weighs about 120 pounds. The name of Mrs. H. Abbott was signed to the check.

MILKMAN BANKRUPT.

Theodore C. Gillett, a dairyman of Norwalk, filed his petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court yesterday. His liabilities are scheduled at $2944.90, and his assets $4780. Of the latter, $4000 is in real estate, that is already incumbered with a mortgage of $1800 held by Mrs. Lizzie Martin.

WIFE SUES FOR DIVORCE.

Mrs. A. Victor Segno, Whose Husband Left Simultaneously With Mrs. Fred Weltzel Seeks Separation.

What is, for one person at least, the beginning of the end in the story involving Mental Culturist A. Victor Segno and Mrs. Fred Weltzel, his former secretary, came yesterday when Mrs. Segno filed suit in the Superior Court for a divorce from her absent spouse. It is alleged that the relations arrested to exist between Mrs. Weltzel and the man of mental waves, constitutes the basis for the action.

Mrs. Weltzel left her husband ostensibly to visit relatives in Chicago, simultaneously with the departure of her former employer, ostensibly to found one of his mentalism schools in Russia. Both have since been heard from in the same cities at the same time and relatives appear to have no doubt that they are together.

Attorney S. J. Parsons represents Mrs. Segno in her divorce action.

CAMPAIGN CLOSES TODAY.

Y.M.C.A. Extension Fund Attains Magnificent Total of Near $400,000. Monrovia Man to Rescue.

With the magnificent total of $391,400 secured toward the desired $500,000 for the Y.M.C.A. extension fund, the Board of Managers yesterday decided to bring the canvass to a close, at the noon luncheon today, when it is expected that still further subscriptions will be reported, all the captains having been requested to make their final returns. While falling short of the mark set, it must be acknowledged that the result attained is splendid, and further amounts will be gratefully received by the association.

It was shown yesterday that the interest is not confined to the city, when Marcus Carson of Monrovia, appeared at the association building and handed General Secretary Luther his pledge for $1000. He said that in watching the newspapers he had seen that further help was greatly needed, and he desired to have a part in it. Other persons are urged to follow his example.

Other large gifts were $500 from C. C. Carpenter; an increase from $500 to $1000 by M. H. Whittier ,and a check for $250 from Abe Haas. Other gifts brought the grand total up to $391,409, and the committees are working hard to complete the $400,000 by today at noon.

Tangled Skeins.

HE VENTURES ALL FOR LOVE OF HER.

Carpenter Is Torn Between Fear and Remorse.

Implicates Contractor and May Lose Wife.

Final Setting of Drama Now Takes Place in Court.

Love, fear, avarice and remorse are four factors which play important parts in the case of O. McGinnis, a contractor, and Rufus E. Bellomy, a carpenter, accused on February 20 of burning a house at Graham Station, belonging to McGinnis, in order to collect the insurance.

Tangled in the fabric which the law has woven about the men, is Mrs. Wilson-Bellomy, whose marriage to the carpenter and his devotion to her are stated to have wrung from him the confession upon which the prosecution will seek to convict McGinnis.

The hearing, which will be continued this morning, was characterized by many hot disputes between counsel. Earl Rogers defended McGinnis and associated with him were Frank Dominguez and ex-Judge Baird. Bellomy was represented by Attorney Stein, Horton and Joos represented the prosecution.

Mrs. Nina P. Wade of Graham testified that she had sold a lot to McGinnis upon which he had built a house, doing much of the work himself at odd hours. The structure cost $1552, and when completed was insured for $1000 in the Dubuque Fire & Marine Insurance Company. She said she did not know that the fire was of incendiary origin. Bellomy, who had been working for McGinnis, was discharged by him shortly after the fire, and asked her to help get his position back which she said she could not do.

NEEDED THE MONEY.

The examination of William Goodwin, a paper hanger, who worked on McGinnis's house, occupied the remainder of the day. He was subjected to a strenuous cross-fire by Rogers, amid a shower of objection from amid a shower of objection from Deputy District Attorney Horton. Goodwin said that he had left his tools in the house the night it burned, but that Bellomy and McGinnis had taken theirs away.

Tools were introduced as exhibits by the prosecution which Goodwin identified as his own and were supposed to have been burned. These Bellomy, in his confession, says were taken out by him and McGinnis be-of love, hate, remorse and fire, which is now being thrashed out in the trial of Contractor O. McGinnis and Rufus E. Bellomy, charged with arson. McGinnis (in the center) is alleged to have induced Bellomy (below) to set fire to his new house at Graham Station. Above is Bellomy's wife, one of the star witnesses of the prosecution.

THROWN FROM WAGON.

While turning about in a vacant lot near Main and Twenty-seventh streets late yesterday afternoon, William Willis, a teamster employed by the Union Hardware and Metal Company, was thrown from the wagon and severely bruised. The horses became frightened and dragged the wagon for several rods. Willis was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where his injuries were dressed by Dr. Kidder.

The Public Service: City Hall and Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The question whether the proprietor of a department store can be held responsible for damages, for the action of one of his private detectives, arose in Judge Monroe's court yesterday and the attorneys were given time to prepare to enlighten the judge upon the matter.

Two police judges decided yesterday that technicalities are without substance and H. H. Coton was not made to pay for violations of a building ordinance since amended.

At the City Hall.

SHOUP'S SMILE ENDS DISPUTE.

AGREES NOT TO CONTEST SIXTEENTH-STREET ASSESSMENT.

Council to Charge Thirty Thousand Dollars Benefits on Lis Angeles Pacific, and Traction Official Promises Payment—Will Lighten Cost on Other Property Owners.

An assessment of benefits against the Los Angeles Pacific Railway, ordered by the Council Streets and Boulevards Committee yesterday, means a reduction of the assessments against other property owners of about 15 per cent.

When the task of making the assessments for the widening between Pacific avenue and Normandie street was begun it was found that the railway received $109,000 for the rights of way condemned, while it was assessed only $1500 benefits. It was urged that the company was really more benefited by the widening in the operation of its cars than any other individual affected, yet it was getting off very light.

The committee has been discussing a heavy assessment for benefits against the poles and wires and tracks of the company. Yesterday Vice-President Paul Shoup was before the committee discussing the question.

"We will assess you $30,000 for your benefits," said Councilman Whiffen.

Shoup smiled. "Well, if you do we will not contest it," said he.

Then Whiffen smiled, too.

It is really a large concession on the part of the management, because other efforts to assess benefits under similar conditions have been resisted in the courts. Shoup's assurance that the assessment will not be disputed was the most welcome thing the committee has received for weeks.

The cost of widening the street to eighty feet between the points named is $199,000, and the assessment assumed by the Los Angeles Pacific will take just that much off the other property owners.

It amounts to a reduction of the judgment of damages in favor of the company to $79,000. This action is regarded as removing all difficulties to a speedy termination of the proceedings.

On the other portion of Sixteenth street, between Figueroa street and Pacific avenue, Whiffen performed different services yesterday. A tug of war between the Barber Asphalt Paving Company and the joint pole committee of the light and telephone companies is on over the moving of the poles, made necessary by the widening of the street and the paving contract.

Whiffen asked the Board of Public Works to intervene as peacemaker yesterday.

The pole committee declines to move its poles until the paving company sets the curb. The paving company declines to set its curb until the poles are moved.

The Board of Public Works will undertake to break the "deadlock" and push the improvement work.

REMOVE LISSNER?
OFFICIALS DISCOUNT.

The demand of the Federated Improvement Association that the Mayor and Council remove the Lissner Board of Public Utilities yesterday met answer by both. The association adopted resolutions demanding this action on the ground that the Lissner board has forgotten its duties to the people. The action followed the announcement of the light rates, recently.

The Mayor in his crisp answer says:

"The Council is now taking up the consideration of the recommendations of the board as to rates for various utilities, and unquestionably the board should be given an opportunity here to present their side of the case. However much I may disagree with the findings of the board, I believe in their honosty of purpose."

The resolution was considered by the Public Welfare Committee of the Council yesterday afternoon in much the same spirit. From the first the committee took the position that it could not remove Lissner and his colleagues as that duty is imposed on the Mayor, and the Council may be merely asked to consent.

Andrews caused a suggesion to be included in the report that the association has an implement—the recall—to invoke if it really wants a change. He said, however, that he did not agree that the Lissner board should be removed.

The recall provision provides that appointive officers may be recalled, but no method is provided. The city's legal department, however, is probably prepared to hold that the manner provided for elective officials—20 per cent. of the vote by which they were elected—is constructively the manner intended for appointees.

Yesterday was the last one for filing protests against the light and power rates. Only one additional was offered. It was the Los Angeles Brick Company, which asserts that the new power rates will increase its bills 78 per cent. annually, or $5244. It shows a comparison of the rates it has been paying, with those under the schedule fixed by the Lissner experts.

Other protests during the last fifteen days have been filed by Garner Curren, president of the Federated Improvement Association, A. I. Warren, Martin Bekins, Josie L. Dawden and others, F. G. Hentig, S. A. Waldron and the Consolidated Los Angeles Builders. With the latter, 135 other protestants joined.

The first rate hearing on light and power will begin before the Council next Tuesday.

TO FIGHT LINE.
ALVARADO-STREET PROTEST.

Alvarado street property owners are to fight the Lissner plan of putting a cross-town line on it between Seventh and Sixteenth streets. A meeting of the Alvarado-street Improvement Association yesterday decided to send this telegram to H. E. Huntington in New York, and to follow it with an appeal to the Council to prevent the use of the street for car tracks:

"The Alvarado-street Improvement Association, representing the owners and residents on Alvarado street from Seventh to Sixteenth street, are practically unanimous in protesting against the building of a street-car line on said street.

"We believe that the building of this line will ruin our street for residential purposes and deprive us of the benefits of the promises of this and other councils.

"We protest against the Los Angeles Railway Company insisting on again opening up this matter, which was recently settled by the Council.

"We have already taken steps to improve as a boulevard.

"We understand that it has always been your policy not to build street-car lines on streets in opposition to the wishes of the residents thereon. We therefore urgently request you to have the application for franchise withdrawn."

The telegram is signed by L. H. Mitchel, chairman, and F. C. Langdon, secretary.

LISSNER REPLIES.
BLAMES CITY ENGINEER.

Lissner's Board of Public Utilities sent a letter to the Council yesterday defending itself from the censure of that body Tuesday when it peremptorily ordered flagmen at Vernon avenue and Thirty-eighth street, and improved crossings on the Long Beach line of the Pacific Electric.

In this defense the board relieves the traction company of any evasion of duty and places all the blame on City Engineer Hamlin. On this it says:

"In deference to the action of your honorable body, we on the same day requested the Pacific Electric Railway Company, through Mr. McMillan, its general manager, to comply with your wishes in the matter, and he agreed to do so without delay, at our request sending us a written communication to that effect.

"We desire also to call your attention to the fact that the condition of the grade at this crossing has not been overlooked by this board, but that we have done everything within our power in the matter. On March 30, 1911, in a communication from this board addressed to the City Attorney and City Engineer, we said in connection with the Vernon avenue and other crossings, 'The railway people are willing to do anything that we require of them in this same connection, including culverts, grading, etc. All that is necessary is for the City Engineer to determine what he wants and make his request of the company and they will immediately comply. It was suggested that they should install a large culvert across Vernon avenue, just east of their track, and ease up the grade approaching the track, and they expressed an entire willingness to do so upon request, and to do anything else that might be asked.'"

The Lissner board also exhibits resentment that its sole jurisdiction over utility corporations is disputed, for it reports having taken this action:

"In view of the fact that there seems to be some misapprehension on the part of the Council and many citizens with reference to the relative jurisdiction of your honorable body and this board in connection with the regulation and operations of public utility corporations, we have requested our Council and the City Attorney to prepare an opinion explaining the purport of the recent charter amendments in this matter, a copy of which we will transmit to your honorable body as soon as it has been received by us."

BUDGET PROGRAMME.
VISIT TO THE HARBOR.

Work on the municipal budget for next year will begin next week when the Finance Committee will hod daily sessions in the office of the City Auditor. It is the intention to hold these sessions at 9 o'clock each morning and 2 o'clock each afternoon, except on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

The park department has been notified that it will be heard next Wednesday afternoon and the fire department in the morning.

Next Friday the committee, accompanied by representatives of the fire, police, harbor, parks and public works departments, will visit Wilmington and San Pedro for a day's study of the demands from the harbor region

COUNCIL CUTS.
NO LARGE SALARIES.

The Board of Public Works wants a $5000 man for Inspector of Public Works, a new office created by the recent charter amendments, but the Council Supply Committee yesterday cut the value to $2400.

The new official is to assume all the duties that W. M. Humphreys, of the board, has been doing. In recommending a $5000 salary, Humphreys enumerated sixteen important duties which must be performed, including garoage, street sweeping, sprinkling and the maintenance of all unimproved streets, and of sewers.

However, the committee did not lose sight of the fact that Humphreys has been able to discharge all the duties and perform his duties as a member of the board, for $3600, and this operated to cause a reduction of the salary. The board had in mind an aqueduct engineer whom it believed would prove an efficient officer in the new position.

The Council has uniformly opposed large salaries.

The committee approved the request of the Harbor Commission for two pilots at San Pedro harbor at $2500 each, they to furnish their own boats, and a port warden, at a salary of $1800.

Strawberry Weights.

No change in strawberry boxes is to be made by the Council, if the action of the Legislation Committee is approved. It decided yesterday that a berry box ought to hold twelve ounces, as the ordinance now provides. Commission merchants asked a change to ten ounces, as they found that the berries would not always weigh the required amount. City Sealer Green opposed the change. Now that the committee has acted the sealer will probably institute proceedings against those who use short-weight boxes.

New Dog Law.

In the final action on the two dog ordinances pending before the Council, the Legislation Committee yesterday voted to adopt its own for the next "dog year," beginning July 1. Its principal change is fixing the tax on all dogs, regardless of sex, at $2, and a reduction of the salary of the superintendent of the dog pound from $125 to $100 a month. The Humane Animal Commission proposed a far different measure, reserving to itself the use of all income from dog taxes, but the committee decided that it would pay the expense of administration and take all income. The commission accumuated nearly $18,000 excess this year, which will also be transferred to the general fund.

CLAIMS DAMAGES FOR HOLD UP.

HER PURSE SEARCHED BY A STORE DETECTIVE.

Woman Brings Suit Against Dry Goods Establishment for Injury to Her Health and Reputation—Evidence Showed She Was Innocent of Theft.

Declaring that a man forced her to let him examine the contents of her purse as she left the Broadway Department Store, Mrs. Elmer Jacobus brought action against Arthur Letts and Albert Kretchner yesterday in a suit tried before Judge Monroe, the plaintiff demanding damages for injuries to her health and reputation.

Testimony was produced, however, showing that Kretchner was in no-wise implicated in the matter, the evidence proving that the man who searched her was George Francis, a store detective. Francis testified he was under the impression that Mrs. Jacobus, while purchasing two pairs of socks, secreted two more pairs in her satchel. The case was continued until June 24, in order to allow the attorneys time to determine whether or not there are sufficient legal grounds for fixing the responsibility upon Letts, the proprietor of the store.

HEREDITARY IMMUNITY.
ODD REASON FOR CRIME.

The declaration by her husband that he might kill her and that he would be immune from punishment was given yesterday by Marguerite C. Loveridge, an actress, as a reason why Judge Monroe should give her a divorce.

Her mother, Mrs. May Hall, also an actress, said that Loveridge had told her that he was not afraid to commit the homicide as his father had been in an insane asylum and he could easily get off on the grounds of insanity.

Loveridge, who is a private detective, is said to have been extremely jealous of his wife. His wife said that she was once accompanied to Levy's for an after-theater supper by her mother and a man and that her spouse told her when she arrived home that it would be a pleasure to him to end her life.

The defendant was represented in court by a lawyer who said that Loveridge did not intend to contest the action, but that he would appear if the court so desired. The judge postponed the case until the 16th inst. in order that he might hear the other side of the story.

FALSE ARREST.
CLAIMS INSURANCE AGENT.

The suit for damages for false arrest of E. C. Morris against the Occidental Life Insurance Company and Allen & Chase, agents, was brought to trial before a jury in Judge Houser's court yesterday.

Morris was employed as an agent. He was taken in custody on October 1, 1910, on a charge of having stolen $95. He was dismissed after a hearing before Justice Frederickson. He was again arrested on a similar charge on December 10, and was released by Justice Summerfield.

He is now seeking to recover $50,000 damages for the first imprisonment and $25,000 for the second.

WARRANT FOR HIM.
HUSBAND DOESN'T SHOW UP.

Following alleged efforts to intimidate Mrs. Ella L. Rowe, who is seeking a divorce, Judge Monroe yesterday issued a bench warrant for her husband, William Rowe, a moving picture show proprietor. The court instructed the bailiff to see that Rowe was taken in custody as soon as possible in order that he might not escape. He will be put on the grill at 9 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Rowe is seeking divorce on the grounds of non-support. She alleges that she works most of the year as a janitress, receiving $5 a week, and during the summer months takes in washing.

An order was issued several days ago for Rowe to show cause why he should not be compelled to pay her alimony, pending the settlement of the divorce action. He did not appear at the stipulated time.

Mrs. Rowe testified yesterday that certain persons came to her and said that if she did not drop her efforts to obtain alimony that they would appear as witnesses and would prevent her from getting her freedom.

DAMAGES HEAVIER.
COMPANY LOSES IN RETRIAL.

The retrial of the suit of Richard F. Simoneau, administrator of the estate of William Alexander Campbell, against the Pacific Electric, resulted disastrously for the company yesterday, when a jury in Judge Houser's court rendered a verdict for $10,000. The first hearing resulted in a $7000 verdict.

Simoneau sued for the death of Campbell, who was killed while crossing the tracks at Thirty-eighth street December 24, 1908. The case involved the old fender ordinance. One of the strong features of the prosecution was that the corporation violated a city ordinance, which required it to equip its cars with the life-saving appliances.

WIFE WINS.
IS GRANTED DIVORCE.

A sensation was promised yesterday in the divorce suit of Garnet Van Alstyne against Francis A. Van Alstyne, when a witness informed Judge Willis that threats had been made if certain testimony was brought out there would be a shooting scrape.

When the case was called in the afternoon, the parties had adjusted matters to a certain extent. The woman was granted a decree on the grounds of cruelty. She testified that he had choked and beaten her. The court ordered Van Alstyne to pay her $20 a month alimony, and granted her the custody of the small son. He will be permitted to see the child on Sundays.

Must Pay Son's Bill.

W. A. Roberts must pay for the medical attention which his son received for wounds he suffered when he accidentally shot himself while hunting specimens for the Southwest Museum. Roberts was sued in the Santa Monica Justice's court for doctor's and hospital bills, and judgment for $162.50 went against him. The case was appealed and was affirmed by Judge Wilbur yesterday.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.
BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

GETS OFF. A charge of having issued a check when he knew that he had no funds in the bank against D. P. Oatman was dismissed yesterday by Judge McCormick at the request of Deputy District Attorney Blair.

PICKPOCKETS SENTENCED. Thomas Jones and John Riley, who picked from the pocket of W. J. Johnson a purse containing $3 at the Pacific Electric station on April 21, were yesterday sentenced to serve six months in the County Jail and pay fines of $500 each.

OPENED OLD WOUND. Mrs. E. Dussault yesterday filed suit against the Los Angeles-Redondo Railway for $5000 for injuries. She avers that on June 13, 1910, she boarded a car for Culien station and told the conductor where she desired to get off. She says the car was stopped away from the platform and that the darkness caused her to sustain a severe fall. She alleges that she had just passed through an operation and that the wound was reopened in the fall.

GETS PROBATION. A. B. Kieffer, who was found guilty of having obtained money on a bad check, was yesterday given probation for five years by Judge Willis. He will have to report to Rev. A. C. Smithers. Another condition is that he must repay the $80 he raised in a crooked way within six months.

SUES BREWERY. The suit of Henry Geck against the Los Angeles Brewing Company for damages for personal injuries was called for trial before Judge Wilbur yesterday. He was employed as a second cook in the restaurant which the company conducted in the Pacific Electric building. He declares that he fell across the opening. He asks for twenty feet in an elevator shaft because a defective bar was placed $10,000 damages.

LAST LAP. The defense in the suit of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation against the Amalgamated Oil Company for nearly half a million dollars damages for breach of contract began its argument before Judge Finlayson yesterday. It is expected that the case will be submitted in a few days

GENTLEMAN BURGLAR. Harry Knight, who has been called the "gentleman burglar," was yesterday found guilty of having broken into the home of H. R. Kells and obtaining jewelry and silverware valued at $4000. He will be sentenced Saturday by Judge Willis. Knight earned the appellation by his good looks, neat dress and his descent from respectable and well-to-do parents. Proof was made that he had been previously in prison.

SLASHED HIS SWEETHEART. Fleming Pruden was yesterday found guilty of having slashed his sweetheart, Georgia Graham, with a razor, by a jury in Judge McCormick's court. She told him that he must cease his attentions to her unless he cut out drinking, and he retaliated by cutting her.

FIRE ORDINANCE TEST. The appeal of W. H. Clune from a decision of the Police Court, finding him guilty of having violated the fire ordinance by erecting electrical signs, was heard by Judge Willis yesterday. The case was taken under advisement.

MORE JUDGES. Judge N. D. Arnot of El Dorado county and Judge Charles M. Head of Shasta county will preside over the extra sessions in this county in July. During that time Judge Hutton will be on his vacation; Judge Willis will act as presiding judge.

INCORPORATIONS. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by the Beverly Glenn Consolidated Utilities Corporation; directors, C. F. Mears, J. L. Probst, J. A. Willcut, W. A. Jaines and A. N. Lord; capital stock, $50,000; subscribed, $500.

PREPARE FOR TEST.
SMOKE ORDINANCE UP.

At the trial of H. Wyatt, charged with a "misdemeanor," the new city smoke ordinance will be tested in Police Court next Wednesday at 2 o'clock.

Wyatt represents the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, and is charged with having allowed excessive smoke to issue from the chimneys of the plant on Aliso street.

City Prosecutor Eddie will try the case, and has secured as witnesses several persons living in the vicinity. Other cases have been filed under this ordinance, but no attempt to test the ordinance has been made. The Health Department is back of the prosecution.

The Inferior Courts.

LIGHTLY FALLS FINE ON COTTON.

TECHNICALITIES THROWN TO THE FOUR WINDS.

Builder Who Began Erection of Apartment House Under Rules Soon to Go Into Effect Need Not Pay for Violation of Ordinance Since Amended.

The technicalities which have in the past entered so largely into the construction of H. H. Cotton's apartment-house on West Third street were eliminated by Police Judges Chambers and Rose, yesterday afternoon and the sixteen cases pending against Cotton disposed of with uninforced fines.

Cotton began the erection of the apartment-house several weeks ago while an ordinance requiring a common wall for three-story buildings to be sixteen inches in thickness was in effect. An amendment, however, had been passed, which reduced the thickness to twelve inches. Cotton decided that in as much as the building would not be occupied until after the amendment had gone into effect, it was useless to build under the old ordinance.

Complaints were filed against Cotton, charging him with not having secured a building permit. Cotton pleaded guilty in Police Judge Chambers's court about the middle of May, and was fined $20, on two charges.

S. B. Smith, assistant prosecutor, then filed sixteen more, one for each day intervening from the first cases until June 6, when the amendment went into effect.

Both Judge Chambers and Judge Rose held that no injury had been done, and Cotton was not put to further expense.

CONTRACTORS CONFESS.
THIS "TUNNEL" A TRENCH.

Though C. W. Hatch, lessee of the Baltimore Hotel, on East Fifth street, pleaded not guilty yesterday to having excavated a small tunnel from the Baltimore to the Leonide Hotel, on South Main street, near Fifth street, J. H. Proper and Thomas Haverty pleaded guilty, and said they had done the work. Hatch will be tried this afternoon, and Proper and Haverty will appear against him.

According to the latter two, Hatch engaged Proper to dig the trench which in the complaint is called a "tunnel" and Haverty to do the plumbing to connect the two buildings with steam pipes. Hatch is said to have told the contractors that the alley through which the excavation had to be done was a private one. It was later learned that it was a public one, and Patrick Doyle, inspector, had the trio arrested.

Haverty was fined $10, and Proper will be sentenced today.

BACK TO TEPEE.
BEADS SELL BADLY.

Marie Rodriguez, an Indian girl who recently left the San Diego Indian Reservation, to see the world, and sell novelties she had made, promised Police Judge Chambers yesterday afternoon that she would return immediately to the reservation if released from the charge of vagrancy.

The girl did not prosper in the disposal of her wares, as she had anticipated, and when a police officer found her wandering about the streets with no place to go to, he took her to the Central Station to remain until some disposal could be made of her.

She was neatly dressed in a home-made costume, which well displayed her handiwork, and had a wealth of black hair, neatly braided, and falling to her knees.

Go and see the best gravity water system in the entire citrus belt. Our planted groves are being sold on a basis of $400 per acre. The payments may be stretched over a period of seven years. $300 cash will cover the first payment on a five-acre grove, with the next payment on the principal four years later—the balance in yearly installments; $5.00 per month per acre will cover cost of scientific maintenance and also water and interest on deferred payments. With every acre sold is included one share of stock in the Fontana Water Company—easily worth $175 per share. In a few years your grove should be worth as high as $2500 or more per acre, and should yield 15 to 25 per cent dividends. Our property is located in the beautiful Rialto section—an ideal community with all advantages. If desired, grove will be cared for while you remain at your present occupation—or you may enter on your land now and make a good living from inter-culture (planting between trees) until the grove attains maturity. NEW USE FOR WIRELESS.

Wireless service has been established between two great department stores, one in New York and one in Philadelphia. But what we want to know is how mother is going to use the service when she goes up street to match a piece of dress goods?

PITY THE TREES.

It appears to be an era of attack upon trees by fungi and insects of all sorts. It is reported that a fungus blight is killing all of the chestnut trees in New York and Pennsylvania, and the trouble is moving westward. It is a wonder how any tree that was worth anything escaped blight or scale through the tens of thousands of years since trees were invented.

NO MORE POOL EXHIBITIONS.

It is understood in the automobile world that there will be no more exhibitions like the Indianapolis speed show last week, the auto and tire-makers believing that the great outlays required are not justified by the results attained. The fact that recent exhibitions of this kind have been attended by loss of life furnishes another argument in favor of their discontinuance.

NOT UP TO EXPECTATIONS.

Advices from London are to the effect that the American coronation crowds are not as large as there was reason to expect. The hotels are far from having all of their rooms engaged, and house-owners are finding out that they cannot secure prohibitive prices for quarters. This evidently means that thousands of Americans have made up their minds not to throw away their money.

HERE'S AN INNOVATION.

Some good may come out of Nazareth. Mrs. Joseph de Noon of Pittsburgh, moving in the highest circles of that city's social set, has resigned as president of the exclusive New Era Club because, as she publicly declares, a woman's children and husband should enjoy a mother's and a wife's undivided attention. She further says that it is the duty of every woman to devote all of the time possible to her home and family duties, and that to do so one cannot be a clubwoman. The men of Pittsburgh ought to erect a monument commemorating the virtues and good sense of Mrs. De Noon.

PROPHETS.

Many years ago Edward Bellamy wrote a book entitled "Looking Backward," in which he predicted that the continual formation and operation of industrial trusts would result in all of them being absorbed in one great trust consisting of the government itself.

Andrew Carnegie predicts the same thing, and Judge Gary of the steel trust suggests it likewise.

The Times cannot agree with either of these prophets. If the Supreme Court shall rule in the other trust cases as it has already ruled in the Standard Oil and tobacco cases the result will be that small local trusts will take the place of the great trusts. This may slightly increase the cost to the consumer of manufactured goods—and it may not.

NICK BOTTOM AGAIN.

Congressman Boehme of Indiana threatens to deprive Nick Bottom, the weaver, of his prerogative to wag the ears of an ass. The Indiana Representative has introduced a bill providing a fine of $5000 or imprisonment for five years or both "for those who cause industrial plants to be closed down, permanently or temporarily, with the purpose of influencing Congress in matters of legislation."

The government penitentiaries are yawning for the moral castaways of Massachusetts who are now manufacturing woolen shirts. The new woolen schedule may so reduce the prices of woolen undershirts made abroad that the Massachusetts manufacturer cannot pay American prices for labor and continue to make woolen goods. But he must nevertheless continue to make them, even at a loss, for, if he shall dare to close the gates of his factory and bid his spindles cease to hum, off he goes for five years to a Federal bastile.

THE PRAYER OF HAWAII.

The greatest need of Hawaii Territory is a larger citizen population. Her sugar fields are necessarily cultivated with Japanese and Chinese labor. But in the cultivation of coffee, of sisal and of vegetables, fruits, cereals and grasses there is ample opportunity for American farmers. It is the desire of the citizens and authorities of the islands to encourage the incoming of emigrants from the mainland and so promote the development of a community distinctively American in its character.

Such assistance to emigration from the mainland as it was in the power of the Territorial Legislature to extend under the restrictions of the Territorial organic law has been accorded to the extent of bringing in nearly 30,000 Caucasian farmers and farm laborers. If Congress will amend the organic law so as to remove the present restrictions against assisted emigration it would quintuple the Caucasian citizenship of the islands, for there is an abundance of unused available agricultural land there.

The Hawaiian Legislature has petitioned Congress to so amend the organic act of the Territory as to allow assistance to immigrants to be given from the Territorial Treasury. There appears to be no good reason why the Congressional legislation prayed for should not be granted.

THE STORY OF STEEL.

The act of Congress of July 2, 1890, provides that "Every contract, combination, in the form of trust or otherwise, or conspiracy in restraint of trade or commerce among the several States or with foreign nations is hereby declared to be illegal. Every person who shall make any such contract or engage in any such combination or conspiracy shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by fine not exceeding $5000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both said punishments in the discretion of the court.

In the year 1900 Andrew Carnegie, John P. Morgan, Charles M. Schwab, W. H. Moore, John W. Gates, H. H. Rogers, D. O. Mills, with Bacon, Frick and others, organized the United States Steel Corporation with a capital stock of $950,000,000. The new corporation purchased or took over the Federal Steel Company, the American Steel and Wire, the National Tube, the American Bridge, the National Steel and other concerns. Concerning this transaction Judge Gary testified on Wednesday last before the Congressional committee.

"I want to say that from the standpoint of the original cost of the concerns which were taken in and what it would cost to reproduce them at the time, there is no doubt that the United States Steel Corporation was over-capitalized, but from the standpoint of what all the properties were actually worth put together as a going concern, I do not believe that the steel corporation was over-capitalized."

The object of the organization of the United States Steel Corporation was to monopolize the production and sale of iron and steel goods "among the several States." Its organizers created a combination in the form of a trust for that purpose. It was, under the act of Congress, "an illegal conspiracy." It was an open and shameless defiance of the Sherman anti-trust law, and every person engaged in it—Morgan, the art patron; Schwab, the bucker at roulette; Carnegie, the builder of libraries and promoter of universal peace—then and there each took the chances of a year's sojourn in the penitentiary and of being mulcted in a $5000 fine.

The stock of the United States Steel Corporation became the master industrial security on the New York Stock Exchange, and fortunes were made and lost with the swinging of its pendulum.

But, in order to control the pendulum, it was necessary to control the stock market, and the great steel trust found it desirable to avert panics as well as to monopolize the business of making iron pipes.

In 1907 the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company had fallen into such financial straits, through mismanagement and otherwise, that its stock was discredited as a security. The New York banks threatened to throw it out as a collateral. If they should have done so the result would have been to break the great stock brokerage firm of Moore & Schley. That would have produced a panic in the stock market, and United States Steel, common and preferred, would, with other industrials, have gone downwards "hellitisplit."

The remedy was simple. It was for the United States Steel Corporation to buy the property of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company, for which it had about as much use as a steamship would have for a broken-legged mule. But the government of the United States was now busy investigating the original organization and subsequent operations of the steel trust and it was deemed inexpedient by the trust to make a fresh assault upon the Sherman anti-trust law without making the powers at Washington accessories before the fact. This was done, and the consent of President Roosevelt, Secretary Root and Atty.-Gen. Bonaparte having been obtained to sanction, or at least to wink at the transaction, it was made, and the steel trust paid $30,000,000 in its bonds for the property of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company, the appraised value of which was $19,000,000; but what is a trifle of $11,000,000 among friends?

The steel corporation has other irons in the fire. It is engaged in the purchase of 17,000 acres of Pittsburgh and Connellsville coal lands now owned by the Pittsburgh Coal and Coke Company. This is to compel the shipment of coal to Gary, Ind., the creation of which town by the trust was an economic mistake.

Former President Robert P. Hall of the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange charges that the steel corporation "throttles competition through its banking connections; that it earns exorbitantly on its heavy tonnage through collusion of its controlled railroads with other railroads; that the corporation keeps tab on the independents through a spying system, later using banking and freight restrictions and moral suasion as cudgels, if necessary."

That the steel trust will share the fate of the Standard Oil trust and the tobacco trust, so far as being forced to disband and discontinue its predatory operations, is intrinsically probable. It is to be hoped that the beef trust, the sugar trust and other trusts will heed the warning and will emulate the example of the well-bred dog who, seeing preparations being made for kicking him down stairs, got up and walked majestically out.

Some of the trust magnates have pursued their course under the erroneous impression that they were rich enough, and therefore strong enough, to disregard or defy the law with impunity. But that impression is being dissipated. There are several millionaires incarcerated in Federal prisons for violations of Federal laws, and President Taft has illustrated both his sense of justice and his fearlessness by refusing to pardon them.

So far from a rich man having any advantage over a poor man before an American court and jury, he is on the whole at a disadvantage. There have been more fines collected from violators of customs laws under President Taft's administration than under that of any of his predecessors. The Wall street manipulators of illicit "big business" are beginning to sit up and take notice that Uncle Sam is after them.

The Times is in favor of equal and exact justice to all men whatever their worldly condition. If either a multi-millionaire or an I-Won't-Worker violates the law, let him be submitted to its penalties promptly and inexorably. The Times can say with Henry George that "it is not the friend of the rich man and it is not the friend of the poor man. It is the friend of all men who obey the laws and the enemy of all who disobey them."

Numbered Among Our Best.

NEED OF MILITARY STRENGTH

[Review of Reviews.]

In the current number of the Atlantic Monthly there is an article by Mr. John Bigelow, Jr., entitled "If the United States Should Go to War." It analyzes carefully our actual and potential military strength, makes allusion to possible sources of trouble, and shows what might happen in case of invasion. It amounts to a strong argument in favor of being prepared for defense. This country will not be tempted to adopt any programme of military aggression. Its strength will be used to keep peace and order in the world. Military efficiency, far from being a crime, may well be regarded as high statesmanship and national virtue. It is the plain duty of the United States to be so strong and so well prepared that no restless nation in some turbulent or transitional mood might be tempted by our neglect or slovenliness to enter upon a harmful war. If our navy had been more highly developed and our army in better shape fourteen years ago, we should have had no war with Spain. The Cuban question could have been settled by negotiation, and our responsibilities in the Philippines need not have been assumed. It is to be hoped that Mr. Stimson will hold firmly to the view that high military efficiency on the part of a pacific country like ours involves no threat of international war, but, on the contrary, is an added guaranty of international peace. The great policies of Mr. Root as Secretary of War enormously improved our military efficiency, and Mr. Taft as Secretary of War followed along the same lines. The subsequent contributions of Mr. Root as Secretary of State toward the progress of peace and arbitration were in full accord with what he had done as Secretary of War. Mr. Root, Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Taft and Mr. Knox have all rendered the most distinguished and world-famed services to the cause of peace among the nations. Yet they have all advocated strength and efficiency in our army and navy and our coast fortifications.

A Starter.

One day an old farmer borrowed a mule from his neighbor; after he had finished his work he sent his 14-year-old boy to take it home. The boy had gone about a half a mile when the mule stopped and positively refused to go any further. After the boy had almost pulled his arms off, trying to get him to go, an old doctor came along, and asked: "Why, my son, what is the matter with your mule?"

"Why, sir, can't you see, he has balked," cried the boy.

"Well," said the old man, opening his case and taking out a bottle labelled "Carbolic Acid," "we'll see what we can do for him," and he poured some of the acid on the mule's back, and in much less time than it takes to write it the mule was galloping down the road at a rate he had never gone before.

The boy looked up in surprise, and said: "Doctor, have you got any more of that stuff?"

"Yes," answered the man.

"Well, doctor, are you sure you have got a whole lot more of it?" he asked.

"I think I have plenty. What did you want to know for?" he asked with a smile.

"Well, I wish you would pour some on me, doctor, for I've got to catch that mule," answered the boy.—[National Monthly.

How They Work It.

Col. John H. Carroll, the big St. Louis railroad lawyer, came out of his hotel in Washington the other day, red in the face and thumping the sidewalk vigorously with his cane.

"What's the matter, colonel?" asked a friend who met him.

"Matter?" replied Carroll. "Why, it has got so now in these hotels that it costs more for tips than it does for food and room. This morning I sent down a pair of shoes to be cleaned. The boy brought up one shoe, and a few minutes later another boy appeared with the other shoe—and each expected a tip!"—[Saturday Evening Post.

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.

Are you full of grief, my neighbor, full of grief and woe? Shed your raiment, then, and labor, and your cares will go. Is your bosom torn asunder, that you thus repine? Friends of mine who work like thunder haven't time to whine. Idlers stand about me weeping, men with empty hands; and the happy men are reaping o'er the fertile lands. Life's a thing of cruel rigor for the shiftless knaves; kind for men who work with vigor, not as galley slaves. Foolish your complaint and wailing, foolish are your tears; work's the cure for all your ailing, and your griefs and fears. Work at anvil or at throttle, saw your pile of wood! Never bought you in a bottle remedy so good! Work, on land or on the ocean, go and cut some grass! Never was there pill or potion that was in work's class! Work's the solace for the mortal by life's ills distraught; it will make him sing and chortle, it will hit the spot! Be you statesman, soldier, bard or tiller of the soil, if you're tired of work, work harder! Nothing heals like toil!

LORIMER AND THE Y.M.C.A.

In the Congressional Directory, the list of Washington addresses of Senators is mostly a catalogue of fashionable residence streets and pretentious hotels, until you come to William Lorimer of Illinois; opposite his name is the address "Y.M.C.A. Building." Probably it would be questionable taste to allude to this fact, if Lorimer's friends hadn't done it first, and if Lorimer himself did not persistently make political capital out of this and other church connections. Senator Bailey of Texas, in his speech defending Lorimer, said:

". . . He never touches liquor of any kind; he does not swear; he does not gamble; he does not indulge even in the small vice of using tobacco; his home life is as clean as a good woman's; and while many of those who assail him were reveling, he has made his home when in Washington with the Young Men's Christian Association."

It is always best to try not to get excited about anything that happens in Washington, but the impudence of the cant and hypocrisy of this, on the part of both Bailey and Lorimer, is difficult to swallow without strong feeling. Lorimer is as evil an example as the United States has ever seen of that type of boss who, by ostentatious acts of religion and charity, gets the confidence of the unsophisticated, of the unsuspecting, and of the poor, and then betrays their fundamental interests to the great corporations that exploit them. Perhaps the most pathetic fact about the poor in the great cities is their inability, because of their prejudices, their lack of experience, and the complexity of that freemasonry of business and politics which preys upon them, to choose good leaders, to know which are deserving of their confidence and which are stool-pigeons of the corporations. Few men have done more than Lorimer to keep the poor in poverty and make impossible the spiritual expansion which is the first concern of religion.—[Mark Sullivan in Collier's for June 10.

For Graceful Shoulders.

A Philadelphia beauty model says:

"There are things that make the shoulders look irregular and that rob them of their grace.

"One of these is to sit with one hand upon the hip. It destroys the line of beauty.

"Another is to lift or shrug the shoulders; nothing else so distorts them.

"A third thing that is very disconcerting to the shoulders is to sit unevenly upon a chair, resting one shoulder only against it.

"Easy exercises for making the shoulders graceful are these:

"Sit for five minutes each day with the hands clasped back of the neck.

"Lift the chin straight upward; draw back the elbows. Then lower the elbows and let the hands lie in the lap, still with the chin held up in the air.

"Walk in the open air with the shoulders thrown back. It is an excellent thing for the figure."

MOTHER OF SONG.

Mother of Song, I have found you—in faces of women fair,
In the smiles of little children, in bright flowers unaware,
In the lines of haggard wretches, in the savage creature's stare—
Mother of Song, in my dreaming I have found you everywhere.

Of old I was mad for beauty as a treasure to possess,
To have and to hold was measure in full for my happiness,
But something of nature's largess, something of urge and stress,
Over the tide of persons swept where never the one might bless.

Life's sea with its troubled waters made a plaything of my soul,
In vain I steered for a haven with another for my goal—
Over my head the deep waters, and into my heart the dole—
And the one in the many answered, and the one paid the many toll.

Full soon I knew that each chalice held but a drop of the wine,
And that the loveliest faces held but a trace that was thine;
Ah, then, O Beauty, I found you—O Muse, O mother Divine!
The search for the many ended in the One forever mine.

Theosophy and the Fourth Dimension.

The majority of us are like brutes. We believe but in the reality of things. Science, more hospitable, acknowledges the fourth dimension, and with it the constant parade before our eyes of things and events ordinarily unseen. The phenomena of delirium tremens form a case in point. The shapes which the layman believes the patient only imagines are really seen, and are rendered visible through the excitation of the pineal gland, which now is the rudimentary organ of what once was psychic vision. Alcohol stimulates this gland. The drunkard in his aftercups sees with it the hideousness of shapes which his own hideousness has attracted to him. For they are there, or rather they are here, about us in the fourth dimension, precisely as there are other shapes as gracious as these are revolting. Only, ordinarily, we do not see them. There are, though, those who can, and do, and without being drunkards, either.

Thinkers as sober as Jevons and Babbage go a bit further. They will, if you let them, tell you that whatever occurs in the privacy of a room remains photographed in it. A mere extension of this enables oculists to say that nothing has ever occurred anywhere which is not also photograpaed; that in the ether above us is the great picture gallery of the world.

In India, at Adyar, the chef lieu of theosophy, this gallery is constantly being studied. The results, occasionally bizarre, are sometimes trivial. It has been found that Herbert Spencer was Aristotle; Gladstone, Cicero; Tennyson, Ovid.—[Edgar Saltus, in the Forum.

Earth's Winding Sheet.

As dust was the beginning, so shall it be the end of all things earthly. It is the cosmic undertaker of the ages, and silently, resistlessly and eternally it has performed its function. The proudest monuments built by man, the Sphinx, the Pyramids, the Colossus of Rhodes, the Gardens of Babylon and the glories of Grecian art have either crumbled to the dust whence they sprang or have been buried deep in its winding sheet. So far as human grandeur is concerned, even "imperial Caesar, dead and turned to clay, might stop a hole to keep the wind away!" No one knows how many Londons or Jerusalems there have been. Excavations into the dust on which these cities are built reveal the relics and remains of former cities which once flourished and were mighty, but were finally entombed in the course of untold centuries by the gradual but immense deposits of dust and debris. When Macaulay's New Zealander shall muse in profound melancholy upon the shattered remains of London Bridge, he will behold a vast battlefield, where half-buried columns and desert sands shall proclaim the final sovereignty of dust.

The mighty Himalayas, whose snowy summits have as yet defied the foot of man, are slowly crumbling into dust, and the lofty peaks of the Andes are splintering, fragment by fragment, until they, too, shall become clods of the valley. Every wind that blows "soft o'er Ceylon's Isle" carries away in tiny dust particles some of its beautiful hills and vales. Every brooklet trickling down the rugged mountainside bears part of a continent to the sea. Every year the Mississippi River carries down to the gulf little motes of matter, river-worn dust, amounting to over 7,500,000,000 cubic feet. In 3500 years the Mississippi cuts down its entire basin one foot, nor as the mean height of the continent is only 2000 feet, were the process to go on uninterruptedly, North America would be reduced to the sea level in about 7,000,000 years. When we stop to consider what the other great rivers of the globe are doing, such as the Nile, the Yang-tse-kiang, the Yukon and the Danube, we can appreciate in some measure the everlasting waste that is eating away great continents, and foresee the inevitable supremacy of the Kingdom of Dust.—[J. Gordon Ogden in the Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Professor's Text-books.

Strange as it appears, professors accustomed to teaching students are frequently poor technical writers, and the books which they produce are sometimes of little value, notwithstanding that, as teachers, they may possess considerable ability. There are, naturally, exceptions; but, taken as a whole, the text-books turned out by professors leave much to be desired, and it is doubtful whether students derive much benefit from many of them. In the first place, professors are busy men, and the books which they write are turned out in spare moments. Their manuscript is a kind of repetition of the blackboard work, and it rarely happens that one finds that any attempt has been made to make the subject the least interesting. On the contrary, the most that is usually attempted is to lay down the facts in black and white, and the reading of such works quickly becomes tiring.—[F. Ashley in Cassier's Magazine.

"He is what you might call an adroit man?"

"Decidedly—his sins never find him out and his debts never find him in."—[Puck.

But his fingers were crossed behind him.
He'd kissed but his mother and sister, by dad—
Yes, his fingers were crossed behind him.

But her fingers were crossed behind him.

NELLIE MONTGOMERY DEAD.

Locally Renowned Musical Comedy Player, Wife of Charles Fischer, Leaves Son But Few Days Old.

Old age, the grim and hateful witch which forever waits around the corner for every pretty actress, can never come near dainty Nellie Montgomery—Mrs. Charles Albert Fischer. She is banned forever, for Mrs. Fischer, beautiful and young, is dead.

Mrs. Fischer died at the Sisters' Hospital at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. She leaves a baby boy but a few days old.

In the days when Fischer's little theater on First street was one of the most popular of the town's smaller places of amusement, E. A. Fischer's son Charles was head box-office man, and Nellie Montgomery was the bright particular star whose smiles and sweet voice attracted dollars to that box office.

Miss Montgomery and young Mr. Fischer became very good friends. The company went to San Francisco, Mr. Fischer accompanying it in an executive capacity. The marriage of Mr. Fischer and Miss Montgomery, which took place in St. Vibiana's a little more than a year ago, did not come as a surprise to their friends.

Mrs. Fischer was a soubrette of the most successful type, and was a splendid dancer.

Her sister, Miss Anna Montgomery, is a member of the Grand Opera-house company. Mrs. Fischer has not been seen on the local stage for about a year.

Though the funeral arrangements have not yet been completed, it is probable that there will be a short service Saturday morning at the chapel of Cunningham & O'Connor, followed by ceremonies of a more elaborate nature at the old Plaza Church, after which interment will take place in Calvary cemetery.

General Superintendent Platt of the southern district of the Southern Pacific, and a number of other officials, will return today from a tour of inspection of the lines from Los Angeles to El Paso.

Notice to Travelers.

Local train via Salt Lake Route from Los Angeles at 7:15 a.m. makes all stops to San Bernardino. Train leaving at 8:55 a.m. will stop at Barstow, Hudson, Fallon, Reno, Naud and Collins.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Do Not Want to Vote.

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] My attention has been called to an article in a recent issue of the Express, stating that "though the elusive anti-suffragists were asked to speak at the meeting of the Ministerial Union on the 22d of May, no speaker appeared, no word was sent, no excuse given," etc.

It was explained in the morning papers tat the time that the mistake was due to the fact that May having five Mondays this year, the meeting fell on the fourth Monday—not on the last, as we had been informed. Our speakers were ready for "the date which had been so graciously given over to us," as we were told. They will be ready for the last Monday in June, also "graciously given over" to us.

The anti-suffragists have no intention either of "retiring altogether from the field," or, "because of the endorsement given to suffrage by clubs and associations," of "reconstructing their arguments" as to the desire of women to vote. Not even "the burning eloquence and thrilling address by which a boy of 13 is firing Los Angeles suffrage audiences to enthusiasm," have convinced us that we should retire.

In many cases the endorsement of clubs means nothing as to the opinion of the whole club, only a minority of the members being present. This is true, for instance, of the Ministerial Union. The indifferent and apathetic, in organizations or out of them, can not be considered as "demanding the ballot." If the question could be, or could have been, submitted to the women of California, the women voting for suffrage being counted against those opposed and those indifferent, the actual "demand for the ballot" could have been measured; we should now be able to make something besides assertions on both sides, as to majorities and minorities; and men would be able to vote in October, knowing and regarding the wishes of women. This, in short, would have been justice not what the suffragist calls justice, for this "when analyzed is found to be only the asumption that each human being has a right to whatever any other human being possesses," only justice pure and simple.

But the suffragists at Sacramento made it impossible to leave it to women themselves even by a straw vote. The suggestion to do this has caused a panic, first, last, and always, since in the Massachusetts referendum of 1895 only 4 per cent. of the women of voting age voted for the ballot. Hardly 2 per cent. of the women vote on school matters where they have the right to do so. Facts like this are more convincing than 13-year-old "burning eloquence."

The Reverend Lyman Abbott says in The Outlook of April 3, 1909: "In Massachusetts, New York, Illinois, Oregon, recent movements for woman suffrage have been defeated because of the opposition of women. In at least eleven other States similar defeats may be justly attributed to similar opposition. That women vote in States where they possess the suffrage, proves only that they will conscientiously endeavor to fulfill any obligation that is imposed upon them. . . . The great body of silent women have until recently been without representation. The majority of these silent women pay as little attention to the advocates of woman suffrage as they would to the appeals of a recruiting sergeant in time of war, seeking to form a regiment of amazons. They are so averse to public life that they will not even publicly protest against an endeavor to force them into public life."

Here are some statistics from a Los Angeles morning paper of April 29th or 30th:

At Friday's bond election the Pasadena branch of the Political Equality League caused a straw vote to be taken at each of the election booths, in order to get some idea as to the popular feeling in the city, regarding woman's suffrage. At each booth a register was kept and each of the 3445 voters was asked whether he favored woman's suffrage. If so his name and address was taken. Those who stated they were not interested were allowed to "move on." A careful count was made of the registered names, and it was found that 977 of the 3445 voters are in favor of woman's suffrage and will vote for Constitutional Amendment No. 8 on October 10 next. The suffragettes are somewhat disappointed, but they say they still have hopes of carrying Pasadena, unanimously, next fall and will concentrate their entire efforts in that direction. However, there are 2004 registered voters, in the city, who did not vote, yesterday, and the suffragettes believe that each and every one of these are "with them."

These 977 votes out of 3445—284 in every thousand—is not exactly "unanimous," yet Pasadena is called a hot bed of suffrage!

A committee—selfappointed, I am told—of the Ministerial Union, says of suffrage: "It is of God. It is holy." This is a strong and strange assertion and, unsupported, is somewhat difficult of belief. Will they prove it by their guide, the Bible? If not, what is their authority? St. Paul has been for many years differently interpreted by their own order. Dr. Tanner assured an audience recently that if Christ were on earth today, he would fight boldly for woman suffrage. He did not mention his authority.

Is anybody supposed to accept these bold statements as arguments?

Pianos Built and Sold are Grands

This is a most significant fact.

As far as we know, no other manufacturer has exceeded the 50 per cent. mark.

This is a wonderful record but it is especially noteworthy when you remember—Mason & Hamlin pianos are the most expensive pianos on the market—they are not sold with automatic players built in them—catering and selling thereby, only to musicians and people of the utmost discrimination as to tone and general excellence.

The Mason & Hamlin piano, like no other depends solely on its artistic merits for the wonderful success it has achieved and is, achieving.

YOUTHS ARE LOST IN DESERT SAND.

Los Angeles Boys Fail to Follow Pathfinder.

Phoenix Scouts Reach Yuma After Hard Trip.

Tires Are Melted by Heat of Nature's Furnace.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

YUMA (Ariz.) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Harvey Herrick, who won the Los Angeles-Phoenix automobile road race—in a Kissel Kar was somewhere far out on the Arizona desert tonight hoping to rescue the two Los Angeles boys who were lost in an effort to reach Agua Caliente when the E.M.F. pathfinder left Phoenix, Wednesday to map out the route for the automobile race.

Vernon Sweesy of Los Angeles undertook to follow the car. With him was Johnny Sibira of Phoenix. Both boys are seventeen years of age. They were accompanied by Lloyd Christy, secretary of the Arizona Territory Fair Commission. When the E.M.F. thirty with La Casse at the wheel and with George Purdy Bullard, president of the Maricopa Automobile Club, rolled into Agua Caliente, 95.2 miles from Phoenix, the crew of the Pathfinder anxiously watched for the other car.

In a little while, A. W. Ballard of Phoenix, in the Kissel Kar reached the desert town. With him was Dr. H. H. Stone, referee of the Phoenix race. They reported having seen the two boys many miles from Agua Caliente. After waiting until 2 o'clock this morning Herrick volunteered to go in search of the lads who were far out on the sands. A big Apperson Jack Rabbit belonging to L. M. Hoegee, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, was one of the cars which was driven by Hoegee to Agua Caliente with the E.M.F. as pilot for the first part of the new run. Hoegee offered his car and Herrick started out into the desert to find the lads.

Fifty miles from Arlington and only a short distance from the former Phoenix road race route, the two boys were found in a dry wash, with the lights of the car burning. They were thoroughly frightened and had lost their way completely. Herrick found the car disabled and brought them in with the Apperson. He reached Agua Caliente at daylight this morning and then returned for the car which the frightened lads had left on the desert, saying he would follow the E.M.F. to Yuma. There is no trace of Herrick or the two boys tonight, but as Herrick is with them it is almost certain they will reach Yuma either tonight or tomorrow morning.

Herrick has had no sleep and nothing to eat since Wednesday night. This evening at 7 o'clock Bill La Casse and the E. M. F. reached Yuma after one of the hardest runs ever undertaken over the desert route.

ROAD LOST.

The E.M.F. lost the road early this morning and instead of being driven the 112 miles from Agua Caliente the car has covered 145 miles and the route has been mapped here after a hard battle with desert trails. When far from the course this morning an Indian riding a pony pointed to a cathedral rock formation more than 100 miles away and said "Yuma, him there."

La Casse showed his nerve. Dr. H. H. Stone and Bullard were both in the car. Instead of worrying because he was off the trial La Casse turned and made straight for the rocky cathedral and drove over the old Mohawk Indian trail. It was a memorable run and the car was sent

PAPKE DEFEATS JIM SULLIVAN.

BRITISH CHAMPION UNABLE TO COME UP IN TENTH.

Fighter Beats the Boxer In Big London Music Hall—American Does Fearful Execution at Short Range—Right Uppercut to Jaw Does Trick.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, June 8.—Billy Papke, the American middleweight, tonight took the measureof Jim Sullivan, the middleweight champion of England, in nine rounds of fast fighting.

Again it was the fighter against the boxer, and the fighter won with ease. The contest was for the middleweight championship of the world, a purse of $10,000, and a side bet. It was held in the Palladium, one of London's noted music halls, before a large crowd.

Throughout the fight was a gruelling one. Sullivan proved the cleverer at long range work, but Papke excelled at in-fighting. There was much clinching and hitting in the clinches, and the referee, Eugene Corri, had difficulty at times in separating the men. He warned Papke twice.

Notwithstanding that the fight had been advertised as "America against England," Papke ruled a strong favorite at odds of 3 to 2 and 2 to 1.

Sullivan showed nervousness when he climbed into the ring, but after a few rounds seemed to recover confidence. For a time he was able to stand off Papke, who roughed it from the beginning, cleverly dodging slashing swings of the American, which, had they landed, would have ended the fight.

Sullivan used his left and right with good judgement, but without affecting the stamina of Papke, who was able to take unlimited punishment.

Toward the close of the ninth round Papke landed a savage uppercut which put Sullivan to the floor. He took a count of five, and, when the bell rang, staggered blindly to his corner.

When the call for the tenth round sounded, Sullivan was unable to stand up, and Corri awarded the fight to the American amid great applause.

The fight was considered a draw with Clabby holding the edge for his cleverness.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The American Olympic Committee has just received a report from Prof. W. S. The full programme and order of events will be received here within a month.

An important decision arrived at in the Budapest conference was that every effort has been made to keep the two representatives of the same country from competing against each other in the same trial meet. It was voted that all participants of any country must be either native born or fully naturalized.

HEARNE WINNER AT ALGONQUIN.

SIMPLEX SECOND AND THE NATIONAL THIRD.

Case Car Skids and Frightens Crowd of Speciators—Two Machines On Side-lines Crash and Dislocate Woman's Shoulder—Drivers of Small Cars Win Glory.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ALGONQUIN (Ill.) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]Eddie Hearne, in his Benz car, plucked the Algonquin trophy in free-for-all today. The Simplex was second and the National third. It proved to be a neck and neck race between these three cars, Hearne doing the two hills in a total of 47 2-5 s.

Just before the close of the programme hundreds of spectators who had clamored to the top of Phillips Hill received a scare when Jaggersberger in his Case machine, skidded off the road and almost into the crowd.

A few moments prior to this four spectators from Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Branstetter and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Jackson, narrowly escaped serious injury when the machines driven by Mr. Branstetter and Mr. Jackson collided. All escaped injury except Mrs. Jackson who suffered a dislocated right shoulder.

Save for this mishap and the scare caused by the skidding of Jaggersberger's car the race was marred by no accident. The two hills were used in the racing events in which were five classes and fifteen divisions, according to the size of the motors and the price of the cars.

The morning climb was up the special hill built recently by citizens of Algonquin and the afternoon climb was that of the long Phillips Hill. Summaries of free-for-all:

Unusual Stunt.

FINE TRIPLE PLAY STARTLES FANS.

Wolverton and Wares Retire Tigers in Jig Time.

Stewart Never in Danger of Being Trimmed.

Flater Touched Frequently at Unlucky Moments.

BY GREY OLIVER.

Vernon, 7; Oakland, 2.

For the second time in the season the big crowd of fans saw a triple play yesterday, and if Harry Wolverton had cared to exert himself he could have made this rare stunt himself. As it was, he required the help of Shortstop Wares of the Oaks.

This was the big scream of an otherwise uninteresting game, which the Tigers won with little effort, for they slammed Flater all around the lot. The Oaks had all kinds of woe trying to do things to Stewart, and but for Demon Maggert they might have been shut out. He tried to knock a home run over the center fence in the sixth inning with Pfyl on first base, and only failed because the fence was twenty feet high instead of ten.

This fine triple play that Wolverton made possible, wound up the eighth inning for Vernon, and in three seconds, with two men on bases and none out, the side was retired.

Flater pitched for the Oaks and was nothing to brag about. In seven innings the Tigers had made seven runs and ten hits, and he started the eighth by walking Carlisle, the first man up. With the second pitched ball to Kane, he hit the little fellow on the arm just as Carlisle was stealing second.

Then, with two men on bases Patterson hit a hot liner into Wolverton's hands at third base. Without a moment's hesitation Wolverton threw the ball to Wares at second and he stepped on the second bag, forcing Carlisle, who had started to third on the swat. Just at that time Kane had reached second from first, and Wares touched him with the ball, completing the fastest triple play the fans will probably ever see on the local park. The work was so speedy that Kane had not settled on second base before he was out, while if Wolverton had thought a moment he could have dashed to second and made the final two outs himself.

There was little else to the game worthy of special mention. Stewart was at his best, for the Vernons had made four runs and four hits before any of the Oaks had been able to get to first base, even. The first twelve men to bat were easy outs and the first swat came in the fifth with one out, when Zacher lammed the ball along the third-base line for a single. Wolverton followed with a similar hit, but the next two men popped out to Hosp.

In the sixth with one out Pfyl hit to right and Hoffman fanned. Then it was that Maggert tried to knock the center fence down with a powerful smash high up on the boards, that Carlisle jumped for but could not get. Pfyl easily scored from first base on this, and Maggert tallied a moment later, when Zacher beat out an infield single. That was all they could do, for none of them could get to first in the last three innings.

FLATER IS EASY.

The Tigers found Flater a very easy proposition and began on him in the first inning. After Carlisle had flied to right, Kane and Patterson beat out infield singles, Kane going to third on Patterson's tap. They worked a double steal and Kane scored. Stinson bounced a fielder's choice to Flater, who threw the ball to third and it was heaved to second and Patterson beat it back to that bag. Then Flater filled the bases with a pass to Hosp and Patterson scored on McKune's out at first.

A pass to Carlisle, his steal, Mitze's wild throw to second and Patterson's sacrifice fly to right, scored Carlisle in the second. Stewart's triple to left and Carlisle's sacrifice fly to Zacher scored Stewart in the fourth. Doubles by Stinson and Hosp and Burrell's single made two more runs in the fifth, and three singles and Stinson's steal scored the final run in the seventh. It was all very easy and the only question was as to how many runs the Tigers could make.

The big fielding stunt of the game was Burrell's fine running catch of Cutshaw's foul to the grand stand fence in the fifth inning. He ran at top speed to the stand and, sticking his hands over the low railing, grabbed the ball out of the stand, a great burst of cheers greeting this really wonderful catch.

Patterson created some excitement in the fifth inning by running to the Tiger bench and diving into the pit in the effort to get a fly fouled off by Mitze. The majority of the plays were good ones, but the score was so top-

FLAME LICKS UP TOMMY SEATON.

Delhi Tightens Up When Hits Mean Runs.

Howard Sneaks Home On Murray's Bad Throw.

Daley's Triple Scores Bernard in Third Inning.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Flame" Delhi outpitched Tommy Seaton before a record-breaking week-end crowd at the Vaughan-street lot today and the Angels similarly outplayed the Beavers, which resulted in a 4 to 2 victory for the visitors.

Both pitchers were hit rather freely, but the Angeleno curve artist had the Beavers on the hip when the matter of a run or two might have given Portland the lead.

The Angels got after Seaton in the second inning and put the first run across, though it was practically a gift on the part of Seaton and Murray, Portland's battery men.

Howard, the first man up, caught Seaton and Sheehan napping and beat out a bunt. Metzger sacrificed, and when Peckinpaugh tossed Delmas out at first, Howard reached third. Seaton did not care to chance a hit from Dillon and walked the Angel leader. With two out, instead of playing for the batter, Murray tried to catch Howard off third and when the toss hurtled into left field, Howard scored the first run.

In the third, after two were out, Bernard singled and Daley tripled against the right field wall, scoring Bernard. A double by Delmas and Grindle's hit tallied another in the fourth, and in the ninth the Angels put the fourth run across by working the double steal on Murray with two men out once more.

Portland put a run over in the fourth and might have tallied a flock of aces if Krueger had not taken a nap off second and allowed himself to be caught by Delhi.

Rodgers opened this inning with a single and Ryan's out sent him to second. Krueger then laced a fast one through the infield which tallied Rodgers, and Bill Rappe's single to right put two Beavers on and only one out. Krueger then forgot to set the alarm clock, and Pete Daley made a great catch of Sheehan's hard drive, which deprived Portland of that chance to even up matters. Murray beat out an infield tap in the fifth and scored when Chadbourne uncorked a three-bagger to left.

COBB HAPPY WHEN BASES ARE FULL.

Ty Cobb, the Detroit American star outfielder, is a peculiar fellow—peculiar in everything. Most ball players like to bat when the bases are empty, when nothing depends on their showing. They claim that when not working under a strain they can always do better. Cobb, of course, is just the opposite. He likes to step up to the plate when the sacks are filled. Contrary to general opinion Cobb claims he can always do his best when something depends on his performing. Ty's logic is pretty good at that.

"I find it easier to hit the ball with the bases occupied," says Tyrus. "The pitcher is worried, the infielders are guessing, and when you do hit the ball the flying baserunners rattle and disconcert the men who are trying to handle it.

"With men on base I generally lay for the first ball the pitcher hands over. It's dollars to dimes that if he can lay that first one straight over the pan he'll do it, and I soak quite a few of them. The majority of batsmen will pass up the first ball, no matter if it cuts the plate in half, but you'll never get this boy overlooking one of that kind. Nine times out of ten I go to the plate prepared to tickle the first ball if the pitcher lays it over."

Fists to Fly.

THREE CONTESTS ARE IN PROSPECT.

Two Real Battles Promised in Next Six Weeks.

Winner of Tomorrow's Meeting to Get Coster.

Kilbane Has Promised to Show Here in July.

Arrangements are practically completed for two boxing contests in addition to the bout tomorrow afternoon, that should supply the fight bugs with all the entertainment they can want in the scrap line for the next six weeks. All are in the featherweight division, and in the fall may come a championship fight here with Abe Attell, if he holds his honors until that time.

Beginning with the Rivers-Dixon contest tomorrow afternoon at the Vernon arena, Manager McCarey intends to match the winner with Coster on the afternoon of July 4, and the winner of that fight is to be matched with the winner of the Kilbane-Patsy Kline fight, that is to be staged here the latter part of July.

Here is a trio of fights that cannot be beaten in the entire country for all-around class, and no city in the fight belt can promise anything better. Rivers, Coster and Kilbane are well known here, and particularly Rivers and Kilbane, while Coster has a rep that is not to be sneezed at.

Dixon and Kline are unknown here in the line of actual observation, but on past performances are about all that can be desired. If Manager McCarey can stage all of these bouts successfully, he will certainly be deserving of a lot of praise. Kline and Dixon figure that they have just as good a chance as any of the other feathers, and as they have willingly entered this elimination series they certainly possess enough merit to warrant them in having a chance.

The Dixon-Rivers bout tomorrow promises much in the way of excitement. Dixon does not see how he can lose, and Rivers thinks he will have a cinch. When two boys go into the ring feeling this way, there is bound to be a good scrap, and the bugs can assure themselves of such a one in advance. Both finished their training yesterday, and their respective managers declare they are down to weight. Dixon played handball yesterday for half an hour, and boxed three light rounds with Jimmy Austin, while about all the work that Rivers did was four rounds with one of his sparring partners. Jack Davis and Young Kaufman may do a little work today, but as they do not have to make weight they will probably take life easily. The main-event boys are to make 122 pounds at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Fred Hamann and Tommy Love, 4 rounds, bantams.

Jem Percy and Herb White, 6 rounds, lightweights.

Jack Davies and Young Kaufman, 10 rounds, heavyweights.

Joe Rivers and Tommy Dixon, 20 rounds, 122 at 10 a.m.

O'ROURKE'S FINE BATTING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

OAKLAND, June 8.—Timely hitting by the Senators combined with errors on the part of San Francisco gave the game to the former today by a score of 5 to 2.

O'Rourke, second baseman for the Senators, batted in three of the five runs and the other two were presented by the San Francisco players as the result of bad plays.

In the seventh Arellanes split one of his fingers and was forced to give way to Fitzgerald.

...from the Jeffries-Johnson ...there has stirred up any ...or comment over the ...the Ryan-Morris show.

And as the time approaches for this battle—July 4—the interest is bound to increase.

Morris is the leading "White Hope" and Flynn is the "king bee" of the tried-out fighters. The latter's victory over Kaufman put him so far ahead of the other contenders that he is in a class by himself, in the eyes of the fighting public at least.

Personally I have never taken Flynn's victory too seriously although I have never said much about it. I think today that Kaufman in shape is a better fighter than Flynn in shape.

Those who know Carl Morris and have seen him fight, especially the well-posted fight critics—say he is sure to win over Flynn unless he gets stage fright. Flynn is so far outclassed by the Sapulpa engineer in physical make-up that it seems almost out of the question for him to knock the big fellow out. Why, even Jeffries would look small at the same ring with the Oklahoma Casey Jones.

There has been an idea existing in the minds of the fight followers for a long time that Morris is a fighter in physical proportions only, but the fact is that he has always been looked upon as a tough nut and in the early days on the railroad he was more of a heavyweight king among those that knew him than Johnson is today in the fighting world. But Morris always had many friends because the battles he fought with his bare fists were generally for others and not for himself. This probably accounts for his great following in Oklahoma and is the basis for the faith the people have in him down that way.

The crowd that will see the Flynn-Morris battle is bound to be big. I don't think it will be as large as the crowd that saw the Jeffries-Johnson battle in receipts, but it will be watched by more people. I look to see a $50,000 gate at least.

If Morris does win and decisively he will be immediately proclaimed the white champion of the world. But he will not be anxious to meet Jack Johnson for a long time yet. I met his manager the other day and he said there would be no hurry to match his man with the big black smoke if he won July 4, as there was plenty of time.

It is interesting to hear the way Flynn has lined Morris up. He doesn't take him half as seriously as Morris takes himself and he says that size doesn't mean anything and points with a great deal of pride to the discrepancy between himself and Al Kaufman. The Pueblo fireman says that he would sooner see a big fellow fall than a little man and that furthermore he will show the public that Morris is a rank false alarm who never should have been classed as a real heavyweight.

Flynn will take no chances and be in the best physical condition of his life. He expects to work up to the situation gradually and finally; when he establishes his training camp down in Oklahoma he will be several pounds heavier than when he faced Al Kauffman.

Carl Morris is already at work training for Flynn. The main duty of his associates is to drill into his mind that he can whip Flynn in any old condition, but to make the outcome a sure thing to get in fine physical shape.

Morris never lets a day go by without boxing several rounds and if he were a wooden Indian he would soon be able to fight with the efforts that are being expended on him. No fighter probably ever had so much favorable influence thrown around him as has Morris.

...right," and the pin boys had no time to rest. It is anybody's tournament yet, as all the boys are in a bunch.

What would the Harding Colts have done without George on Tuesday night? The new acquisition to the team was there strong. He won the last game for his team against the Cedar Brooks on Stinson's alleys by knocking down 241 pins in the ten frames. With this score, the Colts nosed out the Cedar Brooks by only fourteen pins. The other two games were taken by the Cedar Brooks with all ease.

Monday night, while rolling in the ...ten-pin tournament now in progress ...at the Orpheum alleys, Doig chalked up a total of 154. This is a new record for both the alleys and the present tournament. A 154 score in any diminutive pin game is away above the average and Doig's record should stand for some time.

A movement has started by certain members of the American Bowling Congress against the lop-sided ten-pin ball. A lop-sided ball is one that is heavier on one side. Some call such a sphere a "freak," because of the peculiar hook or curve it takes for different bowlers. Here is food for a little thought. The 1912 tournament of the Western Bowling Congress is coming to Los Angeles. Shall or shall we not bar the lop-sided pill?

The College Inns short-lined it to Venice last evening, and slipped the Ship Cafes a two-to-one beating, and incidently piled up the excellent total of 2852. This is the high score for the week in the Southern California tournament, and is within twenty-seven pins of the league record, which is held by these same College Inns. The Inns lost the second game by the small margin of one pin. Tupper of the Inns getting but six pins on a spare in the tenth frame, while Nigg of the Cafes struck out from the ninth.

The Orpheums have certainly run into two snags this week. Tuesday night they dropped two out of three games to the College Inns, and Wednesday night the Woodill-Hulse took two out of three from them. This is quite a shock to Henry's boys, as they were going along pretty nicely. The two games lost to the Woodill-Hulse team were by just two pins and four pins. The teams were shooting about the same game, and the very last ball decided the victors in each case.

Valuable Pets.

GOLF CAPTAINCY OR VALUABLE PETS? LATTER MRS. FRANK WOOD'S CHOICE

Mrs. Frank Ogilvy Wood,

with seven of her Blenheim spaniels from the Duke of Marlborough's kennels. Their pedigrees for thirteen generations are in the possession of their owner.

MRS. FRANK OGILVY WOOD, who has just resigned from the captaincy of the ladies' golf team at the San Gabriel Country Club, excuses herself on the plea of being unable to give golf matters the attention they demand.

And since Mrs. Wood's family has increased so amazingly within the last two years it is scarcely to be wondered at. She enjoys the distinction of possessing no less than eighteen valuable dogs, seven of them being pedigree Blenheim spaniels from the Duke of Marlborough's kennels. Also ten Angora and Persian pussy cats, thirty-five canaries and finches, a few hundred odd an rare guinea fowl, dove, game fowl—and a parrot. Also, until their late demented decease, there were two small monkeys.

All the eighteen dogs and several cats are wont to greet all visitors to Woodhurst, and it's the dickens of a welcome. The fact that all their pedigrees from the Ark to date are in Mrs. Wood's sacred possession is poor consolation to the nervous ones among us. Still, it must be better to die of pedigreed rabies than the common kind.

Lord Bobs, Princess, Queenie, Maybee, Spottiswoode, Dearie, Nobby, Piggy, Little Brother and Little Sister, Sunny Jim and Buster Brown enjoy the utmost freedom, jumping all around and all over their fond mistress at will. Also all over the lovely old colonial furniture and the priceless rugs, leaving cruel and indelible marks in their wake.

But Mrs. Wood loves dogs more than furniture, any day. Why, every one of those spaniels has a pedigree equal to anything in Debrett's—was not their father the "Duke of Wellington" and their mother "Queen Victoria?" Portraits of their ancestors for thirteen generations grace the walls of the baronial hall in close proximity to Mr. and Mrs. Wood's own family miniatures, and the ancient documents testifying thereto are valuable family heirlooms.

Mrs. Frank Ogilvy Wood, nee Rebecca Walm Tutt, sixth in descent from John Mason, 1670-1730, with a grandmother third cousin to George Washington, and herself a Colonial Dame sans peur et sans reproche, knows the value of pedigree, and all the little Woods, animal, vegetable or mineral, must have one or be forever a rank outsider.

CRACK SWIMMERS TO GATHER HERE.

The Pacific Coast swimming championships are to be held here September 8-9. Wallace Robb, president of the Southern California Swimming Association, has received assurances from the Northern Pacific Athletic Association and Pacific Athletic Association, which, with the Southern Pacific Athletic Association, form the Coast department of the A.A.U., that they will cooperate in holding the tourney in the South this year.

Yesterday Robb wrote to President Sullivan of the A.A.U. for a sanction for the competitions and under the agreement that has existed for several years regarding the holding of the annual meets, there is no reason why the sanction should be refused.

The northern divisions of the A.A.U. have promised to send their best representatives to compete in the events. The winners in the various races will be Coast champions for the year 1911-1912.

The tourney will be held at one of the beach resorts. Robb is negotiating with the managers of the plunges at Venice, Long Beach and Redondo, regarding the matter.

FORTY PINK IMMORTALS.

NO. 5. "MANNY" LOWENSTEIN.

THE bunch sat gossiping in one of those places where the bunch is usually to be found of a hot afternoon. They were talking about a certain person who did not happen to be very popular with any of them.

"As nice a little gentleman as ever slit the throat of a friend," said the genuine fiend.

"Kind of a guy that is first into a restaurant and has to go to the 'phone when he sees the waiter coming with the check," added the pea pool pirate.

"Louse—common, low down louse," contributed the silk hat.

Others according to their vocabulary, dropped their little mites.

"Well, there's one thing, boys, you must admit he has good taste in neckties." This from a hitherto quiet corner.

You get just one guess who it was spoke last.

Yep—that's him. Mannie Lowenstein. Mere force of habit on his part.

Manuel's specialty is knowing actors. He has a personal acquaintance with every actor and actress who ever crossed the Rockies.

George Cohan asks for Mannie before the clerk shows him his room. Tim Frawley used to send for Mannie every time the Sheriff attached the scenery. Nat Goodwin weeps on Mannie's bosom with nearly every new divorce; not every one, of course, because Mannie has to have a little leisure time in which to make a living.

By constant association with stage favorites, Mannie has become a human press notice. He tells them what they always hope the hard-hearted critics will but what they never do.

When he talks about mere acquaintances Mannie is complimentary—when he converses of friends he grows enthusiastic—but when he speaks of boon companions he transcends the ordinary forms of speech and breaks into song.

And that's how Mannie came to be a poet.

Manuel Lowenstein nearly caused an international controvery by being born in Germany some forty-odd years ago (no, Clarice, he doesn't look it, but he told me himself.) His father was an American citizen who went over to Germany to marry, and lingered there a couple of years after the ceremony. Mannie arrived, and the Kaiser was just congratulating himself that this "little friend of all the world" was to be one of his subjects when the Lowenstein family packed its trunks and sailed for Los Angeles, arriving here some forty-odd years ago as aforesaid. So it is Mannie's proudest boast that while he had the advantages of foreign travel at an early age, he is, was and always has been an American citizen. (Stage directions—enter chorus singing "Hail Columbia" and waving American flags.)

This is the real reason for the boostfulness of Los Angeles. There is enough spirit of boost in Mannie to vaccinate the whole town, which he apparently did sometime in the seventies. His motto is, "If you can't boost, lie about it and boost anyhow." Beside him Frank Wiggins is a stammering, luke-warm falterer and the average real estate agent a knocker. The framers of language showed foresight unspeakable when they invented the word "optimist," for it never really was needed until Mannie arrived on the scene.

And so he started writing songs. A man who writes songs has got to have optimism in every atom and pore. Quite a few have found their way to the market. Joe Montrose and Phil Kaufman furnished the music, but that's merely an incidental, for anyone could write music to Mannie's rhythmic lines. The latest is called "Wake, Baby Eyes of Blue," which will be out soon.

Now anybody who has mixed with the bunch in Los Angeles for forty-odd years (I believe that is the period I mentioned,) then go into retirement and write a song called "Wake, Baby Eyes of Blue" and still go up and down the line and not get the eternal nannie guyed out of him by the bunch (heretofore mentioned and alluded to,) then that person can reasonably be said to have made a pretty sizable impression upon society at large and the Philistines in particular.

Mannie is now busy on a comic opera in collaboration with Bill Stoermer (librettist) and Phil Kaufman (composer) which Sam Harris and George Cohan have promised to look over when it is properly incubated. (Incubated, I believe, is the word, as the tentative name of the opera is "The Golden Pheasant.")

Of course Mannie doesn't write songs for just money.

Now get me, I said for "just money."

He writes 'em first because they're inside him and if he doesn't get them out the right way they're liable to break out all over him like hives or poison oak, and he'd have a sonnet plastered on each cheek and a quatrain on the back of his hand, and that's no way for a man to go around town. But having written them, he doesn't refuse compensation of a monetary kind.

But what I was getting at when I said he didn't write for just money was that he has a flock of mines somewhere or other, and every few days he sells one, or something like that, and there is great rejoicing along the boulevard.

And then Manuel Lowenstein goes out and dashes off another song.

BALLOON ENTRY.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Another entry in the national balloon race of July 10 has been received by the Aero Club of America, the entrant being J. H. Wade, Jr., of Cleveland, O., who will pilot the Buckeye in the contest. Mr. Wade was in the national race of last year, which started at Indianapolis, and was third in respect to distance, covering 371 miles. He was chosen as one of the members of the international team, but was unable to take part in the event.

CHANCE FOR BERRY.

CINCINNATI (O.) June 8.—The National Baseball Commission today decided to allow John H. Doscher, once well known as a pitcher for the Brooklyn and Cincinnati Nationals, to play ball with a national agreement club the rest of this season. Doscher, in his application for reinstatement, declared he is without means and that his family will suffer if he is not allowed to play.

Great Idea.

PERCY BRONSON'S SUFFRAGETTE COPS.

Great Scheme Gets Him in Wrong With Grand.

Divergent Ideas On Who Should Boss the Gallery.

Comedian Wants a Follies Girl Guarding Stage Door.

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

Percy Bronson is in bad.

Most of us had an idea—what with seeing Percy's shining Grand Opera-house contract sticking out of his pocket—that he was in right, but it is his genius that has made him go wrong.

The other evening Mr. Bronson and Manager Lew Spaulding were conversing, gentlemanly like, in the lobby, when the house policeman signified his intention of resigning in a very uncouth manner, to wit:

"Pal, I'm goin' to blow me job. I got two beans comin', so slip 'em, an' I'll douse me star an' git back to the bakery wagon."

With a little Con Ryan conversation Mr. Bronson endeavored to persuade the valiant officer to refrain from departure, but the argument was useless.

"De candy kid's always pickin' on me, an' I can't stand it no more. So here I goes. See?"

And he went.

"That," said Lew Spaulding, "is the sixteenth policeman we've had since the opening here last October, and I'll gamble we have twenty-nine more before the old man (meaning, without disrespect, Ferris Hartman) gets back."

"My idea of a house policeman," said Mr. Bronson, "is a handsome young man who appreciates a soft job, and who is stationed in the green room for the chorus girls to entertain while not on the stage. The only time he leaves the green room is when trouble of any sort arises. Then it is his cue to beat it down street—fast."

"I'm tired of house policemen," said Spaulding. "They're nothing but ornaments, anyway."

"Leave it to me," concluded the resourceful comedian, "and I'll settle your problem for you by tomorrow morning."

So it was left to him, and gladly and expectantly the tired box-office awaited his dope.

They thought he was serious.

He wasn't.

And that's why he's in bad.

Bronson's scheme requires, first of all, that he be appointed captain of the force.

The force to consist of:

In the gallery, a severe suffragette, not under 50, not good-looking enough to attract even an elderly man looking for a home, not less than six feet in height, weighing not more than 195 pounds, and having voted in not less than ten elections in the State of Colorado. Uniform, as voluminous as possible.

In the balcony, someone between old-maidhood and youth—not too attractive.

In the orchestra floor some one recruited from the 'teen ranks.

As guardian of the stage door, a "Follies" girl, uniform, as brief as possible. Vera Maxwell or Florence Gardner please write.

Mr. Bronson's scheme further delegates Lew Spaulding to oversee the gallery cop, while he himself will make a regular round of the lower floor, with headquarters at the stage door.

And that's where the fly fell into the Chesebrough.

MATCH FOR CURLY.

"Curly" O'Connell, the feather-weight, who has been wintering at the Van Nuys, where he kept in perfect training "smashing" babbage, rushing up and down stairs, in addition to doing some gymnasium work at one of the local athletic cubs, has left for Murrietta Hot Springs, where he will finish his training for a bout in Salt Lake City on July 4, when he meets "Jimmy" Reagan at 122 pounds, ringside. O'Connell has with him George Mackie, one of the fastest featherweight amateurs in Southern California, who will soon go into the professional ring.

YOUTHS LOST ON DESERT.

over a route an auto has never touched before.

La Casse went back to the point where he had lost the road. In order to do so he was forced to drive to the foot of the rocky dome. The heat was terrific. It is said that it was more than 110 degrees on the sands which were so hot that the rubber tires were melted. When it was found almost impossible to proceed because of the heat on the tires, Middle Wells, an oasis in the desert, was reached and water was poured on the outer casings.

Friction water bags carried on the car were filled with water and at intervals the precious fluid was poured over the rubber to keep it from melting. When the route blazers were almost exhausted the North Star Mine was reached and a better road was located along the mesa. This was chosen as the route for the big road race and, again the E.M.F. was whirled back to the course and the route was marked officially by Bullard, who represents the Automobile Association of America, under whose auspices the race is to be conducted. One of the incidents of today's trip came when the car was lost far out in the sands.

An Indian tepee was reached. Bullard had placed three oranges in the tool case of the E.M.F. when he left Phoenix. Two little Indian girls were given the hot oranges. The babies did not know what they were. They had never seen an orange and one tried to crack the fruit and the other tried to string it as a necklace. They could not be induced to eat the oranges.

BIG YUMA RECEPTION.

This evening the citizens of Yuma turned out in force to greet the E.M.F. pathfinder, which raced down the main street covered with dust. Hundreds of Yuma citizens thronged the car as it was brought to a stop. This evening a banquet was given in honor of District Attorney Bullard and Dr. Stone. The citizens of Yuma gave the feast. Mulford Winsor, Immigration Commissioner, was toastmaster. Business men of Yuma raised $500 here tonight as a prize for the first car which reaches Yuma. The route taken today is to be carefully marked and the official chart of the route was given to the Race Committee here by Bullard.

Yuma is certainly one of the liveliest towns in the West. The work of the E.M.F. today has been remarkable; it was driven fifty miles from the North Star Mine to Dome in two hours. This is over the only good stretch of road mapped out thus far.

WHITE BEATS BENEDICT.

NEW YORK, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sailor White stopped Al Benedict in the third round of their ten-round bout at the National Sporting Club tonight. In this round, after both exchanged rights, White slipped to the floor. Benedict unintentionally struck him as he was on his knees. White arose and landed a hard right to his opponent's jaw and sent Benedict down for the count.

When are the Interurban League officials or members going to decide on the protested games in that league? Some of the games shown as won by the Venice Cubs have been protested, and, as this team is up near the top, the matter should be settled one way or the other. It would appear that the rules have been violated, and, if so, the games should not be counted in their standing any longer.

A Wonder.

HORDE OF BOYS BESIEGES TANK.

EASTERN SWIMMING EXPERT IS HANDLING SEVEN HUNDRED.

Corsan Is to Give Exhibition at Y.M.C.A. Tonight in Which He Will Demonstrate Fifty Different Styles of Swimming—Has Taught Forty Thousand Persons.

H. H. Corsan, the expert swimmer, who is teaching the Grammar School the human fish, who is teaching hundreds of boys to swim at the Y.M.C.A. by a novel method.

H. H. Corsan,

boys of the city to handle themselves in the water at the Y.M.C.A., is to give an exhibition for men in the tank tonight. Corsan undoubtedly has taught more men and boys to swim than any other instructor in the country. He and his father have instructed 40,000 persons in the art of swimming.

Not only has the younger Corsan traveled all over the country giving lessons, but he has won wide renown on account of the methods which he uses. Of the boys and men he handles, he teaches about eighty per cent to swim in two short lessons. To do this he has a system all his own. Contrary to the familiar idea that swimming can only be taught by the "breast stroke," he asserts that although that method is almost universally used, it is absolutely a wrong one by which to teach boys to swim.

Corsan has given lessons to 700 boys this week. Today he will start over again with them and give each his second lesson. In the lessons yesterday he said that the "association crawl stroke" is the best stroke with which to teach swimming, and he always uses it. It is a combination of the Australian crawl and the alternate double overarm stroke. Corsan asserts that the breast stroke does more harm to a swimmer's future than any other stroke. It leaves a tendency to draw up the knees and a twitching that is very difficult to overcome.

In starting in with a class, and he handles about thirty-five boys an hour, Corsan gives a general talk on swimming and demonstrates out of the water the way in which to use the arms and legs. He then selects a boy, gives him "wings" and sends him into the water. The wings keep the boy afloat and he is shown how to use his legs and arms. The actions are criticized to the whole class. All the boys are then given a chance. Many say "it is easy." A few of the most promising pupils are tried out without the wings at the end of the lesson and many of them find they can go a few strokes.

In the second lesson real swimming begins. It is then that Corsan handles the boys with a master hand and only a small percentage are unable to at least swim across the tank when he is through with them. At Worcester, Mass., he taught 2500 boys in one week.

Corsan has fifty different styles of swimming and tonight he is to demonstrate each one of them. He will also give a demonstration of life saving. The Y.M.C.A. swimming team will perform several stunts.

He is touring the country under the auspices of the International Committee of the Y.M.C.A. of New York. His expenses are defrayed by the various associations at which he gives lessons, for which the boys are charged nothing. He will remain at the local Y.M.C.A. during the remainder of this week.

Every boy who has learned to swim the length of the tank will receive a sterling silver Y.M.C.A. pin, which is given by Mr. Pratt of Pratt Institute, New York. More than 30,000 of these buttons were awarded last year and more than 5000 in the last three months.

CONNIE MACK FEARS DETROIT SCRAPPERS.

Connie Mack fears the Tigers. Connie gives out an interesting interview about his own team and the Tigers, as follows:

"Never before in the history of big league baseball has a team started with such a rush and obtained such a lead as the Tigers. We have to respect the Tigers because of their lead despite the fact that the season is still young. They got off to a good start a couple of years ago, only to have their lead cut down, but eventually won the pennant. Still, Jennings's team didn't have the big lead that season that he has right now.

"A combination of things prevented us from winning our share of the games at the start. Right now, though, everybody is in shape, and we are playing as we should. The pitchers are commencing to show their real form and the hitters are meeting the ball in good style."

Mack is relying on the same players to win this year's pennant that took the world's championship from the Cubs last fall to do his fighting in the 1911 race. "Lefty" Russell is the only one of the young pitchers picked up who is being carried as a regular.

TERRIFIC SPEED WITH AEROPLANE.

[Associated Press Night Report.]

PARIS, June 8.—L'Auto estimates that Vedrine, the winner of the Paris-to-Madrid race, whose proper name is Jules Vedrines, attained the prodigious speed of 155 miles an hour on Tuesday, when he covered the 77 5-10 miles separating Dijon and Saint Laurent-les-Macon in thirty minutes.

The paper quotes the aviator as saying he was pushed by a wind so violently that at times he flew with the tail of his air machine perpendicular. He also encountered wind pockets that caused his machine to make frightful drops, sometimes dropping 900 feet in a few seconds. Vedrines suffered only through the strain on his eyes.

HAVE SCORED HEAVIEST IN BIG TRACK MEETS.

Statistics Covering Events of Last Sixteen Years Show Sons of Eli Have Amassed More Points Than Pennsylvania, Which Has Won the Most Meets and First Places.

In comparing the results of the intercollegiate track meets from 1895 up to 1910, it is interesting to note the consistently high showing of the Yale teams. In all but one of the sixteen years Yale has scored twenty or more points. In this time Yale has won the meet five times, been second four times, third six times and fourth once.

Prior to 1895 Harvard won eleven times and Yale four. Cornell before this year was victorious three times. Pennsylvania has won oftenest since 1894, her most brilliant record being four consecutive victories from 1897 to 1900. In these years the highest scores of the meets were made, 59 3-4 winning in 1898 and 57 in 1899. Harvard has won three times in the last sixteen years. The most closely contested meet was in 1903 when a margin of half a point gave Yale the victory over the Crimson.

Yale has won forty-three places, Harvard, thirty-eight, and Princeton, eighteen, while Pennsylvania is ahead of all the three with forty-eight. Yale has never been able to win the two-twenty-yard dash or the mile; the hundred yard dash, the quarter, the half, and the two-mile have all been won once, and the broad and high jumps twice. The high and low hurdles, the shot-put, and the hammer-throw have been won each three times. By far the best showing by Yale has been made in the pole vault, in which Yale has captured first place in eight different years, with three men tied for first in one of them.

Records have been broken frequently in the last ten years, the average being about four or five a year. The pole vault record has been raised almost a foot and has been broken eight consecutive times. The time for the two-mile run has been lowered four times, that for the quarter three times, and for the mile twice. Three broken records in the shot-put raised the distance for this event to 46 feet 5½ inches, prior to Horner's new mark this year.

The total scores made by the colleges from 1895 through 1910 give Yale first with 443 8-15 points, Pennsylvania second with 426 7-12, Harvard third with 382 41-60, and Cornell fourth with 220 1-4. Princeton is a close fifth with 206 2-3. Despite Michigan's new appearances she has a total of 75 2-3. The scores are as follows:

Yale	443 8-15
Pennsylvania	426 7-12
Harvard	382 41-60
Cornell	220 1-4
Princeton	206 2-3
Syracuse	100 5-6
Michigan	75 2-3
Georgetown	50
Columbia	43
Dartmouth	34 1-5

Cornell's track team amounted to next to nothing in the earlier years of the meet, but after the advent of Jack Moakley as trainer the Ithacans advanced steadily to their present premier position.

In the evening frocks the wrapped tunic dominates entirely.

This year the linen bathing suit promises to be much worn.

Silk braids are still in vogue for the dressy tailor-made costumes.

Hats are trimmed with cabochons set with brilliant oriental jewels.

The sleeves of nearly all of the bathing suits are made elbow length.

The striped straw which has been so popular has already lost its charm.

White buckskin pumps and slippers have crisp little bows of black satin.

In evening and afternoon wraps three-quarter sleeves are much in favor.

Many afternoon frocks have their bodices of contrasting material and color.

Foulard is combined with serge for the "trotteur" or convenient walking dress.

Lovely are the bigs of white velvet decorated with narrow stripes done in black beads.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY SYDNEY FORD.

The official programme for the forty-ninth annual convention of the National Educational Association which comes off in San Francisco next month is at hand and it is interesting to note how prominent a place some of our Los Angeles women have.

Mrs. O. Shepard Barnum is president of the Department of School Patrons and Mrs. F. W. Force is acting secretary. Miss Adele Humphrey is the new chairman of education for the California Federation and is working with Mmes. Barnum and Force who are sending out letters to all clubs to co-operate.

Mrs. O. Shepard Barnum.

President of the department of school patrons of the N.E.A., which convenes in San Francisco next month. During its sessions this department will have headquarters at the St. Francis Hotel.

In response to a request from the president of the N. E. A., Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, who by the way, is a personal friend of Mrs. Barnum, a committee has been appointed by Mrs. Barnum to ascertain conditions and formulate a plan whereby volunteer organizations can best assist in improving the health conditions of school children, and this School Health Committee it is believed will arouse teachers and school patrons to a realization of the necessity of having a body of specially prepared teachers to present to the children of the country the essential facts of personal and sex hygiene. Another important committee of this department is that on revenue for school purposes.

The Department of School Patrons will have several sessions during the convention, at one of which Supt. J. H. Francis will speak and Luella Clay Carson, principal of Mills College, who so recently spoke before the Friday Morning and Ebell Clubs here, will also have a place on the programme.

Other Los Angeles teachers who will appear on the programme at various sessions include Everett Shepardson, of the Normal School; Miss May Gearhart, supervisor of drawing in the Los Angeles public schools; Miss Etta P. Flagg who will tell of some actual needs for intelligent purchasing of household commodities and practical methods for keeping household accounts. Mrs. Johanna von Wagner of the City Housing Committee, who will speak on the care of school buildings; Miss Ethelwyn M. Flagg, librarian of our Polytechnic High School; James A. B. Scherer of Throop Institute, and William R. Snyder, principal of the Hollywood High School.

Among the women of note who will be heard from is Kate Stevens of North Islington Central School, Tollington Park, London, Eng., who will speak on present problems in English education, and also on industrial education in London. Helen Louise Johnson, associate editor of Good Housekeeping, will also be heard on the requisites of effective teaching in manual and household arts, and Katherine Devereaux Blake, principal of public schools in New York, will speak on peace in the school.

The Federation of School Women's Clubs have established social headquarters in the Sequoia Club rooms where informal receptions will be held every afternoon.

The convention opens July 8 and the opening general session will be held in the Greek Theater on the State University grounds at Berkeley.

Six Thousand Girls Lost.

At a parlor conference at the home of Dean and Mrs. William MacCormack at No. 732 South Burlington avenue last Wednesday afternoon the work of the Travelers' Aid Department of the Y.W.C.A. was placed before the women assembled.

Mrs. L. A. Ross is chairman of this department and Mrs. W. H. Smith, who is secretary, read her annual report of the work of the deaconesses who are stationed at the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railway depots to meet the transcontinental trains as they arrive, and to lend assistance to travelers who are ill or bewildered.

During the past year over 700 such people have been helped and befriended and 1300 have been directed to their destination. Many foreigners arrive here with no more definite directions than simply that their destination is Los Angeles; friends whom they expected to meet them, fail to be on hand when the train arrives and, unable to speak English the strangers are thoroughly bewildered.

Miss Pratt, one of the deaconesses, was present, and told some of her experiences—the help rendered a widowed mother with seven children, all under ten years of age—and other pitiful cases.

Miss Ella Stevers, one of the Y.W.C.A. secretaries, told about the plan advocated by Miss Grace Dodge concerning this department of association work at the recent Biennial in Indianapolis whereby a great committee is to be found—Catholics, Jews and Protestants uniting—in a crusade for the protection of young women who come to this country, many of whom are lost sight of.

The startling revelation was made that last year, 6000 young women disappeared from sight and of this number, 1800 between New York and Chicago. It is planned to arrange with the railway companies operating between these two great cities to place deaconesses on the train to look out for such travelers. Miss Stever reported that this travelers' aid department of association work was conceded to be the most important of any of the many forms of service discussed at the Biennial. It was shown there that Europe takes better care of its traveling public in this respect than we do, and a great effort is to be made to bring about a reform. A new Y.W.C.A. secretary was appointed for Ellis Island to meet incoming girls and see that they are sent to their proper destination.

Mrs. Ross pointed out that, with the completion of the Panama Canal, the need for this work at our own doors will be greatly increased. A travelers' aid bureau will need to be established then at San Pedro. The association is able at present to support but two deaconeses in this work, although a third at the Salt Lake Station is needed. It requires $30 a year to maintain a deaconess at the station and provide the emergency fund necessary to carry on her work, and this department of association work is entirely dependent upon voluntary contributions. One of the Y.W.C.A. clubs of business women pay the rent for a rest-room adjacent to the Southern Pacific Station, the association itself pays $5 per month for the support of the work, and the Young Women's Auxiliary of Immanuel Presbyterian Church pays $2 per month—otherwise no financial provision is made for this vitally necessary work.

What a happy idea it would be for other home missionary societies in the various churches to follow the example of these Immanuel young women and pledge a certain sum per month toward keeping up this work. A few such subscriptions would solve the problem, and it would be a gracious act on the part of the young women of Los Angeles to thus throw protective arms about their less fortunate sisters who arrive alone, bewildered and often ill, in a strange city.

Woman's City Club.

The women who mothered the Woman's City Club are gasping for breath. Two weeks from the day of organization the club has 500 members enrolled. The originators of the movement felt that women were interested in civic questions and in city government. But they expected that it would be necessary to "demonstrate" their purpose and effectiveness before the club became a popular movement. They were totally unprepared for the young giantess they now have on their hands. It is now surely demonstrated that the women of Los Angeles are ready to listen to talks on civic subjects—when they are given the opportunity.

The club has been started on a thoroughly democratic basis. There are no restrictions or requirements, except the payment of $1 for the first three months' dues. The women who have enrolled themselves have not been invited to join. They have come in a steady stream, saying that they read about the City Club in the papers and they thought it was just what they wanted. While many of them belong to the various women's clubs of the city, a very large proportion state that they have never before belonged to a woman's club. Many of the city teachers are included in the membership, although the Board of Managers has not yet been able to give them any assurance that the meetings can be held on Saturdays, so that teachers can attend.

Quarters have been established in a suite of rooms on the sixth floor of the Chamber of Commerce building, and the secretary, Mrs. Bridgham, can be found in room 605. It is anticipated that a sitting-room and rest-room may be fitted up for the use of members and that this may become the much needed downtown quarters so long desired by the business and club women of the city. The fact that the American Woman's League and the Parent-Teacher Federation have headquarters in the same building, brings a very large number of women daily into this vicinity. Just at present almost any woman in the city can be found at some time during the day some where about the Chamber of Commerce building.

The luncheon next Monday will take place at the Westminster. Members will receive notice and must make reservations by post. No lunch reservations will be held after 12 o'clock.

Supt. J. F. Francis will be the speaker next Monday and will explain to the women something of the plans of the School Board for expending the $1,700,000 in bonds just voted. That the Woman's City Club should be keenly interested in the welfare of the city schools was to be expected and they feel that they are fortunate in being able to secure Supt. Francis as their speaker.

COAT COLLAR WHITE WITH DANDRUFF

Scalp Badly Affected. Itched Terribly. Hair Fell Out. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Now Has Thick Growth of Hair and is Never Troubled with Any Dandruff or Itching of Scalp.

"I am more than gratified by the successful results I obtained by the use of the Cuticura Remedies. For several years my scalp was very badly affected with dandruff and scales. My scalp itched terribly at times and my hair fell out. My coat collar would be actually white with the dandruff that had fallen from my head. My profession being that of a barber, I was particular about having my hair in good condition, and was also in a position to try many lotions, etc., for the scalp. These had little or no effect. I had heard so much about the Cuticura Remedies that I resolved to try them. I shampooed my head with Cuticura Soap twice a week and after drying my head thoroughly, I anointed parts of my scalp with Cuticura Ointment. I was pleased from the outset, and continued to keep up this treatment. To think that only three cakes of Cuticura Soap and one and one-half boxes of Cuticura Ointment rid my head of this annoying trouble, made me feel quite contented. I have now got a thick growth of hair and I am never troubled with any dandruff or itching of the scalp. There is no question but that the Cuticura Remedies cured me. I frequently recommend them to my customers, and they think a great deal of them." (Signed) John F. Williams, 207 Norfolk Street, Dorchester, Boston, Mass., July 28, 1910.

This Time He is a Los Angeles Contestant---L. O. Lieber, Electrical Engineer and Popular Fraternal Man, Makes Strong Bid For Leadership---Jumps to Fourth Place in a Day---Harry Miehle of Riverside Goes to Eighth Place, In The Los Angeles Times Greater Contest

The big race for the $12,000 capital prize in the Los Angeles Times Greater Contest is becoming very interesting among the first half dozen in the list. Yesterday brought forth another surprise, when L. O. Lieber, who has been in the contest not quite a week, came to the front with enough points to put him in fourth place with a total of 19,743.

Mr. Lieber is the electrical engineer with the Huntington railways, with which corporation he has long been popularly and successfully connected. He is president of the Street Railwaymen's Recreation Club, and is prominently identified with several fraternal organizations.

Mr. Lieber is another one of the hard fighters who is in the game to win, and it looks very much as though it were going to be a very close race, as all of the leaders seem to be not only good workers but exceedingly popular.

The sudden jump from down the list to near the top by several of the contestants during the last few days, demonstrates how easy it is to go right to the front. It only takes a few subscriptions to count a few thousand points, and a few thousand points makes a vast change in the relative standing of contestants. You can do it just as easy as the others are doing it, and if you are not in this contest now, FILL OUT THE NOMINATION CERTIFICATE AND ENTER AT ONCE.

Tomorrow at noon the second week for the special prizes of $25 to male and female contestants will close. It is impossible from the present score to form any idea as to who will get these prizes this week, for the way the schedule has been changing, it is anybody's prize until the final count at noon Saturday.

The contestants out of the city have been going very strongly, the last few days, and some of those who are known to be good workers have not been heard from for a time long enough for us to reasonably suppose that they have a good many points which they are holding to turn in later. Some of those in Los Angeles are also remaining very quiet until the time comes to turn in their weekly score tomorrow.

So we are looking forward to a lively hustle, between this hour and noon Saturday in the general effort to win the week's prizes.

DO NOT OVERLOOK THE PRIZES FOR JUNE, which are shown in the table on this page. These prizes amount to $300 in six awards, so that three male contestants and three female contestants will participate in the order in which their total subscription points foot up at the end of the month. All of your points this week apply on the month, and all the points for the month apply on the grand total, so those of you who have not entered the contest can readily see the magnificent opportunity still awaiting you.

Do not delay another day, but get into this contest while it is in its young stages. It is not difficult to get business for The Times, and all that is required of you is a reasonable amount of intelligent effort for a little while each day.

ABORITE BOSSES IN FUTILE RALLY.

TALK OVER SITUATION IN HALF-HEARTED WAY.

General Strike Committee Discusses Grievances of Idling Carpenters and Structural Workers. Bosses from North Expected to Arrive Today.

The dismal failure of the so-called carpenters' strike and the general discontent among the idling union laborites who have failed to respond to the hammering of the labor bosses of San Francisco, resulted last night in a meeting of the General Strike Committee when the situation in this city was discussed. The grievances of the structural ironworkers were also taken up, but in neither case was a definite conclusion reached.

The muchly-touted carpenters' strike, which was launched here on May 1 by the union labor bosses of San Francisco, is no more. Upon feathery wings it has glided into the dim distance where rest the filmy remnants of other short-lived strikes and labor disorders created by walking delegates who have tried again and again to unionize Los Angeles.

For weeks past the ranks of the strikers have been decreasing in large numbers. Every method known to the union-labor bosses was employed to stiffen the backs of the journeymen. They were coaxed, advised and urged to remain in line. This, however, failing, threats were used and finally curses. Even this failed to keep the laborers from joining the open-shop movement.

As one journeyman expressed it: "We were sick and tired of having union-laborite bosses coming down from San Francisco and telling us what to do in the present dilemma. It was enough for the bosses to spend the money that we contributed, for booze and riotious living. To force the iron collar upon our necks, however, was another thing."

As a result of the discontent that has arisen, a meeting of the General Strike Committee was called last night and the whole proposition discussed.

The dissatisfaction among the carpenters was the principal topic discussed. They do not like the outlook. They argue that it is better to be earning $3.50 a day under the open-shop schedule than to get $7 a week strike benefits, with no ultimate hope of succeeding in forcing the union on the contractors. At present, there is a great deal of building going on in Los Angeles, and the ring of hammers wielded by free-workers is galling to the idle unionites.

So great has become the feeling of discontent among the carpenters that less than 100 of the original 500 strikers are now drawing benefits. The officers are working for contractors who believe in the open-shop principal.

With the local Carpenters' Union depleted to a shadow of its original strength, the laborite bosses are trying drastic methods to stiffen the backs of those remaining. The strike, however, as far as the local situation is concerned, has ceased to be an issue. The contractors have been getting all the men necessary, and scores of carpenters, who believe in the open-shop and a fair chance for all, are coming to Los Angeles.

In keeping with other futile efforts to cripple the contractors, local union-labor bosses have notified every union official in the East, North and Middle West, to keep carpenters away from Los Angeles. The order, however, failed to effect the situation. Though a large number of carpenters were attracted here by the increased opportunities for work, the number was not out of the ordinary. The strike was only a couple of weeks old when the union men began to return to their old places and day by day the number increased.

So alarming has the situation become that a delegation of "Reds" from San Francisco will arrive in Los Angeles today, and do big talking. It is a rally without any real heart in it.

VERDICT ON SCOTCH ORDER.

Justice in Suit Over Dress, Finds for Woman, But Saddles the Court Costs on Her.

Justice Forbes was called upon yesterday to decide the relative values of two pieces of cloth produced in a damage suit.

The suit involved a dress which Bertha Kronchito stated had been lost by P. Romeo, a tailor, after he had been engaged to alter it. She stated that when Romeo came to the conclusion that he had lost her dress, he made another for her and charged $9.

Romeo testified that he had made a dress of better material than the one he lost, and that was why he was obliged to charge $9. Miss Kronchito denied this, and Romeo submitted pieces of both materials to Judge Forbes. The latter admitted that his eduction in the textile industry had been sadly neglected. He returned judgment, however, for the defendant, but ordered that she pay the court costs, amounting to $6.

HIGH TRIBUTE TO EVANGELIST.

MANY PASTORS LAUD MEMORY OF REV. GRAVES.

At Impressive Funeral Service, Attended by Representative Baptists, Dr. Burdette Delivers Touching Eulogy Over Body of Dead Minister, Whose Life Was an Example.

Representative Baptists of this city and Southern California were present yesterday at the funeral of Rev. A. P. Graves, whose sad end at the Hawthorne apartments, No. 434 West Twentieth street, last Sunday afternoon, was keenly felt by many. The services were held at Berean Hall, in the Auditorium building, at 2:30 p.m. Interment was at Rosedale.

Upon the rostrum from which the dead minister had often spoken, sat the pastors of many of the Baptist churches of Los Angeles and near-by places. Dr. Robert J. Burdette paid a tribute to the memory of the old touching tribute to the memory of the old evangelist, who had preached in every State in the Union. He said, in part:

"Among the many texts marked in his Bible, which now lies upon his breast, written on his heart, and graven on his memory, dearly he loved the opening paragraphs in the third chapter of the epistle to the Colossians: 'If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ is, seated on the right hand of God. Set your mind on the things that are above, not on the things that are upon the earth. For ye died, and your life is hid with Christ in God.'

"And this was the life he strove to live day by day. He kept his mind on the things of the kingdom. He imitated the speech of the saints of old. When he met you on the street, you said 'Good morning.' He cried in greeting, 'Hallelujah.' A salutation of unchanging cheer and worship, 'Praise ye Jehovah.'

"For sixty years he lived the Christian life. For nearly half a century he preached the gospel of life, of truth, of righteousness. Forty-four years of that time he was an evangelist—lifting his voice in the wilderness of sin, like the cry of the Baptist preaching the gospel of repentance—the coming of the kingdom. In eight hundred towns and cities he preached Christ. He exhorted men to repentance. He turned men from their sins. He reclaimed the drunkard. He restored the outcast. He taught the liar to speak the truth. He clasped the hands of the thief. He purified the lips foul with profanity. He brought the joy of Christian living onto broken homes. He set the feet of the profligate and the harlot into the paths of righteousness. He knelt beside the penitent with prayers that strengthened his soul. He sought out the friendless and desperate, and taught them the love of the great Elder Brother of all mankind. He carried the light of the truth of God into places of darkness. He replaced blasphemy with praise. Where he found superstition, he brought faith. With love in his heart he conquered hate. He preached the Fatherhood of God, the brotherhood of man. He was mighty in prayer. How he loved to pray. How he loved to seek out the lost, the wretched, the poor, that he might bring them to the love of God, the consolation of the gospel, the best companionship of God's people. Passing through the valley of weeping, he made it a singing fountain of joy. How splendid was his faith. Always he saw the day star trembling above the hills, bringing on the perfect day. Always he sang of triumph; always he saw the coming of his Lord in victory over all the earth. Always he cheered the fainting souls of men with his radiant visions of millenial travail of the... glory. Every day was a pentecost to his soul.

"And when the long day of glad singing, hopeful labor in the Lord drew to its close; when, as his sun crept down the western slope of the sky to its twilight, there drifted across the glory of its shining a black cloud that for one little moment dimmed its splendor, that did not change with one shadow the radiance of the day of tireless labor in the harvest fields of God. The story of the long day of his life was already written on the scrolls of eevrlasting records, in the tears of the penitent, in the praise of the ransomed, in the lives wrested from sin, in the souls new-born, in the life-long service lovingly rendered and zealously wrought. fore the fire was set, in order to save them. Later Bellomy gave them to the District Attorney. Rogers maintained that they were new, had never been used, and that a plot had been made by the prosecution to introduce them as genuine.

Goodwin charged McGinnis with trying on May 8 when the matter first came into court, to induce him not to testify, asking how much he would take to keep still. This the defense scouted as untrue. Goodwin claimed to have heard McGinnis say that he had $460 in diamonds in a trunk in the burned house.

Rogers attempted to elicit testimony to the effect that Goodwin, who is a deputy constable and arrested McGinnis, was biased against his former employer, and that he had "framed up" a deal with Deputy Constable Benjamin and Scott Sens of Graham to saddle McGinnis with an arson charge. Horton maintained that this was an absurdity.

The case first came to light late in March when Bellomy's matrimonial venture showed signs of disturbance. Mrs. Bellomy was Mrs. Charles Wilson when she came to keep house for Bellomy. She married Bellomy and then after the fire, Wilson, her former husband, from whom she is said not to be legally separated, turned up.

Wilson is said to have learned things about the origin of the fire, and to have told P. H. Tower, adjustor for the Dubuque company. The latter sent for Deputy Constable Benjamin, who, after a conference with Horton, took Court Reporter Coulter and went to see the Bellomys. The man was stricken with remorse and made a twelve-page confession which was filed by Horton. His wife is said to have urged him to make a clean breast of it.

LOVES HOUSEKEEPER.

Bellomy said that he was in love with Mrs. Wilson about the time the house was completed and that McGinnis proposed that the structure be set afire since he had been unable to sell it. He represented that the building of a new one would give the carpenter more work, which would bring him enough money to be married, while McGinnis would collect the insurance. McGinnis, he said, sprinkled oil in a room and Bellomy set it on fire. He married the woman, but remorse gave him no peace, and the reappearance of Wilson seems to have added to his anguish, as it meant he would lose her.

"This is a spite-charge," said McGinnis yesterday. "I discharged Bellomy after the fire, which certainly shows I had no fear of him as an accomplice, and he got angry. I think his troubles have unbalanced his mind. I deny all the charges absolutely."

An unexpected feature of the day was the production by Rogers of a letter from the firm of Jennings & Horton, attorneys, signed by Horton, in which McGinnis is advised to pay Goodwin at once for the loss of the burned tools. Rogers maintained that this was an abuse of Horton's position, as a public officer that other letters of the same kind from him were in existence and that action might be taken upon them by the proper authorities. Horton denied improper dealing, saying he would answer for what he had done, if necessary, at the proper time and place.

REPORTED INVASION OF FRUIT FIELD DENIED.

Manager of United Company Disclaims Intention of Entering Into Competition Here Says Concern Is Not Trust and Makes No Attempts to Throttle Competitors.

Reports to the effect that the United Fruit Dispatch has entered the deciduous fruit field of Southern and Central California, were set at naught yesterday by Charles Weinberger, manager of the southern division of the Fruit Dispatch, with headquarters at New Orleans, who is staying at the Alexandria.

"Joseph Di Giorzio, who has frequently been reported as allied with the Fruit Dispatch through the Atlantic Fruit Company, has no stock at all in the United," asserted Weinberger.

It was said several months ago that the Atlantic Fruit Company was merely a branch of the United Fruit Dispatch. Di Giorzio was founder of the Atlantic company and for a time was one of the chief rivals of the United. After several years of hard fighting, all opposition to the Atlantic is said to have stopped, and a general report went out among the fruit men of the United States that another company had been bought in by the United.

Less than six months ago the Atlantic Fruit Company came into possession of the Earl Fruit Company, and previous to that time the same company had acquired two other large packing concerns in the central part of the State. This gave rise to the supposition that the United Fruit Company was backing Giorzio still farther, and that this was the initial move of the greatest fruit concern to gain the upper hand in the California field.

All of these things Weinberger disclaimed.

"The United Fruit Company is interested in the marketing of bananas and one or two other tropical fruits," he said. "Outside of that, we are not entering into any citrus or any deciduous deals. Furthermore, the United Fruit Company is not a trust and has not at any time attempted to throttle competitors who, from time to time, have started in business."

As for the Mexican west coast becoming a great banana growing district, Weinberger declares the climate unsuited. "Around Tepic, where some bananas are grown at present, the weather is too cool at night and this will prove the main obstacle to those expecting to make a big success in that district. Farther south, the banana growing industry should be just as possible as on the east coast," he said.

He predicted wonderful development in the fruit shipping business for Los Angeles as soon as the Panama Canal is opened, and stated that it was not an impossible thing that this should be chosen as a distributing center for the Fruit Dispatch for its western business.

Weinberger has been visiting Luigi Dell' Orto, Italian consular agent, who is also representative of the Fruit Dispatch here.

CORPORATION TAXES.

The collections in the office of Claude I. Parker, Collector of Internal Revenue, on account of the corporation tax yesterday, amounted to approximately $8900.

6000 Carloads or 2,304,000 Boxes of Oranges and Lemons Go Annually Across the Continent from the District Surrounding LA SIERRA HEIGHTS Orange and Lemon Lands

Do you realize how the Panama Canal will increase this number by dozens of carloads—not only adding to the present enormous demand of the middle western and eastern States, but also including Europe in its scope? Do you further realize how the annual incomes of orange and lemon growers in this vicinity will thereby be increased by thousands of dollars? When you consider that orange and lemon growers are even now making from $4000 to $20,000 and more annually—it is little wonder that professional men and business men in practically all departments are forsaking their business and professional careers and are buying their 10 and 20 or more acres in my candidacy for nomination for Mayor of this city at the coming primary has received my careful consideration.

MUSHET FOR MAYOR.

In response thereto and to other letters of similar tenor and to the many solicitations of my friends, I have decided formally to announce myself at this time as such candidate.

There are many important matters awaiting the attention of the next Mayor of Los Angeles.

There is the question of the pledges that were made to the people of San Pedro and Wilmington in relation to the city docks, to the free harbor and to the municipal highway or railway. Those pledges must be kept. The city docks and railway must be constructed.

There is that most important question of the enormously increased public expenditures of this city and the constantly increasing burden of taxation upon property owners without adequate return for the money expended. This question involves the consideration of the employment of foreign experts at large salaries and the constantly increased expenditures in municipal departments. Our expenses should be reduced. I stand for an efficient and economical administration.

There is that question of the consolidation of the city and county governments in order to eliminate the waste of public money in the duplication of offices. Perhaps no other reform in municipal government will effect a greater saving to the taxpayer than this. I greatly favor this economy. There should be a concise and simple new charter adopted, providing a modern business system of government, that in itself would provide great opportunity to reduce taxation.

There is the question of the preservation to the people of this city of the power, water and harbor rights, a proper solution of which will settle the ever-recurring disputes as to rates of most of the public service corporations.

And to my mind, there is that other question, which is, perhaps, as important to the people of this city as the question of finances, namely: the preservation of the personal liberty of the citizen. My position upon this subject is so definite and was so clearly expressed in my last campaign that it cannot now be misunderstood, nor will I allow it to be misunderstood during the coming campaign.

And, finally, I believe there is a call in this city for a Mayor without obnoxious personal alliances and obligations.

It is not necessary for me in this letter to fully state my position upon these various matters. In due time throughout the campaign I shall, as opportunity serves, discuss all of these matters at length and state most definitely where I stand on each of them. Many of these questions were discussed by me in my former campaign and I believe that the people of this city already know where I stand. It was my duty and my pleasure when City Auditor of this city to consider many of these questions and my record there speaks for itself.

CUTTING DOWN TIME.

Trial of Attorney for Having Received Money Stolen from Mails, is Hastened by Tentative Stipulation.

In order to reduce what threatened to be interminable time in the trial of the case against Fred H. Thompson, the attorneys involved got together yesterday and made arrangements by which some of the government's evidence will be, as it were, taken for granted.

Thompson's obstinacy in refusing to allow the case to be thus reduced in time was removed by his consenting to a sort of stipulation covering his alleged handling of the stolen money, and making unnecessary any cross-examination on the part of his attorneys.

Practically the entire day was taken up with the testimony of a dozen or so witnesses who have knowledge of the movements of Thompson after his departure from Los Angeles, and of the manner in which his money was spent.

SEARCHING FOR WITNESSES.

Man Wanted in Trial Growing Out of Shooting of Patrolman by Bandit on Main Street.

Deputy Dist.-Atty. Keetch is searching for the man who took the bicycle from the hand of Patrolman Crusey an instant before the latter was shot by a bandit on Main street, about two weeks ago. All other witnesses have been secured, and the case is ready to go to the Superior Court for trial.

Keetch will conduct the prosecution in the higher court, although, in the past, it has been the custom for the members of the Police Court branch of the District Attorney's office to do the preliminary work only.

What the Home Telephone Co. Is Worth to the City

Los Angeles is ready to welcome new enterprises, especially such as will prove of DIRECT benefit to its treasury. In fact, through various civic bodies, inducements of various kinds are sometimes offered certain enterprises. Any enterprise that would be worth approximately $34,000.00 to the city treasury would most certainly be warmly welcomed.

Very few people know or realize that the Home Telephone & Tel. Co. is worth approximately this equivalent to the city per annum through these sources:

Special 2 per cent tax paid annually on its gross receipts, this over and above all other City, County, State and United States taxes.

Free use of its property to the city, in the shape of telephones, cable pairs and occupancy of cross-arms on pole lines, all of which saves the city from paying for or investing in the property mentioned, and the expense does NOT fall on the taxpayer.

Are not these facts and conditions pretty sound arguments why YOU should use the HOMEPHONE? Remember, out of every $1.00 you pay out for HOMEPHONE service 2 cents comes right back into your own pockets, for it saves you just that much in taxes.

Besides—the automatic HOMEPHONE is the instantaneous universal confidential messenger of all successful men of the day.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET

First cars of half a dozen fruits and other products arrived on the local markets yesterday morning. The first complete car of watermelons came in from Imperial. They came in and went out almost as fast as they arrived. The price of watermelons dropped as low as 2 cents, indicating that they will be cheaper this year than ever. The first car of cantaloupes arrived from Brawley. They sold from $2.75 to $3.25 per pony and up for standards. The first car of Imperial tomatoes reached here and the stock sold down to $1.25 per crate of four baskets. The last of the Mexican tomato crop is in. The first grapes that have been seen this year on the market were shipped in from India. They were of the Sweetwater variety, a white grape. Five crates came in, were shipped in. They sold from $2.75 to $3.00 per crate.

In the vegetable line, kohrabi sold freely and made its initial spring bow. It brought 40 cents per dozen, bunches and is practically the highest priced vegetable on the market. Cabbage is hard to find in large quantities. Lettuce sold as low as 50 cents and the first local peppers arrived. They sold at 20 cents a pound.

Receipts of eggs were 258 cases. The call for eggs was fair and prices steady. There is further discussion of the manner of labelling storage eggs and butter. This discussion all hinges about the size of letters to be used in printing, the signs to go on cartons and to be used in stores. The signs on cartons will all probably be put on by the storage houses as evidenced by their representatives, who offered to put them there in an uniform manner on all goods handled by them.

Butter was in fair call. Arrivals were 81,270 pounds, the record for the week, caused partly by the fact that some of the butter shipments were delayed on the day previous. No changes were reported in prices.

Cheese receipts were 1191 pounds. The call for cheese was entirely in Northern fresh, which moved at 15¾ cents a pound and Eastern daisy which sold at 14½ cents delivered here.

The arrival of new potatoes is heavier each day and prices are weakening very gradually. Yesterday 166 sacks were reported in. Only 7 sacks of onions were received. They were of the silverskin variety. Other staples remained unchanged.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE.

Trading in the Oil Shares Covers a Wide Range During the Day. Tone of the Market.

The Union issues and Consolidated Midway were the bearish features of the local market yesterday, both making gains. However, the trading was not so heavy as to attract attention, and there were plenty of other oil shares that lost ground to make up for the few that were inclined to be bullish. Mexican Petroleum common and Associated were in the latter class.

There was some trading in the mining department, and ten shares of Home Savings Bank sold at 116. Edison Electric was also somewhat active. It was a diversified trading day.

SAN FRANCISCO EXCHANGE.

Mexican Holds Its Own and Makes An Additional Gain—Goldfields Remain Unchanged—Other Stocks.

[Special Service to The Times by B. F. Taylor, 113 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—The strong feature of the Comstock market was Mexican, which not only held its gain of yesterday, but closed 10 up, 420 bid. Union was up 2¾, Con. Va., Ophir and the balance of the list held their own. The insiders are supporting Mexican and the reports are running on all signs of good buying.

The Virginia Chronicle calls attention to the following important features in the Mexican mine, which were carefully noted by the visitors last Saturday: "On the 2500 level of Mexican, the stoping from the fourth and fifth floors exposed the vein, still showing its width and general characteristics, and trending away to the north. On the first floor above the sill floor, it was noted that an opening had been made to the south in the ore, exposing values that gave every appearance of being wider and richer than on the floor below. This development opens possibilities to the south and east of the 2500 level north drift that is of the utmost importance to the mine. It will be remembered that the ore in a southerly direction from the sill floor was never fully opened up; so that the extent of the ore in that direction remains to be determined. On the sill floor in the face of the north drift on this level, they had opened up on Saturday six feet in the vein, the face showing practically the same values as found throughout the raise from this point. Although it had been stated that this north drift was to be extended at this point towards the Union line, it did not appear to the visitors on Saturday that this was the immediate intention, at least preparations had evidently not been completed at that time for this work."

The Goldfields were unchanged, and very quiet, except Jumbo, which sold at 27, and closed 25 bid.

Montana was up three points; Midway offered at 18 at the close, with no bids; Jim Butler up one point.

Round Mountain and Silver Peak were unchanged. Bonnie Clair was in demand at 3, but closed with no stock offered.

The feature of the Southern Nevada stocks was Mineral Hill. This sold yesterday at 4, 5 and 6 cents, opened this morning sales at 6, an on heavy transactions, large public buying, sold up to 10 and closed 9 and 10. Manhattan Big Four changed hands at 20; a few months ago this stock was a drug on the market at 4 cents. Manhattan is making good. There is more excitement there than in any camp in Nevada.

Physical Education for Both Men and Women.

Noted Instructors from All Parts of Country.

A summer school of physical education, which will present in its faculty leading men and women from all parts of the country, and will offer the most thorough and fullest normal course of physical instruction that has ever been given in the West, will be conducted by the local Y.W.C.A. this summer.

The school will open July 16, and will be in session until August 17. The time is such that it will be possible for those who are in attendance at the convention of the National Education Association in San Francisco to attend this school at the close of the convention.

The most prominent men and women in the various branches of physical education in the United States will conduct the courses of instruction. Dr. William G. Anderson, of Yale University, will teach American gymnastics and apparatus work for men and his brother, Henry S. Anderson, also of Yale, will teach athletics for men and women. Dr. Oscar Collin, of the department of physical training of Wellesley College, will give courses in the theory and practice of Swedish gymRussian, will have charge of rhythmastics. Miss Adele Robinowitz, a mical games and folk dances, giving also an advanced course with theory and practice.

Charles B. Raitt, superintendent of the Los Angeles playgrounds, will give a course on the organization and administration of playgrounds. Other members of the faculty will be Dr. Eliot Alden, anatomy, physiology and hygiene; Dr. Mary P. Putman, special physiology for women; Thomas Wilkinson, C.T.S., swimming; Miss Marguerite Millier, English field hockey; W. A. Reynolds, Y.M.C.A. methods; Miss Ella Stevers, Y.W.C.A. methods.

The courses are planned to include every branch of physical training, and to thoroughly equip physical directors, both men and women, with the best and newest material in their line of work that is to be had. Advanced courses in many subjects will be conducted, and the work in various special lines will give a breadth and completeness to the course.

Elementary courses will be given for those who are just entering the field of physical training, and for those who are interested in playground work. Students will not be required to be physical directors or teachers. Any young man or young woman, who is considering physical training as a vocation, will be able to take a short course in Los Angeles under the best instruction, and thus to gain the fairest possible view of the field.

Teachers of kindergartens, primary and grammar school grades, will find in the Swedish courses and in the games and folk dances material that is exactly adapted to school-room work, and those who have charge of school playground activities, or of any playground work, will find abundant to its advancement, and to the raising material for their field.

The opening of such a school in L. Angeles, to rank in amount and character of work with the best summer schools of the East, is certain to draw attention to the work of physical training in all institutions in Southern California, and to give a great impetus of its standards.

The school will be under the direction of Miss Ella Stevers, physical director of the local association.

Adequate outdoor athletic grounds will be used for all this work and all equipment will be provided. It is the first attempt at such a school in Southern California, and the first time that a faculty of such note has been brought together anywhere in the West.

Henry S. Anderson, of Yale, instructor in Y.W.C.A. School of Physical Education.

ORANGE LAND ASSESSMENTS IN EQUALIZATION.

Protest from the Citrus Chamber of Commerce That Foothill Strip Is Paying More Than Seventy Per Cent. of County Taxes Brings Results.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PORTERVILLE, June 7.—Radical changes are made this year in the assessed valuation of property, following a decided protest which was made through the Citrus Chamber of Commerce this year that the strip of foothill land devoted to oranges is paying more than 70 per cent. of the taxes of the entire county.

In the past the assessed valuation of orange lands has been placed at from $250 to $400 per acre, as against $15 and $16 per acre for deciduous fruits and alfalfa lands. After the showing made by the orchardists that this sum is out of all reason, the assessors have been instructed to put in bearing orange lands at the rate of $250 per acre, as against $50 and $60 per acre for alfalfa and fruit acreages.

PROSPEROUS ORANGE YEAR.

With the shipments of Valencias closing this week, the total crop of oranges from the Central California orchards this year has been 2861 cars, with perhaps a dozen cars of scattering seedlings, St. Michaels and Valencias still to go.

The season which is drawing to a close is one of the most universally prosperous in the history of this district. While there have been no single phenomenal crops, and while there have been no extra large prices, every orchard has shown a good profit and a good yield. The bulk of the fruit has gone to market at from $2.25 to $2.35, f.o.b., although a few cars have brought as high as $2.45.

Every prospect at this time points to a prodigious yield of navels for this fall. It was the general opinion of the experts last season that the heavy June drop, which had a very decided effect on the production for the season, was due in a large degree to very warm weather early in the season. The outcome this year seems to establish that theory, as the spring has been unusually mild and the June drop this year promises to be very small.

Fruit is setting with wonderful rapidity and the older orchards appear to be coming into their own again with heavy yields of fruit. Unless there are some untoward circumstances to interfere with the yield between now and the inception of the marketing season, the production this year will be 25 per cent. larger than that of the season of 1909-10.

WATER TROUBLES.

Disaster after disaster has followed in the attempted construction of the city's auxiliary water plant, which is building on West Olive street. The latest catastrophe is in the seepage of water from the Tule River, this water rushing in more rapidly than the pumps can take it from the excavations made for the machinery, and with such force that the attempts to set the concrete lining in the pits have all failed.

When work started on the excavations, constant cave-ins resulted in the necessity for moving hundreds of yards of extra dirt, and now the surface water has troubled to the extent that it is impossible to set the machinery.

Fortunately, the season has been a cool one, and the old plants seem to be taking care of the needs of the people in a fairly satisfactory manner.

Plans and specifications are on file in the office of the City Engineer for a number of additions to and changes in the municipal water plant, which will cost $50,000, and which will result in the mains being laid to every residence and past every piece of property within the city limits.

Although these extensions are comparatively costly, the plant is making sufficient money so that the work can be done without any extra taxation.

LINDSAY FOLKS ARE BUSY.

Bond Election Called Asking For the Authorization of Big Debt For Sewer and Water Plants.

LINDSAY, June 6.—The development and improvement of Lindsay proceeds. The Board of Trustees called an election for the voting of $120,000 bonds, $55,000 for the acquisition and extension of the water works at present owned and operated by the Lindsay Water and Gas Company, an up-to-date and excellent plant; there are two large pumps, one being ordinarily sufficient, for the city's needs, but in case of fire the second one is instantly put on and the water pumped into the mains direct, thus giving a pressure more than ample to cover any building in town.

The remaining $75,000 bonds are for the purpose of constructing an outfall sewer system. Fred A. Tibbetts of Haviland & Tibbetts, acting City Engineer for Lindsay, has furnished complete plans and estimates and in the event of a successful election his firm will at once proceed with the work.

NEW HOTEL.

The shareholders of the Lindsay Hotel Company held a meeting a few days ago and elected a new board of directors with C. H. Geldert as president. It was decided to advertise immediately for bids for a suitable site. It is intended that the building shall be so far as possible an all-California production and it will be proceeded with as soon as possible.

LIGHTNING PLAY PRANKS.

Dinuba Man Climbs Tower During Storm and Elements Toy with His Monkey Wrench.

DINUBA, June 8.—E. R. Erhart, a vineyardist of this section, was struck by lightning and seriously hurt last night during the worst electrical storm and one of the few thunderstorms in the history of the Dinuba district.

This storm broke over the valley about 11 o'clock last night. Erhart had just completed the erection of a steel tower windmill, the wheel of which is forty feet from the ground. Fearing that some of the bolts which carry the wheel had not been drawn tight enough to stand the heavy wind, Erhart climbed the tower during the height of the storm. Hardly had he reached the platform, when a bolt of lightning struck the wheel, the charge of electricity darting from the steel blades to a steel S wrench which he held in his hand, burning his arms and body, hurling the tool from his hand and slamming him with great force to the platform and narrowly missed throwing him to the ground.

Erhart's right arm from his wrist to his elbow is badly burned, his eyes are injured from the flash and in addition to a partial paralysis of his right side, he is suffering from general effects of the shock.

LIQUID OFFENSE.

TULARE, June 7.—Frank Giannini and Joe Arlun were arrested here today charged with violation of the liquor laws. Giannini is the proprietor of a winery situated on the Visalia road and it is alleged that he and Arlun, an employee, have made it a practice to sell wine and liquors in smaller than five gallon quantities and that they have sold liquor to be consumed on the premises. Both men were taken before Judge DeWitt, who placed their bonds at $1000 cash and set their hearing for June 12.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

is possible, of course, that an agreement might be reached between the railroad and the government whereby the drilling would proceed, and the oil be retained in tanks and reservoirs on the property pending the determination of the suit, or the same result might be reached by an agreement as to a price at which the government could be reimbursed in the event of the suit going against the railroad. In the meantime, the Kern Trading & Oil Company is continuing its active campaign of development on the railroad lands at Coalinga and in this county.

The Eastern Trading & Oil Company, which is drilling a prospect well on a tract of eleven and one-half sections leased from Harry Quinn in the Rag Gulch country east of Delano, has passed through the strata bearing good domestic water and into strong sulphur water. The upper water strata were very abundant and caused much trouble for the drillers. The presence of the sulphur water is accepted as an evidence that the drill is nearing the oil sands.

Annual Meeting Today.

The annual meeting of the Atlanta Oil Company will be held today at 2 p. m. A number of the stockholders with J. E. Levi will leave in the evening for Kern River for the purpose of inspecting the Denver and Michigan property which was recently purchased by the Atlanta. Three of the ten wells on the property have been cleaned and are now producing fifty, and fifty-five, and sixty-five barrels of oil per day. All of the wells are to be cleaned, and a new one will be brought in every thirty days, until the tract has its full number, twenty-four wells.

Midway Northern Shooting.

As was expected, the Midway Northern well No. 1 began clearing yesterday morning. It flowed for two minutes the first time, then for ten, and up to the time of the superintendent's telephone report was gushing for thirty minutes at a stretch with intervals of a few minutes' rest. The oil is shooting from a 5-inch pipe and the force is so great that the stream is tearing a hole in the bank on the opposite side of the sump. The present action of the well is in every way satisfactory to the management, all indications being favorable for a large and steady producer.

News Notes and Personals.

N. G. Guiberson, who has been manager of the Coalinga branch of the J. F. Lucey Company for some time, has been transferred to the San Francisco office. He is a member of the family famous for its varied oil interests throughout the State.

Jack Kibele, a well-known Bakersfield oil man, has a case before the court and is threatened with a fine for contempt if he refuses to answer certain questions regarding the drilling of oil wells.

J. Newton Young and V. H. Christman of Visalia, interested in the Prestage Oil Company operating in the Lost Hills, have been in Bakersfield securing supplies for the company. The Prestage well is only 400 feet from the "gusher" of the Universal Oil Company which came in a short time ago.

W. I. McLaughlin, manager of the Union Oil Well Supply Company at Taft, Kern county, is spending a few days at the Hollenbeck Hotel. He reports business active in the northern fields.

Prominent officials of the Standard Oil Company of California from San Francisco are in the city for a few days. Among them are W. S. Rheem, secretary of the company; S. G. Casad, manager of the traffic department, and Frank P. Root.
